THURSDAY, Aug. 17, 1911

That rain the first of the week helped the street sprinkling proposition for a day or so at least. It looks like it is up to mother nature to attend to the sprinkling after this as there seems to be no other help in sight.

The Gazette is in receipt of a copy of the Oregon Blue Book for 1911. This is a book compiled by the Secretary of State and contains much valuable information concerning Oregon. A liberal amount of space is devoted to the products and industries of the state at large besides containing the official directory of the state, district and county officers and the constitution.

Oregon's hop crop is another source of prosperity for the farmer this season. With 40 cents already paid for the growing crop and reports of extreme shortage abroad, making further advances likely, the hop grower is in excellent feather. The state has an excellent yield of hops this season, the total being estimated at 100,000 bales, which is the biggest crop since 1907.

FAIRLY WARNED.

The Old Crook's Advice to His Brilliant Young Pupil.

"All this easy talk about 'honest graft' said an author, 'makes me tired. There isn't any such thing. 'Honest' graft is on a par with the point of view of an incorrigible old crook I ran across when I was doing police work on a Chicago paper years ago. The venerable reprobate had a son about eighteen years old, whom he had carefully trained to follow in his own footsteps. They lived together, and every night the old man used to make the boy fork over the proceeds of the day's pocketpicking, allowing him just enough to live on.

"Finally the young crook began to rebel inwardly, and one night, after a particularly good day's haul, he secretly pawned a diamond scarfpin and kept the money himself. He gave the old thief the rest of the swag, however, and it was so goodly a pile that he opened his heart and handed the astonished boy $5 and told him to go to a prizefight or somewhere and enjoy himself. So the boy began to put on his only glad rags. But he seemed strangely silent and distraught. The old man noticed it and demanded to know what was the matter and if the $5 wasn't enough, and so on.

"Suddenly the lad burst into tears. 'Guv'nor,' he sobbed, 'I ain't no right to this five spot. Here's $10 I got on a pin today, and I was goin' to hold it out on you!'

"The old crook took the money and gazed with sadness upon his child. 'Son,' he said, 'I want to tell you one thing. Take it from me, folks that gets money that way will never, never come to no good.'—New York World.

Flowers and Blood.

A superstition dating from olden times exists to the effect that roses and flowers generally attain greater beauty in soil fertilized by blood, especially by human blood, than elsewhere. Persons who have visited Newmarket, England, know of the so-called "bloody flower of Newmarket," which is found nowhere else than in the old moat, now filled up, and in which, according to tradition, a very large quantity of human remains is interred. These flowers bloom in June and July and by the bloodlike hue of their blossoms suggest the name which has been given to them.

Right Living.

To be honest, to be kind, to earn a little and to spend a little less; to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence; to renounce when that shall be necessary and not to be embittered; to keep a few friends, but these without capitulation; above all, on the same grim condition, to keep friends with himself—here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy.

SOME ADVERTISING RATES.

A single page in a single issue of the Century taken for advertising purposes, says an exchange, costs $500, in Harpers $400, in other prominent magazines from $350 down to $100. A yearly advertisement of one column in the Chicago Tribune costs $26,000; in the New York Tribune, $29,000 for the lowest and $85,950 for the highest rates; in the New York Herald, $36,203 for the lowest and $349,000 for the highest priced column. These papers it is said are never at a loss for advertising to fill their columns. These figures will doubtless be of interest to the man who invests $10 and flatters himself with the idea that he is a liberal advertiser.
