HEPPNER, OREGON, THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1910

Settlers for Fox Valley.

Two families from Seattle, arrived in Heppner this week on their way to Fox valley where they have located on homesteads.

Mr. Graves, one of the party, informs the Gazette that four other families from Seattle, will soon follow and locate in Fox valley.

The people are originally from Minnesota and are coming to Eastern Oregon to build homes. They will engage in diversified farming and stock raising.

Mr Graves states that other Minnesota parties are becoming interested in the cheap lands here and will come to Eastern Oregon.

Large Number of Scalps.

Since the scalp bounty law went into effect on January 1, 1909, County Clerk Hill has issued warrants amounting to $2,339.50.

The scalps presented for bounty included 1505 coyotes at $1.50 each; 36 bob cats at $2 each, and one cougar on which the bounty is $10.

Since the law went into effect, the bounty has stimulated a relentless war on predatory animals and coyotes are becoming scarce.

Points Regarding the Census

The census begins April 15 and must be completed in two weeks in cities and in 30 days in all other areas.

The enumerators will wear a badge inscribed "United States Census, 1910."

The law requires every adult person to furnish the prescribed information, but also provides that it shall be treated confidentially, so that no injury can come to any person from answering the questions.

The President has issued a proclamation, calling on all citizens to co-operate with the census and assuring them that it has nothing to do with taxation, army or jury service, compulsory school attendance, regulation of immigration, or enforcement of any law, and that no one can be injured by answering the inquiries.

It is of the utmost importance that the census of population and agriculture in this state be complete and correct.

Therefore every person should promptly, accurately, and completely answer the census questions asked by the enumerators.

School Notes.

Last Friday, the writer continued his visit to our school. In Miss Reid's room, the little people were doing some work in arithmetic. It was very gratifying to note how quickly the pupils solved problems mentally. Following this was a spelling lesson. The method Miss Reid employs calls for the closest attention of all the pupils all the time. They are alert and seldom allow a misspelled word to pass. One little fellow always smiled a broad smile when he solved a problem or plucked up word that had been missed. He thoroughly enjoys his study. This is not saying that the other pupils were not enjoying the work, but his manifestation was marked. It would be hard to find a lot of children with brighter faces. What a fine thing it would be if we could always carry a light heart into our work.

The next room was Miss Winward's. The pupils were just completing a test in arithmetic. After that was finished, the class had a drill upon the map of the United States. This exercise was lively and very interesting. At the close of this exercise, the writer went with the class to the music room, where the class gave an exhibition of their work in music. The teacher and pupils had extended some special invitations to patrons to be present on this occasion. The class gave ample proof that Miss Koehnke is doing excellent work.

In the afternoon, the writer visited Miss May's room during the recitations of the 6th grade arithmetic class and the 7th grade history and the writing period for both grades. The sixth grade pupils are working hard to complete their arithmetic work. This makes it necessary to recite twice a day. They are working with determination and will, no doubt, succeed. The history class discussed the topics in a manner indicating a good understanding of the subject.

The next room was Miss Brewer's. Here the pupils were just finishing an interesting lesson in geography. The lesson was developed from an outline. The 5th grade language class then took up a lesson on verbs. This work called for considerable thought, but most of the pupils were equal to the task and showed by their work that they could think well. The 6th grade then took up some work in interest. This division of this grade recites twice a day in arithmetic. They are making an extra effort to complete the arithmetic work of the grade. The work of the day closed with spelling. The pupils of this room understand the importance of learn-

Raisin Day April 30.

The above date has been set apart as an annual event by the people of California in which all are asked to join by eating raisins in the form of "raisin bread" or in any form that may be desired.

The object of this special day is to create a wide spread raisin sentiment that will result in a greater demand for that fruit, and to direct the attention of all good housewives to the excellence of the raisin as an article of food. The good people of the Northwest are invited by their neighbors to participate in the pleasant custom and "break" raisin bread on April 30.
