One of the social events of the week was a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blahm. There was a large company of neighbors and friends present, quite a number going down from Heppner.

Our society editor overlooked the class party at the home of Mrs. Cameron last week in honor of the eighteenth birthday of her daughter Minalena. He said that the exams at school put him off his job as reporter.

H. S. Neel, stockraiser and Lone Rock booster, was in Heppner, Tuesday. He says they experienced a big snow over that way that disappeared into the ground in good shape. Stock are doing fine and prospects for crops were never better.

Arthur Daly suffered a sinking spell on Thursday evening last, and since has been in an unconscious state. He rallied some on Sunday and was able to recognize those about him, but this was for a short time only. It is not expected that he will recover. Mr. Daly is well along in years. He does not know himself just how old he is, and his advanced years make against his recovery.

The people of the Christian church at Ione have announced a series of revival meetings to begin in Walker's hall on the evening of January 29th. The preaching will be done by Lawrence Wright, of Des Moines, Iowa, and good music and good preaching is promised. Mr. Wright is an evangelist of wide reputation, and the people of Ione and vicinity will have the opportunity of hearing the gospel well preached.

Dist. Attorney VanVactor departed for Pendleton on Tuesday morning to take up court duties again. The famous Mabel Warner will bribery case comes up for trial in the circuit court over there this week and Mr. VanVactor will have to represent the State's side of the case. He was accompanied by his stenographer, Miss Josephine Cameron.

Minor Brothers have taken a five year lease on the J. M. Hager ranch just above Heppner, with an option of buying the same, so this paper has been informed. It is the intention of the Minors to dispose of some of their holdings nearer the mountains, and when this is done they may ultimately purchase the Hager ranch.

Frank S. Parker and family arrived from the Seven Devils country in Idaho on Friday evening, and are visiting at the home of Mrs. Parker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Crawford. They are on their way to the Willamette Valley where they have purchased a home in the vicinity of Philomath in Benton county.

Thos. E. Chidsey arrived home on Friday evening after an absence of about six months, during which time he has been writing life insurance contracts for the residents of Grant and Baker counties. He reports business as being fairly good but money is pretty tight at all points where he has been at work.

Reno will be here Saturday evening. He will make good his appointment with the Heppner Lyceum Course this time, so get your tickets ready. Those who have not purchased tickets for this number should do so at once. If you do not see Reno, you will miss one of the very best numbers of the course.

A Sketch of

Opie Read

OPIE READ, who comes to Heppner on Saturday evening, February 3, has well been called "The Charles Dickens of America." He was one of the first American novelists to write about the commonplace life of every-day folks, whose struggles, with their comedy and tragedy, he has drawn with a master hand.

No other present day writer is so widely enjoyed as Mr. Read. Since he established the world-famous "Arkansas Traveler" in 1883, his name has been a household word. Thousands have read with delight "A Kentucky Colonel." Many more have made the acquaintance of "A Tennessee Judge" and thus become familiar with the good folks of Mr. Read's native state.

In his entertainment, Mr. Read presents a delightful evening of stories from his own works, and these are told in his own quaint and happy way. Aie entertainments, while designed to entertain, and while furnishing plenty of good, wholesome humor, are more than mere entertainment. Everybody—young and old—enjoys an evening with "Opie" as he is affectionately called by his friends, and everybody has "something left over" to remember and to think about after the entertainment.
