How to Keep Cool--

Everything on this page is calculated to help you pass these hot days comfortable. Some things get barely a mention; others are made more prominent.

Sale of Lingerie Shirt Waists at one fourth below their value. The newest of the new, therefore these shirt-waists are stylish and there is a wide variety of chic and charming effects to pick from. But you will not find it easy to choose the prettiest. No easier than it would to say which is the prettiest girl in a thousand, for each style has a something that another has not. 79c values 59c--85c values 64c--$1 values 75c--$1.25 values 94c. All waists, remember are 1-4 off. Values to $3.50.

Paring Down Prices on Summer Lawns--The goods in the present offerings are among the most staple and desirable fabrics. There is no occasion for sensational price cutting but the reductions that are made are of unusual interest, because of the large and constant demand and for exactly these fabrics. Any or all 18c and 15c values 12 1-2c. Look for Window Display and note the Large Variety.

He Was Superstitious.
He was a big, hearty workman, and when a spare, thin little man entered the train car, stumbled and sat upon him he said in reply to the little man's apologies:
"Don't trouble, sir; it's all right. There's no 'arm done."
When we saw the big man a week later we were shocked at the change in him. He seemed to have shrunk to half his former bulk.
"Why, whatever's the matter?" we exclaimed.
"You remember that little man sat on me in the train last week, sir?"
"Yes."
"Well, it's all through 'im I'm wastin' away like this."
"Preserve us!" we cried. "How? Why?"
The shrunken giant wrung his hands in despair.
"I found out next day," he groaned, "that 'e was the coroner. An 'e sat on me! I'm superstitious, an' it's lookin' ahead I am. O Lor!"—London Mail.

The First Postage Stamp.
The black penny postage stamp of 1840, the first stamp ever issued, was distinctly unpopular and gave place to a red one after a year's existence. Great Britain was the first country in the world to use postage stamps, and the English schoolboy of the period seems to have regarded them as a nuisance rather than a national benefit. "Have you tried the stamps yet?" wrote one of them to his sister in the year 1840. "I think they are very absurd and troublesome. I don't fancy making my mouth a glue pot, although, to be sure, you have the satisfaction of kissing the back of her gracious majesty the queen. This is, however, I should say, the greatest insult the present ministry could have offered the queen."—London T. P.'s Weekly.

Fields and Orchards of France.
From Avignon to Lyons the railroad runs through a rich country, the fruit trees covered with blossoms and the forests assuming their robes of green, altogether making a picture beautiful to look upon. From Lyons to Paris the orchards, the vineyards and the growing grain delight the eye of the traveler from oriental deserts and remind him of Macaulay's poem:
Now let there be the merry sound of music and of dance
Through thy cornfields green and sunny vines, oh, pleasant land of France!
For truly it is a pleasant land.—Paris Letter to Denver Post.

Consideration.
"You say you once had a home?"
"Dat's what I had," answered Plodding Pete.
"Why didn't you do something to make your folks comfortable and happy?"
"I did. I left."—Washington Star.

In Accord With the Weather.
Mrs. Passe (to her maid)—How is the weather today, Marie? Maid—Fresh and windy, madam. Mrs. Passe—Very well; you will please put a healthy flush on my cheeks this morning. I am going out.—New York Life.

He Told Her.
"Tell me frankly, sir, what do you think of my daughter's voice?"
"Well, madam, I think she may have a brilliant future in water color painting."—Paris Figaro.

It's when a fellow thinks he is out of sight that he feels all eyes are upon him.—Pittsburg Gazette.

Couldn't Pass Him.
Dr. Charles Mann back in 1893 or 1894 was making a professional call one night at a road house, his horse and buggy standing outside, when a young fellow staggered out and mounted the horse and started off at a wild gallop, not noticing the wagon attached to the horse. After a time the young man realized that a wagon was following close in his rear, so he held in the steed and shouted:
"Go on past if you want to—if you're in such a hurry."
Of course the rattling ceased, and nobody responded, and nothing was visible in the darkness, so he lashed the horse into a gallop, saying, "They'll never overtake us." The wagon clattered on behind up hill and down dale. When Dr. Mann overhauled him, having followed on a fleet horse, the young fellow said:
"I was bound that man in the wagon should not pass, because he wouldn't when I offered to let him. I don't hear him now, and I guess he drove off the bridge."—Newark News.

Meal Monday.
The students in the Scotch universities annually enjoy their "Meal Monday," but few of the undergraduates remember how the holiday was instituted. In faroff days, when learning was really nourished on "a little oatmeal," the students before leaving home for the universities provided themselves with a quantity of meal sufficient to make "halesome parritch" half through the session. By the end of January their "meal kists" had run low, and "a day off" was given in which the student was expected to journey halfway home, meeting at this point his parent or brother, who brought with him a second load of the simple diet. The holiday was fixed on a Monday so as to allow the undergraduate the benefit of the preceding Saturday. In times past the journeys would often extend to fifty or sixty miles. The modern student goes home for "Meal Monday," but he travels with a week end ticket and has no thought of the painful journeys of his ancestors.—Dundee Advertiser.

The Biggest Cracker.
The "kasabi" torta (we get our word "tart" from torta) of Hispanic-America is the biggest regularly made cracker on earth. It is made from the kasabi root and lightly fired in cakes about the size of a small parasol.
A cracker for a hat—such indeed is sometimes the use made by the Latin peons of the kasabi torta when needing a temporary sunshade (sombrero). The torta is always made bowl shaped so it can be balanced on the head without any particular effort—and provided no wind interferes. Rain, however, quickly soaks and collapses this singular edible headgear.—Baker's Weekly.

The Turk's Wonderment.
Writing on the battle of Navarino, a contributor to the Cornhill Magazine tells this striking little story.
"In the morning the surface of the bay was covered with floating spars to which many poor wretches were clinging, calling for help in different tongues. Among them were many Greek prisoners still with manacles upon their limbs. An English lieutenant who was putting ashore a Turkish official was anxious to save some exhausted men who were clutching a scorched mast. 'We must rescue them,' he exclaimed hotly.
"Bah!" answered the Turk. "They are only common soldiers and will soon die." Then he laughed.
"Good heavens!" exclaimed the Englishman angrily. "What is there to laugh at?"
"Laugh!" said the Turk. "By Allah, you English are a singular people! Yesterday you came into the bay while we were quietly at our coffee. You knocked our ships to pieces, killed or mangled all our men till the fleet is one vast slaughter house, and this morning you pretend to be so humane that you cannot pass a score of wounded soldiers without putting yourself out of your way to save them?"

Comparatively few people are aware that under the provisions of the new water code, enacted by the last Legislature, it is a misdemeanor for any person to divert water in any quantity whatever from any stream in the state for irrigation, power or other purpose without first securing permission from the State Board of Control of Water Rights. This law is being constantly violated through general ignorance of its provisions, and in order that all may be fully informed upon the subject and be guided accordingly in future, State Engineer John H. Lewis has drafted a circular letter containing in brief the full purport of the provisions of the code with full instructions of how to proceed to appropriate water under it. These circulars will be sent broadcast over the state to be posted in the postoffices and court houses and published in local newspapers.

Hexamethylenetetramine
The above is the name of a German chemical, which is one of the many valuable ingredients of Foley's Kidney Remedy. Hexamethylenetetramine is recognized by medical text books and authorities as a uric acid solvent and antiseptic for the urine. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy as soon as you notice any irregularities, and avoid a serious malady. Slocum Drug Co.
