How to Keep Cool--

Everything on this page is calculated to help you pass these hot days comfortable. Some things get barely a mention; others are made more prominent.

Sale of Lingerie Shirt Waists at one fourth below their value. The newest of the new, therefore these shirt-waists are stylish and there is a wide variety of chic and charming effects to pick from. But you will not find it easy to choose the prettiest. No easier than it would to say which is the prettiest girl in a thousand, for each style has a something that another has not. 79c values 59c--85c values 64c--$1 values 75c--$1.25 values 94c. All waists, remember are 1-4 off. Values to $3.50.

Paring Down Prices on Summer Lawns--The goods in the present offerings are among the most staple and desirable fabrics. There is no occasion for sensational price cutting but the reductions that are made are of unusual interest, because of the large and constant demand and for exactly these fabrics. Any or all 18c and 15c values 12 1-2c. Look for Window Display and note the Large Variety.

The Heppner Gazette

Established March 30, 1888.

ISSUED THURSDAY MORNING.

Fred Warnock

Entered at the Postoffice at Heppner Oregon, as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....Aug. 26, 1909.

There are at present about a dozen republican candidates for governor at the next election. Judge Lowell and Baker county yet to be heard from. The democrats will have one. Of course the dems hope we will have twenty, and then nominate the weakest one. Sly old jackass! No wonder they are for the convention plan.—The Dalles Optimist.

The purchase in Boston, last week, of over 25,000,000 pounds of wool, by one manufacturing enterprise, and at market prices, is very good evidence that the contention of some critics that the manufacturers were simply buying small lots of wool to keep the market steady, but were operating on wool bought weeks ago at a much lower price, were with little if any foundation in fact. The large blocks of wool taken by this important factor were without concessions in price or terms of payment, and represented the market value of wool, and justify the prices asked for the product of this concern.—American Wool and Cotton Reporter.

Nineteen hundred and ten is to be the banner year for new settlers in the Northwest, according to railway men. Of the third of a million applicants in Uncle Sam's land lottery, it is believed that one half will come next year to locate. This means the unsuccessful ones, who saw the land to be had here and were impressed by the opportunities. The big travel to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition is expected in September, when the farmers in the middle west have handled their crops. Those who have been here and gone back home are boosting harder than ever. In fact the outlook for 1910 is so promising that operating departments of all Northwestern lines are planning to put on more equipment.

Agricultural experts of the country, who have been in session in Portland during the past week, closed their most successful annual gathering Saturday with an attendance even larger than that at a recent convention in Washington, D. C. The session was one that means much to the Pacific Northwest for it was attended by men who are keen students of agricultural possibilities and what they saw here impressed them. They were afforded an opportunity to inspect the various farming districts of the state by means of special trains run by the Portland

Commercial Club to Willamette Valley points and Hood River. On these trips they were guests of the Commercial Club and were escorted by a special committee of prominent Oregon people who gave all the information desired on the different districts inspected. The results of the convention will be far reaching, it is believed, by those who are familiar with the work of the organizations. President Kerr of the Oregon Agricultural College, was chosen the head of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations for the coming year. President Kerr secured the convention for Portland while in attendance at last year's session.

CAPITAL LOOKING THIS WAY.

H. V. Gates, the well-known promoter and capitalist of Hillsboro, Oregon, was in town Wednesday looking over the ground with a view to including Fossil in the chain of towns which he contemplates furnishing electric power generated from the John Day river. Last week he went up the river above Monument and filed on an ideal water right that with an expenditure of $200,000 for power dam and plant will generate sufficient electric "juice" to do the towns of Heppner, Ione, Lexington, Fossil and Condon for lighting and manufacturing purposes for many years to come. In fact, there is hardly any limit to the electric power that can be derived from the John Day river with modern appliances and it is not improbable that Mr. Gates, when he gets his plant in operation, will put in an electric railroad while he is at it, in case Promoter Charles doesn't beat him to it. There is untold wealth waiting for the man who taps this section of country with a railroad of any kind, and our people don't much care who the lucky man will be, just so they do not all come at once, like they did in the Deschutes Canyon.

H. V. Gates is no idle dreamer. He is a man who does things, as is shown by his ownership of water and lighting plants at Heppner, Prineville, Klamath Falls, and many other Oregon towns. Capital is looking this way, and the "iron horse" is pressing hard on its heels.—Fossil Journal.

Where He Excelled.

An Englishman and a Scotchman chanced to meet at a football match, the Englishman, contrary to tradition, possessing the "bottle." A few minutes after the game had started a good run was made by one of the visiting forwards.

"Good run," said the Scotchman.
"Fine," said the Englishman, and applied his lips to the bottle, ignoring Sandy's thirsty glances.
"I ter a goal was made."
"Fine goal," said Sandy.

"Grand," said the Englishman, taking another draft, but still not offering it to his neighbor.

"I presume you're a bit of a fib," player yourself!" said Sandy.

"I am," was the proud reply.

"I thought so," said Sandy. "You're a grand dribbler but you're no good at passing."
