NOT IN THE LEAST ALIKE.

Different Ways Taft and Roosevelt Have of Looking at Life.
Externally Taft is everything that Roosevelt is not, writes William Allen White. Taft begins each day by a weary, painful, perfunctory half-hour of gymnastic gyrations—a kind of canned exercise—which, having been opened and devoured, finishes his physical duty for the day. Roosevelt takes his exercise in the open, with the joy of a satyr in it. Roosevelt's mental processes are quick, intuitive and sure. Until he has made up his mind he is a most open-minded person. Taft works it out. He is never too sure to receive new evidence. Taft grasps a proposition, wrestles with it without resting and without fatigue until it is settled or solved. His joy is found at the end of the road. Roosevelt's joy is found in many roads. He wears of monotony, and keeps divers interests in his mind, many things to employ him under the head of unfinished business. If Providence is slow in sending wars and rumors of wars—what ho, for the nature fakirs! Let us be up and doing.

Roosevelt has a marvelous moral sense; he has a detective's nose for finding iniquity in measures. Taft has a prodigious capacity for hard, consecutive work and an instinct for evidence founded on a broad, charitable affection for men, whom he knows as a hunter knows his dogs; and Taft finds the right of things, as Roosevelt finds it, but by a different path. Taft enjoys his meals. Roosevelt, absorbed in work or play, would eat hay and not know it. With Roosevelt culture is like bear hunting, trust fighting, muck raking or fence jumping, a rampant, gorgeous reaction upon his insatiable soul. With Taft culture is a sweet, indefinable mental and moral digestant tincture that colors his soul's eyes so that he may see a delightful world; or, to change the figure, it is an easy garment, a sort of drape of his spiritual couch, which he wraps about him and lies down to "pleasant dreams."

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

The trouble with luck is it is mostly of the wrong kind. Some homes always look as if the family has just moved in. About the only vacation some people get is in interruptions in their work.

A woman is immensely flattered if her husband tells her she is "broad minded." As soon as we get rid of one difficulty, we usually find another waiting to take its place.

The only people who really have a good time are those who enjoy being imposed upon. Occasionally you meet a man who dislikes to attract attention. But such men are extremely rare.

There are a good many devils in the world, according to the man who always wants to give the devil his due. The older people get, the less regard they have for looks in their "nighties," and the more for comfort.

Women use the same expressions of sorrow in telling of a disappointment in a dressmaker as of a disappointment in love. A man was trying to speak of a pacifier to-day, and referred to him as "peaceifier." Why isn't "peaceifier" a good word?

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period. Better Than Usual. Snodgrass—Did you have good luck on your last hunting trip? Nymrod—Better than usual; I was shot at only four times and hit only twice.

Rivalry.
Squire Durnitt—I notice they's lots more funerals in your town than we have in Lonelyville. Uncle Welby Gosh (of Drearyhurst)—Yes; people seem to kind of hate the idea of being found dead in your village.

Same Old Kind.
Ruggles—Have you a fireless cooker in your kitchen? Raggles—Yes, but it's fireless because I can't afford to buy fuel for it any more.

THE KEYSTONE TO HEALTH IS HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

The process of digestion and assimilation depends entirely upon the condition of the stomach. If yours is weak take a short course of the Bitters. It prevents Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Cramps and Diarrhoea.

"The Newly Weds."
Sometimes we interpret too literally. "I want to learn to make jelly," said the newly installed housewife. "Is it hard?" "Oh, Lord, no, mum!" replied the cook, with supreme pity. "It's soft."—Judge.

Worms

"Cascarae are certainly fine. I gave a friend one when the doctor was treating him for cancer of the stomach. The next morning he passed four pieces of a tape worm. He then got a box and in three days he passed a tape worm 45 feet long. It was Mr. Matt Frank of Millersburg, Dauphin Co., Pa. I am quite a worker for Cascarae. I use them myself and find them beneficial for most any disease caused by impure blood."—Chas. E. Coudon, Lewistown, Pa. (Millin Co.)

Pleasant, Painless, Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sickens. Weakens or Grips. 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamp—C.C.C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back.

Youthful Taste.
"We keep our own cow," explained the hostess, proudly. "So were sure of our milk." "Well," interrupted the small son of the guest, setting down his cup, "somebody's stung you with a sour cow."—Toledo Blade.

There's a Reason.
Physician—I have told you to take long walks in the open air, and you are not doing it. Confirmed Dyspeptic—I know it, doctor, but you told me I was to take them on an empty stomach, and I never have an empty stomach.—Chicago Tribune.

Not Particularly Impressed.
Mr. Upsome—You had a good time seeing the Riviera while you were abroad, I presume. Mr. Struckett-Ritch—Er—yes, but one performance was enough for me. I've seen it played lots better right here in Cincinnati.—Chicago Tribune.

Thought Quickly.
"What is a totem pole?" his wife asked. "A totem pole," he said, thinking fast, "is the rail—or pole—on which an objectionable citizen is ridden—or toted—out of the community."—Buffalo Express.

HUNT PIRATE'S LOOT

Interesting Tale of Treasure Buried in Marianne Islands.

Brigand Chose Death by Drowning Rather Than Reveal Hiding Place of Valuable Cargo Sought by Lieutenant.

San Francisco.—In 1823, during a revolution in Peru, a number of wealthy residents of Lima chartered a brig of 300 tons, to carry to Spain their property in money and jewelry, and a large quantity of monastic plate. It is said that there were doubloons to the value of two million sterling, and a vast sum in plate.

But after the treasure was on board, and when its owners came down to the beach, they found the vessel gone. An Englishman, a lieutenant in the Peruvian navy, hearing of the intended flight, had gone on board with a chosen band, and had cut out the brig within half of a Peruvian man-of-war. He steered right across the Pacific, and in course of time reached the Marianne Islands, where the treasure was buried.

A course was then laid for Honolulu. But before reaching this port quarrels broke out among the pirates, and the lieutenant, with his two officers and a cabin boy, having set fire to the vessel, got into a boat and left the crew. One of the officers was murdered and thrown overboard before the boat reached Honolulu. There the party represented themselves as the survivors of a shipping disaster.

The lieutenant, before leaving Lima, had been in love with a lady, the wife of a Peruvian officer, who was slain in the revolution, and before taking any further steps with regard to the treasure, decided to send for her. The cabin boy was dispatched as his emissary to Lima, but on his arrival there he was seized and thrown into prison, and the lady refused to have anything further to do with a man whom she styled a detestable pirate.

The lieutenant and his sole remaining companion thereupon chartered a small fore and aft schooner, the Swallow, commanded by one Captain Thompson, and proceeded to the Marianne for the treasure. Thompson tried hard to get a charter for a speclied port or ports, but the lieutenant insisted on a broad charter, including any or all the Mariannes.

One evening, when they were in sight of the islands, the lieutenant, who was sitting on the lee rail chatting with his companion, was, it is conjectured, tipped overboard by the latter and disappeared. The usual alarm was raised, but the lieutenant's body was never recovered.

Thompson, from certain scraps of conversation which he had overheard, having suspected the object of the voyage, overhauled the dead lieutenant's effects, and among them found a chart of the island on which the treasure was hidden, but with the name omitted. Soon afterward he sighted another brig, with the master of which he was acquainted, and they arranged to search for the treasure and divide it between them, giving the surviving pirate a share on condition that he consented to point out the spot, but with a threat if he did not do so he would forthwith be handed over to the Spanish authorities.

At a concerted moment the pirate was seized by both captains and the conditions named. He nodded. They asked him if he would indicate the situation of the treasure. He nodded. They asked if this was the island, pointing to the nearest of the group. He again nodded. They invited him to step into a boat which had been lowered and guide them to the treasure. Afterward he went below and filled his pockets with lead and iron. Then, going down the ladder, he pushed off the boat with one foot from the side of the schooner and dropped feet first into the sea.

Until within eight or ten years ago there was alive one of the boat's crew, who, snatching at the suicide's hair to save him as he sank, plucked down his head a handful of hair, but could not raise the heavily weighted body. This put an end to the treasure hunting. The chart went into the possession of the Spanish authorities.

In a copy of the Japan Mail of ten years or more ago the statement was made that the British schooner Neroid sailed from Japan as far as Guam, a small island belonging to the Marianne group, in search of the buried treasure. But while the captain, who intended to sail for Yap, in the Carolines, was on shore the schooner was carried off, either by his mates or two Japanese, or by all four, these being the only persons on board. Since that time nothing has been heard of the vessel.

Time to Rebel.
It was in one of those ultra-swell restaurants where it costs a dollar to glance at the menu. "Turtle dove," whispered the pretty girl who had been invited to lunch, "won't you order me some diamond-back terrapin? It is only four dollars a portion." "Not so that you can notice it," responded the young man coldly. "I might be a turtle dove, but I'm no terrapin dove."

Biography Barred.
"Shucks, what does the census amount to?" "What's the trouble, Uncle Peleg?" "All that darned enumerator wanted was a lot of figgers. Wouldn't pay no attention to the details of my rheumatism or my fust marriage."

Knox—Poppleigh doesn't brag about that bright boy of his any more. Blox—Has he ceased to be bright? Knox—Not exactly. He says about the same sort of things as formerly, but he's got to the age where they are usual.

England's Low Birth Rate.
England's birth rate last year was the lowest on record—25.58 a thousand of population. This is nearly 1.0 below the rate for 1908, which showed a slight increase over 1907, the first for many years.

Still Cheaper.
"Isn't it cheaper to move than to pay rent?" I inquired of the young married man. "I suppose it is," he replied with a settled air, "but my plan is cheaper than either; I live with my father-in-law."

It prevents loss of weight and strength from worry caused by attacks of insects, and from the irritation of their bites and stings. There is a satisfaction in the relief it affords domestic animals from the scourge of maddening parasites and flies, besides the profit in returns. Horses do more work on less feed and cows yield more and better milk when relieved from the frenzy incited by constantly fighting a swarm of voracious, insatiable insects.
