REACHING THE SPOT

It Can Be Done, So Scores of Heppner Citizens Say.

To cure an aching back,
The pains of rheumatism,
The tired-out feelings,
You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases 'tis the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Thos. Morgan, Heppner, Ore., says: "I feel it my duty to speak a good word in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills. I suffered for several years from kidney complaint and rheumatism. The attacks were so severe that I was laid up for a week or ten days at a time. I finally learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the Slocum Drug Co. This remedy went at once to the seat of the trouble and gave me great relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other,

A DEBT OF HONOR.

The Debtor, the Creditor and the Promissory Note.

The inconsiderate creditor pressed for immediate payment of his promissory note.

"But I have no money," said the debtor wearily.

"I saw you pay that man who just went out," retorted the creditor indignantly.

"That was a debt of honor," replied the other, with hauteur.

The creditor immediately tore up the promissory note which he held in his hand and threw it in the fire.

"So is mine a debt of honor," he remarked simply.

So far so good, and the matter is proceeding along the proper lines for such cases made and provided.

The debtor assured himself that the promise to pay had been really consumed.

"Pardon me," he then politely said, "but you tore up that note voluntarily and from mercenary motives. I cannot therefore recognize it as a debt of honor."

Which proves that a nice sense of honor is a good thing to have lying about handy.

The creditor smiled indulgently. "Oh, that was only a copy I tore up," he replied. He took another note from his pocket. "This is the original, you see," he remarked, with pardonable pride.

Which proves again that a careful man before burning his bridges assures himself that the ferry is still doing business at the same old stand.—Exchange.

A Good Verdi Story.

Here is a charming story about Verdi: A farmer living in the depths of the country was very desirous to hear one of the illustrious composer's operas. So, better late than never, he took his ticket, traveled up to Milan and, securing a good seat, heard "Aida." The farmer was very much disappointed and wrote to Verdi to say so, adding that he did not like the music at all and that under these circumstances he hoped that Verdi would see the reasonableness of at once returning him his money. There were his railway fare, his ticket of admission and his supper at Milan, for which he inclosed the bill.

The grand old maestro entered fully into the humor of the situation. He wrote back a polite letter regretting that his music had failed to please and inclosing the railway fare and the price of admission, but he added that as the farmer would have to provide himself with supper at home he could not admit the justice of that part of his claim and he absolutely declined to pay for his supper at Milan.

Zeke Was Right.

A farmer employed a boy to guard his strawberry patch from birds. The berries—fancy fruit as big as peaches—kept disappearing, and the man suspected the boy of eating them. So one morning he came down to the patch, looked it over and then said: "I know you don't touch these berries, my lad, but Zeke says you do. Today I'll test you—just to convince Zeke."

He took out a little lump of chalk and pretended to chalk the boy's lips, but really it was only his finger that he rubbed over them. "Now," he said, "when I come down here this afternoon we'll see who's right about you, Zeke or I."

And with pretended carelessness he tossed the chalk on to the ground. On his return, some hours later, it was plain who was right. The boy's lips were chalked with a white, stiff layer half an inch thick.—Los Angeles Times.

The Unsophisticated at Sea.

According to a local paper, one of the petty officers of a man-of-war at the New York navy yard recently made a requisition to the paymaster's office for two "horse pipes." The story goes that the poor man meant "hawse pipes." Now, any one who knows what hawse pipes are will wonder what he wanted with them. I suspect some one was playing a practical joke on him. The same paper gives another alleged occurrence which shows how little is known by some of the naval recruits of nautical terms. The recruit in question got a monkey wrench, a donkey engine, the dogwatch and the cathead so confused in his noddle that he called for "a watch dog to stand by the cat engine" and referred to the captain as a "donkey head." As a result the veracious chronicler deposeth that the offender was committed to the ship's brig, there to repent and learn better. Both yarns are probably of the type usually "told to the marines," but nevertheless it is a fact that many ludicrous mistakes of the kind are made by those whose knowledge of the sea is limited, and many practical jokes of which they are the butt are made on the unsophisticated.—Shipping Illustrated.

Ancient Concrete.

That the Romans were very familiar with concrete and gave consideration to its use examination of the concrete work in the forum clearly shows. Their concrete contained generally only two kinds of stone, travertine and selcie, in equal parts. Selcie is a hard, closely knit rock, very similar to our bluestone or trap rock in color as well as quality. Travertine is a volcanic rock not so hard as selcie, considerably lighter in color, and was desirable on account of its porosity, which insured a good bond with the cement. In all the Roman work the combination of the travertine and the selcie is clearly distinguishable.—Cement Age.

Ably Defined.

A certain archbishop when asked whether it was a grievous lie for a woman to misstate her age replied?

"A lie may be defined as a statement made by one rational being to another rational being with the intent to deceive. Now, as no rational being would think of asking a woman her age with the expectation of being answered truthfully, one of the elements of the lie is lacking, and the woman's statement cannot, strictly speaking, be defined as such."—Judge.

Johnnie's Excuse.

"Why don't you say 'Thank you,' Johnnie, when you are handed anything?" said Mrs. Brown at the table. "Your sister always says it."

"Yes," replied little Johnnie, "she's a woman and always wants to have the last word."—Once a Week.

The Day of Rest.

Carrie's sister May, six years of age, on being asked why the Sabbath day was different from the other days in the week answered very carelessly, "Oh, that's the day you pin things on, 'stead of sewing."—Delineator.

Nobleman, Probably.

Howell—I see that the heiress has put her money into the lumber business. Powell—That so? Howell—Yes; she has married a wooden man.—New York Press.

Matrimony.

"Poverty is no bar to marriage," says the philosopher of folly, "but it is considerable of an obstacle to the proper maintenance thereof."—Cleveland Leader.

We Can Sell The Canadian Pacific Wheat Lands in Southern Alberta

On the CROP PAYMENT PLAN, or on ten years time and this land will yield large wheat crops and is subject to diversified farming. It will grow all kinds of grass, vegetables, fruit and berries, and we can sell you this land and give you ten years to pay for it at from $12 00 to $18.00 per acre, or you can get it on the crop payment plan.

We would like to explain to you about our crop payment plan but cannot do it in this letter. Don't fail to write for our illustrated circular which will give you all the particulars.

We expect to take a party of prospective land buyers to the Alberta country between the 10th and 15th of August and if you want land and would like to see this country, you had better get ready and go at this time. We expect to have a special car and the rates will be reasonable.
