DAVID A. HERREN.

Pioneer of Morrow County and a Native Son of Oregon.

The startling news of the sudden death of David A. Herren was received in Heppner on last Saturday morning, he having passed away at 10:30 on Friday evening, the 27th inst., at his home in Spray.

While Mr. Herren had been in failing health for about a year past, he seemed at this time greatly improved, having just returned from a trip to Hot Lake, Oregon, where he had been under treatment for some time, and the news of his death was after all a shock to his relatives and many friends in Heppner.

The remains were conveyed to Heppner, arriving here on Sunday at about noon, after a very hard trip over the mountains from Spray.

Funeral services were conducted at the Christian church, Tuesday, at 10:30 a. m., under the auspices of Willow Lodge No. 66, I. O. O. F., of which Mr. Herren was a charter member, the sermon being preached by Rev. J. V. Crawford. A very large concourse of people turned out to pay their last respects, and to follow the remains to their last resting place beside his first wife and a daughter on the cemetery hill.

David A. Herren was a native of Oregon. He was born at Salem on April 6, 1849, his parents being William J. and Nancy E. Herren, who came to Oregon in the year 1844, and spent their first winter at The Dalles, later removing to Salem. David was educated in the public schools of Salem and in the Willamette University, and after completing school, worked two years in a store in Salem and then removed to Umatilla county, engaging in the running of stock for a time and then going into the mercantile business with the late J. L. Morrow. He was Heppner's first postmaster, running the office on a salary of $12.50 per year, and was also at the time agent for the Utah and Idaho stage line when it was necessary to send out armed guards with each stage. He subsequently sold out the mercantile business and engaged for a number

MASS MEETING FARMERS UNION

An All Day Session of the Farmers at the Court House on Saturday

As per announcement of two weeks ago, the farmers constituting the various local unions of the county met at the court house in Heppner on Saturday at 10 a. m. There was a fairly good attendance, and enthusiasm prevailed.

This meeting was in conjunction with the Heppner local of the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union, and was called to order by C. E. Jones, who read the preamble of the constitution as an introduction to the exercises of the day.

Following this was an address by organizer Cox, who had just returned from a visit with the different locals of the county.

As a result of the meeting, quite a number of new names were added to the list of membership, and the work of the Union in this county strengthened.

At the morning session the following were elected as officers of the county Union: C. E. Jones, president; N. A. Clark, vice president; A. S. AKers, secretary and treasurer; D. S. Barlow, chaplain; O. M. Whittington, conductor; Guy Huston, doorkeeper; executive committee, E. L. Padberg, R. E. Allcott and D. S. Barlow.

C. E. Jones, Vawter Crawford and E. L. Padberg were elected to represent the county union at the tri-state convention to be held in Walla Walla on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 3rd and 4th. There will be delegates from each of the locals of the county, and it is expected that about fifteen or twenty will attend.

of years in farming and sheep-raising on Balm fork of Willow creek, where he had one of the best equipped ranches in the county. About six years ago he closed out this business and removed to Spray where he again entered merchandising, being owner and manager of the Spray Mercantile Co. Owing to failing health he sold this business last fall and at the time of his death was not engaged in any business pursuit.

Mr. Herren was twice married, his first wife being Miss Emily J. Wallace, a native of Andover, N. Y., and the daughter of a pioneer settler of this county. To them were born three children: Claud M., Lila L., deceased, and Mabel C. Claud and Mabel are now residents of this county. Mrs. Herren died in June, 1886, and Mr. Herren was again married on Jan. 1, 1889, to Miss Addie J. Rash, of Heppner, and to this union were born two daughters, Willa L. and Eva May, who are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father.

David Herren was a pioneer of the Heppner country, and was a man highly esteemed by all whose pleasure it was to know him. He was a wideawake business man and alive at all times to the best interests of this section. He met with success in his business ventures, and he also had many disappointments, but through all he was always the same genial, good-natured Dave, came up smiling and was ready to buckle in again. It was a pleasure, indeed, to be counted as one of his friends, for he was true and faithful, and his demise is keenly felt by all his old friends and associates in this community where he grew up, as it were, with the country. To his relatives and friends we extend our sympathy in this hour of bereavement. A good man is gone. Peace to his ashes.
