

Colonist Travel Heavy.

The Northern Pacific was the only road yesterday that had reports indicating the volume of colonist travel which started west September 15.

Train No. 3 of that road, which left St. Paul on the evening of the 15th, was run in two sections, with seven extra tourist cars and a total of 12 cars to each train. The first section is running through solid to Portland and the second section solid to Seattle. It was expected that the corresponding train out of St. Paul last night would also be run in two sections.

The first train on the Northern Pacific carrying a large number of persons coming west under the low one-way colonist fares reached Portland Saturday morning via the North Bank route.

At the O. R. & N. general offices it was stated that it was known that the through trains were carrying extra tourist equipment out of Kansas City and Omaha, but no report as to the number of cars had been received. Similar information was given at the Great Northern and Canadian Pacific concerning travel out of Missouri River terminals.

Reports from the immigration departments of the railroads indicate that the travel this year is very largely of persons who have the means to purchase homes and establish themselves in the West on farms. Many have shipped their household furniture and some are bringing livestock and farm implements. Aside from the farm-seekers the colonists are largely mechanics.

W. R. ELLIS FOR CONGRESS The Candidate With Experience.

Republican candidate for re-nomination to Congress before the District Primary, Saturday, September 24th, 1910.

Ten years experience on floor and in the committee rooms of Congress.

Over 26 years residence in Oregon—knows the needs of the people at first hand.

Member of Ways and Means Committee; no better committee assignment in House of Representatives.

Has secured three appropriations for public buildings for his district in the last two Congresses.

The Second Oregon district stood at or near the head in the sums appropriated in the last House bill for its rivers and harbors, ($1,800,000.)

Congressman Ellis has supported all progressive administration measures; devotes his entire time to the promotion of the interests of Oregon and upbuilding of the West; by reason of his large and favorable acquaintance among the members of Congress is in position to continue to do things for Oregon, which no new man would be able to do for many years.

He has at heart the interest of the "Old Soldier." During the last two congresses has supported every bill introduced for the relief of old veterans; secured the passage of numerous private bills for helpless old soldiers and their widows and handled many hundreds of claims acted on by the pension department.

Veterans Meet.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 18.—The hotels, piers and board walk are crowded with old soldiers and their families here to attend the 44th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. Every train today brought re-enforcements to the crowd that began arriving last week.

Five thousand veterans gathered in the Savoy Theater this morning and listened to a patriotic sermon by the Rev. Robert A. Elwood, chaplain of the Department of Pennsylvania.

Commander Van Sant and Hilary A. Herbert, of Albany, ex-Secretary of the Navy and a general in the Confederate Army, were the principal speakers at a large gathering of veterans on the steeplechase pier this afternoon.

General Herbert eulogized the members of the Grand Army. He told how the wearers of the blue and the wearers of the gray were welded together in the cause of the Union.

Commander-in-Chief Van Sant and General Daniel E. Sickles both said they would work for the proposition advocated by General Herbert, of bringing the grizzled veterans of the North and South together. It is believed that this demonstration of feeling will end the agitation against the placing of a statue of General R. E. Lee in Statuary Hall at Washington.

A remarkable scene occurred with the entrance of General Sickles. As he swung down the aisle the veterans arose as one man and four of his command lifted him, chair and all, and placed him on the platform while the band played "Dixie" and the crowd cheered as General Sickles grasped the folds of a huge silk flag, with Commander Van Sant. General Herbert snugged up and said:

"Had I been told when I was in Antietam that in the years to come I would stand side by side with Federal soldiers and grasp the Stars and Stripes with them, I would have been insulted. But I love that old flag now."

Commander Van Sant said he was proud of the fact that no American Army ever surrendered to anything but an American Army.

A ripple of applause greeted the mention of Colonel Roosevelt during the Grand Army of the Republic leader's address. The name of President Taft was mentioned.

The vanguard of the Fall colonist travel from the East and Middle West to Oregon is arriving on every train. Reports from the immigration officials of the railroads are to the effect that this travel will be heavy and that a large number of new citizens will reach Oregon this year. People of the state should make special efforts to welcome the newcomers and make them feel at home in their new environment. Help should be given in helping them find suitable locations. Oregon people have a distinct duty to perform in giving aid and comfort to the homeseeker who will be with us in large numbers this fall.

From Sickness to "Excellent Health."
So says Mrs. Chas. Lyon, Peoria, Ill. "I found in your Foley Kidney Pills a prompt and speedy cure for backache and kidney troubles which bothered me for many months. I am now enjoying excellent health which I owe to Foley Kidney Pills."

ROOSEVELT TALKS NEW PARTY Advocates Application of Old Time Moralities to Present Conditions.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept.—Theodore Roosevelt said yesterday that he is not talking revolution in declaring his new political creed. Neither is he making an appeal to mob rule.

In a stanch defense of his doctrine of the "new nationalism" he declared that he was merely urging the application of old moralities to modern conditions. At the same time he replied with spirit to those who have been opposing him, and hotly denounced newspapers which, he said, attacked honest public men.

Colonel Roosevelt's address was delivered at the Suffolk County Fair at Riverhead, L. I. He rode about 120 miles in an automobile to and from Riverhead, and spoke to a great crowd on the fairgrounds.

The Colonel's expression of "new nationalism" came at the close of a speech in which he also denounced dishonest corporations, dishonest men of wealth and political bosses. He made no references to the New York State political situation.

"I have noted a good deal of comment on my speech on 'new nationalism,'" he declared. "All that new nationalism means is the application of certain old-time moralities to the changed conditions of today."

"I wish to see greater governmental efficiency because we have to deal with a greater business efficiency. Simple laws are all that are necessary in small communities, when there is no big business and each man works for himself. When you get masses of wealth gathered together and great corporations developing, conditions then become so changed that there must be an increase in governmental activity to control the wealth for business efficiency."

"I would not do any wrong to the great corporation, but I don't intend to rely on the big corporation's good nature to see that the corporation does not do harm against us. I want to see such control of the wealth now gathered for business uses as to favor the honest man who uses the wealth genuinely for the service of the public and to make the dishonest man feel that he has to do what is right; and if he does not feel it we shall see to it that he does."

"That is my whole creed. That is all there is in it. There is no revolution in it. There is no appeal to mob rule. On the contrary, I recognize mob violence as an enemy of the public good just as much as lawless wealth. I am against the poor man who is guilty of the crime of lawless violence and, when it is in my power, I shall try to punish him for his misdeeds, just as whenever I have the power I will join with those that see to it that the corrupt man of wealth is good—not because he likes it, but because he has to be."

Colonel Roosevelt spoke with even more than customary earnestness. His words were received with cheers.

"I now want to speak to you as citizens in the great problems that concern all of us. I think every citizen of a free democracy ought to distrust above all others the public man whose deeds do not square with his words."

"That has two sides. It has to do with the politician who makes promises that he does not keep, and it has to do with newspapers that say what they know is not true. Mark Twain said that there are 869 different kinds of lies, but the only one which was authoritatively forbidden was that of bearing false witness against your neighbor. There are one or two metropolitan dailies which would do well to print that at the head of the columns, and then try to live up to it. I withhold their names, but omission is easily supplied."

"There are two prime difficulties in getting good government. One arises from the dishonest politician. I think the corrupt politician no worse an enemy of the people than the man who lies about the honest public servant. The damage he does is to the public, in so confusing the public by attacking the men who are honest that the public ceased to be able to recognize and to war against men who are dishonest. Such a man is of the greatest advantage to the thief.

"The corrupt politician is no worse than that corrupt politician's mainstay, the newspaper which says that which is not true about men in public life. Honesty, truth, courage—you need them just as much in public as in private life."

In concluding his speech he urged greater respect for manual labor. As for rich malefactors, he believed that the railway man who gets rich by gambling in the securities of the road he operates in trust for his stockholders should be punished, and that if it is impossible to punish him under present laws, the laws should be changed.

S. F. WILSON.

S. F. Wilson, Republican candidate for joint senator from Umatilla, Union and Morrow counties is an able and clean cut young Republican. He is a new man in the field of politics and is not allied or tied up with any of the old cliques or factions. He wears no man's collar and has no political debts to pay, but is free to act in any and all legislation as the best interests of his district may demand. No man need doubt where S. F. Wilson stands on any important question. He is a man of sound judgment, deep seated convictions and absolute frankness, and would rather go down to defeat in defense of his principles than to achieve temporary success by the guile, subterfuge and duplicity of the professional office seeker.

Besides being a lawyer, Mr. Wilson is an extensive farmer of his own and leased lands. As a legislator he would not be a mere theorist, his opinions have been rendered stable by actual experience as an agriculturist.

Morrow County needs a good strong representative in the State Senate, a man whom she can call upon for the legislation she needs with reasonable assurance of getting it; a man who is free to act, courageous to do his duty and willing to do his best.

High sounding pledges and pre election promises are idle as the wind unless there is behind them the purpose, the ability, the honesty and the energy to put them into execution.

When the voter at next Saturday's primaries sees the list of candidates for nomination for joint senator for Morrow County, he should before making his cross, ask: What are the capabilities, the qualifications of the man I am to vote for here? What can he do? What can I expect of him?

To such questioner, when he pauses with pencil point at No. 40 S. F. WILSON, the answer is this: He is a young man of good address and vigorous physique, able to stand lots of hard work; he is a Simon pure Republican, who has never flirted with other political parties for temporary advantage, or expediency, he rings true. He has no political debts to pay, he is free and untrammelled; he is a man of fixed opinions and no temporizer. He has a legally trained mind and knows the results and limitations of legislation in which he may take part. All of his theories and opinions have been tested and corrected by actual experience and application as a farmer. He is an honest, vigorous, courageous man, one who can and will do his duty in the legislature as well as elsewhere.

Lumber Market Slow.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 16.—A policy of general curtailment in the production of fir lumber has been adopted by nearly all lumber manufacturers in Western Washington. Curtailment has already reached the point where not to exceed 75 per cent of the mills in the Puget Sound district are operating.

Several informal conferences have been held during the last few days, at which the question of further curtailment has been discussed. The prevailing sentiment of Western Washington lumbermen is that curtailment will be carried to the extent of 50 per cent before October 2.

Not more than two mills are operating in Puget Sound at present, and advice received here state that but one mill is operating north of Portland and but one or two on Gray's Harbor. Southwestern Washington lumber manufacturers are curtailing to the extent of about 25 per cent and will not resume operations, if it is until the demand improves.

Lack of business is responsible for the curtailment now in progress. The fall demand from middle West lumber yards has not reached the proportions expected, and millmen say it is too late to expect much business from North and South Dakota and Minnesota this season.

Saved From Awful Pain.

"I never felt so near my grave," writes Lewis Chamblin, of Mendocino, Ohio, R. R. No. 3, as when a frightful cough and lung trouble pulled me down to 115 pounds in spite of many medicines and the best doctors. And that I am alive today is due solely to Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. Now I weigh 150 pounds and can work hard. It cured my four children of croup."
