District Attorney G. W. Phelps and wife came over from Pendleton, Saturday evening.

Jack Hynd who was up from Cecil a few days ago stated that he was about through lambing.

Emmett Cochran, the Grant county stockman was a business visitor the latter part of the past week.

G. B. Hatt, a leader among the enterprising merchants of Heppner, is transacting business in the wholesale district and is staying at the Perkins.—Oregonian.

John Kilkenny who was in the first of the week is making satisfactory progress lambing. So far he has been able to save 97 per cent of the lambs.

H. W. Fell came up from Lexington Monday. He states that he will sow 140 acres of spring barley. Crop prospects in the vicinity of Lexington are unusually flattering.

Big chicken dinner will be served in the parsonage and league room of the South Methodist church on Friday March 25, from 3 to 9 p. m. Plenty of room. A good meal for 25c.

The sheep shearing season has arrived. The McFarren crew of 12 men of hand shearers went out to Wm. Straight's the first of the week to commence shearing. This crew will be kept busy from now until the season is over. The shearers look forward to a good year owing to the fact that the wool is clean and will be easy to shear. The price of eight cents per head, the same as last year will be the prevailing price this year for shearing.

Wm. Sutherland came in from Grant county, Friday. He has been working on an irrigating ditch contract for Wm. Beymer. The ditch is located on Cottonwood, and the surveyed length of the ditch is about four miles. Water will be furnished for about 800 acres of land belonging to Wm. Beymer, L. Sweet, Creed Owens and T. J. Merrill. Work on the ditch will be completed about the first of May, when the fertile bottom lands to be watered will be sown to alfalfa.

When the demonstration train was in the city Monday, Philip S. Bates, secretary of the State Threshers Association, stated that the Commercial Club of Albany had extended an invitation to the state association to convene in Albany on June 2 and 3, and that the invitation had been accepted. Morrow county has a large membership in the association and no doubt many of the boys will go down as Mr. Bates has secured a very low rate which will also include the Rose Festival on the following week.

White-Glasscock

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smead of this city on last Tuesday morning, March 22, when Miss Lena Glasscock, youngest daughter of Mrs. Smead was given in marriage to Mr. Clarence M. White, of Portland.

At 6:15 in the morning, Mrs. Frank Turner very sweetly sang "O Perfect Love," after which Mrs. N. E. Winnard played the "Lohengrin" wedding march and the bride was given away by Mr. Smead. The Rev. Walter L. Airheart performed the marriage rite, reading the beautiful ring ceremony in a most impressive manner. The bride was beautifully dressed in a suit of blue chiffon broad cloth and carried a bouquet of bride roses, the favors being red carnations. The home was tastefully decorated with flowers and potted vines.

After the ceremony a most satisfying breakfast was served and the few invited friends went with the happy couple as far as the depot where they were bidden a "bon voyage" amid showers of rice and rain. They went immediately to their new home at 850 E. 8th St., Portland.

The groom, a graduate of the law department of Ann Arbor is a very promising member of the Portland bar.

Both the bride and groom are well known in Heppner and throughout Morrow county. Their many friends wish them all joy and success.

Married.

Mr. George Jackson and Miss Viola Matteson were married at the Pacific in this city last Saturday evening, Judge Patterson officiating.

Good Friday Services.

On the evening of Good Friday, the day observed in memory of our Saviour's Crucifixion, there will be a special service in the Episcopal church, at 7:30 o'clock, conducted by Deaconess Alice J. Knight. All are invited. In the afternoon of the same day, at half past three o'clock, there will be a special children's service. All children are invited.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

Services for Sunday, March 27. Sunday school 9:45 a. m. Epworth League devotional meeting in the church basement, 6 p. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. by the pastor, Walter L. Airheart. Subject morning sermon: "Justification and Regeneration." Evening: "The Resurrection an Exploded Myth." All the services are arranged as appropriate for Easter Sunday. A passion service will be held in the church on Good Friday at 8 p. m. After the sermon the Communion of the Lord's supper will be administered.

Sunday School Convention

The State Sunday School Convention will be held in Portland, April 26-28. If you have not received a blank upon which to make a report for your Sunday school, let me know, and I will furnish you with one. Your reports should be in the hands of the secretary by April 1. Do not delay. Contributions for the state work should be sent to the secretary at once. We should see to it that Morrow county meets its pledge. Plan to have your Sunday school represented at the convention at Portland.

WALTER CRAWFORD, President Morrow Co. S. S. Association.

BACH'S MUSIC.

Some Advice as to How It Should Be Interpreted.

The interpretation of Bach must always be noble, broad and firm, rather too hard than too soft, explains Ferruccio Busoni, the great pianist. In the Delinquent. Affected methods, such as a "soufflé" swelling of the phrases, coquettish hurrying or hesitating, too light staccato, too smooth legato, pedal debauchery—all these are vicious and out of place here. If used with a proper sense of proportion a certain elasticity of the tempo, giving the interpretation greater freedom, will improve the playing of Bach materially.

The modernization of Bach's compositions by such masters as Liszt and Tausig and many others is accepted by all clear thinking musicians as not derogatory to the master's style. It affords rather a completeness of expression. Witness the fact that Raff has orchestrated Bach's "Chaconne" without making it seem ridiculous. Many others have followed with happy results Raff's example of arranging Bach's music for the modern orchestra.

The ease with which Bach's music lends itself to this adaptation is proof of his comprehensive genius. He was not for his day, but for all time.

Bach's "Prelude" and "Fugue No. 10," important and not too difficult, show the many sided branching of the present day piano technique. The legendary tradition of playing Bach without the use of the damper pedal is obsolete.

CANARY BIRDS.

The Care That Should Be Bestowed Upon These Songsters.

Those who are charmed by the singing of the canary will find in the following directions much that will increase the happiness of the songster, provided the hints are heeded:

Place the cage so that no draft of air can strike the bird. Give nothing to healthy birds but rape and canary seed, water, cuttlefish bone and gravel paper or sand on the floor of the cage; no hempseed; a bath three times a week. The room should not be overheated—never above 70 degrees.

When moulting (shedding feathers) keep warm, avoid all drafts of air. Give plenty of German rape seed. A little hard boiled egg mixed with crackers grated fine is excellent.

Feed regularly at a certain hour in the morning. By observing these simple rules birds may be kept in fine condition for years.

For birds that are sick or have lost their song procure bird tonic at a bird store. Very many keep birds who mean to give their pets all things to make them bright and happy and at the same time are guilty of great cruelty in regard to perches. The perches in a cage should be each one of a different size and the smallest as large as a pipstem.

If perches are of the right sort no trouble is ever had about the bird's toe nails growing too long, and, of all things, keep the perches clean.—Exchange.

Out of Tune.

A piano tuner employed by a city firm was sent to a certain suburb to tune a piano. He found the instrument in good condition and not in the least need of attention. A few days later the firm received a letter from the owner of the piano, a lady of musical intention, saying that the piano had not been properly tuned. It was no better than before. After receiving a reprimand from his employer the hapless tuner made another trip to the suburbs and again tested every note only to find, as before, no fault with the instrument. This time he told the lady so.

"Yes," she said, "it does seem all right, doesn't it, when you play on it, but as soon as I begin to sing it gets all out of tune again."

He Ate His Own Words.

Not long ago the punishment for libel in Russia was the requirement that the libeler literally eat his own words. A man who published a small volume reflecting on the unlimited power of the sovereign was seized, tried in a summary way and condemned to consume the objectionable words. In one of the public streets the book was severed from its binding, the margins cut off, the leaves rolled up one by one and fed to the unfortunate author. A surgeon was in attendance to pronounce upon the number possible to give without endangering his life, but he is reported to have set the limit at something like 200.

Sounded Queer.

"All right behind there?" called the conductor from the front of the car. "Hold on!" cried a shrill voice. "Wait till I get my clothes on!"

The passengers craned their necks expectantly. A small boy was struggling to get a basket of laundry aboard.

Foolish Question.

Hasker—Hello, Crabbe! What are you going to do with the camera? Crabbe—Going to bore an artesian well in our dining room with it. You didn't suppose I was going to take pictures, did you?

His Object.

Wigwag—What, roses! Don't you know a girl never marries the fellow who sends her flowers? Oldbach—Sure, I do. That's why I always try to keep on the safe side.—Philadelphia Record.

Virtue is not left to stand alone. He who practices it will have neighbors.—Confucius.

Are You Ready for Easter?

We are—with a premier display of new modes in Men's Garments—New shades in neckwear and Hosiery—New Shirts, and the many accessories of Correct Dress.

To the average man Easter heralds the advent of the warm season, and he who is overtaken at this time without his fresh Spring apparel is likely to feel himself as one different and apart. While accepting this as a fact, it is of course largely the outcome of custom or habit; but it is also a logical time to change from the somber winter clothes of discomfort into the lighter, more attractive fabrics and colors of spring. In extending an invitation to view our new styles, we will emphasize the importance of the right make, as well as that of looks, fit and fitness, or of price. We have quality for the man who has set aside $15.00 as the price he can pay, and for the man who wants the best value at $35.
