El Hale returned Monday from a short stay at Hot Lake. He is somewhat improved in health.

Ranchers along the creek below Heppner are putting up their third crop of alfalfa, and it is a bumper.

W. J. Blake, supervisor of irrigation and water rights for Morrow county, was in Heppner on official business on Tuesday.

Why pay peddlers $3.50 a pair for stock food when the same or superior quality can be had for $2.00 at the M. W. M. Co. store.

R. F. Hynd came up from Portland on Monday evening to be present at a meeting of the stockholders of the Morrow Warehouse Milling Co. held on Tuesday.

Frank Hall and family arrived from Vancouver, Wash., this week by team, and will spend the winter here. He is running a small farm over in the Vancouver country.

W. P. Prophet came up from Monmouth on Friday, and proceeded on to Hardman where he has business interests. He says it is raining some in the Willamette Valley.

David Hynd, of Sand Hollow, is sick at the sanatorium in Heppner. He was operated on at that institution on Tuesday for appendicitis, and at this time is reported to be getting along alright.

The repairing of Heppner's dilapidated sidewalks is going on nicely, and Marshal Smith reports that he is having little difficulty in securing compliance with the mandate of the city council.

O. G. Crawford returned home on Monday evening after an absence of six weeks, during which time he took in many of the towns of the Valley and Eastern Oregon, as a musician with Arnold's Carnival Co.

J. B. Huddleson, the genial manager of the Heppner end of the Harriman system, "batted in" to the right hand paw of one of Heppner's young backs the other evening, and as a result his proboscis appears to be badly bruised.

Ma Shoot, better known here as "Charley", proprietor of the O. K. restaurant, was married to a fair damsel of the Celestial Kingdom down at Portland on Friday last. He has fitted up nice rooms here, and Mr. and Mrs. Shoot will be "at home" to their friends in Heppner from now on.

Insure your house with the Oregon Fire Relief of McMinnville—the old reliable company.

Geo. J. CURRIN, Local Agent.

Subscribers for season tickets for the Lyceum Course will find the plat for the seats at the Slocum Drug Co. store on Saturday, the 14th inst. You can then secure your tickets and make your reservations for the season of entertainments. By calling early and securing your tickets and making your reservations you will favor yourselves in the matter of location and save the collectors the trouble of calling upon you. Remember the first number will be given by Prof. Maynard Lee Daggy, November 7. You will be pleased with this number. Do not fail to hear Daggy.

Pacific Homestead: Two carloads of dairy cows from the Middle West states were received in a Washington farming district this week, to be distributed among some of the farmers who have learned that the dairy industry is a profitable one to engage in. The establishing of a large creamery in that community is one cause for the farmers to turn their attention from hay and grain raising to something more lucrative.

Rev. John McAllister and wife have arrived from Latab, Wash., and taken charge at the Baptist church at this place. Rev. McAllister was at one time a resident of Gilliam county and engaged in the sheep business. He sold out a few years ago and returned to his old home in Scotland, where he became converted and entered the ministry. He is a very pleasant gentleman, and we bespeak for him success in his new field.

Mrs. L. E. Cohn has opened the millinery stock and has to offer to her patrons, felt hats, ready to wear, value to $3.50, for $1.00. Shapes, value to $3.00, for 50c. Taffeta ribbon 20 cents the yard. Beaver hats $2.00 each; children's hats, 50 cents. Every article at cut rate price for cash. Pattern hat display complete. Also veiling, plumes, and everything found in a first class millinery store.

Following a family disagreement in which Mrs. Robert Dexter was accused of using unseemly language toward her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Wherry, a hearing was had on Monday before Recorder Williams upon complaint of Mrs. Wherry. Judge Williams failed to be convinced that there was just cause for the complaint and dismissed the case, taxing the costs to the complainant.

Frank Anderson finished threshing a 90 acre field of barley the past week that yielded him the sum of $16.00 per acre. This is not so bad for an off year. It should be noted also that Frank is one of our farmers that does good work and puts his grain in to ground that has been properly and thoroughly prepared. Frank also raises some chickens and potatoes.

From his small orchard on Rhea creek, John Olden will have sold this season some 4000 pounds of excellent peaches, averaging about 5 cents per pound for the crop. He is not extensively engaged in the fruit raising business but just the same he is producing some of the best fruit grown anywhere. He also does something in the line of vegetables as well.

After spending a week in Heppner, during which time services were conducted daily in the Catholic church, Father Brady and his assistants departed with their chapel car on Tuesday morning for other points up the line. The services were of an evangelistic order and quite largely attended.

J. C. Owen and family returned on Tuesday from the hop fields of the Willamette Valley. An excessive rainfall during the hop picking season made it a rather unprofitable trip and they did well to make expenses while gone. They went on out to their Hardman home on Wednesday.

"It Could Not Suit Me Better If It Had Been Built to Order for Me."

This is a common expression where the Royal Standard Typewriter is used. Court Reporters, Telegraph Operators and Expert Stenographers in all lines of business find in the Royal those "built-to-order" qualities that represent to them the ideal writing machine. You will say the same when you have become the owner of a
