Kissing a Hornet.

In looking over the news of the day one is impressed with the number of states which will wrestle with the liquor question at approaching elections.

Washington is struggling with the county unit plan; Idaho with the movement to spread prohibition over its entire face, and Oregon, already grown weary of unintelligent attempts at regulation, is being called again to plunge into the turmoil. Luckily, however, Oregon has reached the crossroads on the liquor question. It has come up the by-path of local option, strewn everywhere with 50 per cent alcohol patent medicine and "near-beer" bottles, and must choose this fall one of two measures, namely:

Initiative Bill No. 328, giving to every incorporated town and city in the state exclusive power to regulate, suppress or prohibit the sale of intoxicants. A measure, in other words, that will give prohibition that really prohibits, if a community wants it; local option that really localizes, if a community prefers that; and the law back of whichever remedy is chosen; or State-wide prohibition, so-called.

One has only to read the news reports appearing in the daily papers to draw conclusions as to the reason for the state-wide prohibition movement in Oregon this year. A short time ago 15 men were in jail in Malheur county for boot-legging; scores of men have been arrested at Gardiner, Coudon, Madras, Roseburg and a dozen other places for the same offenses. The greatest infractions of the law have been in the "dry" counties. In these districts where local option under the present statute has been brought into play, the sale of intoxicants continues. "Near-beer" resorts scrape off the labels on beer that is nearer. The contents is the same as before. Consumers, as a rule, are not analytical chemists and so, of course, do not subject their draughts to the test to determine whether it contains more than the regulation 2 per cent alcohol.

Along this same line comes the report from Collector of Internal Revenue Dunne in whose summary it is shown that although 21 of the 34 counties in Oregon are "dry," the collections on distilled liquors and beer licenses are nearly $57,000 larger than last year. The figures are indisputable. They establish a startling and commanding fact: Prohibition instead of reducing, has actually increased the consumption of liquor.

In the face of these facts and statistics, one pauses to ask what increase in law-breaking and liquor consumption will be in evidence if the entire state votes itself into the "dry" column. Rather wouldn't it be wiser to enact a law that will control the evil instead of having the evil control the law and the people?

To give each community the absolute and exclusive power to regulate, suppress or prohibit the sale of intoxicants, such as is proposed in Initiative Bill No. 328, providing for a constitutional amendment, has a truer ring and is apparently founded on better logic than the local option law, which has largely failed of its purpose, or state-wide prohibition whose effectiveness is subject to heavy discount. Kissing a hornet is not altogether a pleasurable task, but it might be well to throttle the insect first before attempting the osculation.

All of the county's of the state that have joined with the O R & N and Southern Pacific railroads in a campaign of advertising have prospered. In fact the enterprise of these counties has produced a greater growth within the past five years than was made in 20 years of the former mossback period. In fact, we have been so backward that we know but little of the possibilities and opportunities that exist in Morrow county. This matter of advertising is a business proposition with the railroad people that has been made a specialty and has been brought down to methods that bring results. It is a fact that communities have spent thousands of dollars and results have been discouraging owing to lack of knowledge as to methods in reaching the right people. The railroads with their great chain of immigration bureaus conducted by trained men are constantly in touch with the people who are looking to the west for homes. As Mr. Wells stated in his address, the main point is to strike the right man at the right time. The railroad will arrange easy payments and the burden of raising funds will not be heavy.

RHEUMATIC FOLKS.

Are You Sure Your Kidneys are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive.

Don't dally with "uric acid solvents." You might go on till doomsday with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid, but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Heppner testimony to prove it.

Henry Howard, of Heppner, Oregon, says: "For thirty years I suffered from rheumatic pains in my back and hips. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I was induced to try them and I wish to express my appreciation of their good work. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me great relief and I only hope that my statement will be the means of leading other kidney sufferers to try them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Acute or Chronic—Which?

No matter if your kidney trouble is acute or chronic Foley's Kidney Remedy will reach your case. Mr. Claude Brown, Reynoldsville, Ill., writes us that he suffered many months with kidney complaint which baffled all treatment. At last he tried Foley's Kidney Remedy and a few large bottles effected a complete cure. He says: "It has been of inestimable value to me."
