School Notes.

On November 24, I visited the school in district No. 17. Mrs. Jessie Phelps is the teacher of this school. There were eleven pupils present. The pupils and teacher are preparing for an entertainment and basket social to be held next Saturday night, for the purpose of raising money to pay for the new organ and to purchase lumber for a new floor for the school house. Since my former visit, a vestibule has been built at the front of the school house; the door has been changed to open outward; several new maps have been purchased; a new globe has been obtained; some new blackboards have been placed on the walls, and a new stable has been built for the horses of those who ride or drive to school. A new flag has been purchased for the school and is kept in view for the inspiration of the pupils.
Mr. Joseph E. Waid has resigned as teacher of the school in district No. 27. His health has failed him. It is to be hoped that he will soon be in his usual health.
New flags have been purchased within the past few days for the schools in district No. 3 and district No. 27. Mr. Geo. Dykstra purchased the flag for district No. 3 and presented it to the school.

Elks Memorial Services.

State pride ran high during the past week because Oregon apples won the grand prize at the National Apple Show at Spokane in competition with apples from all over the United States. Tronson & Guthrie, growers of Eagle Point, Or., were receiving congratulations on all sides over their success and the victory was such a splendid one that the whole state took pride in it. The Rogue River Valley, of course, is entitled to all the honor for it grew the apples but fruit raisers of the whole state feel proud of the victory.
Tronson & Guthrie captured the sweepstakes prize at Spokane on a car of Spitzenberg apples and the victory carried with it, in addition to blue ribbons and medals, a check for $1100. The decision of the judges in making the award was unanimous. The growers have only five acres in bearing orchard and had not expected to exhibit at Spokane. It was not until a large part of their crop was marketed that they decided to enter a car. No particular selection of the whole crop was made for exhibit but only the best of the apples remaining in the orchard. Of course these were carefully calibrated and elected with reference to size and color.
Other Oregon growers won prizes at Spokane and the victories show in a most convincing way that this state is the home of the finest apples.
