How Hooley Was Praised.

The story of Tim Hooley, who came to America as an emigrant, is not, so bad. He had the Irishman's successful combination of luck, pluck, and industry, and prospered. Everything seemed to come to him that he wanted, and as he gained in wealth people gained in the respect they paid him.

"'Tis marvelous 't' behould," he told a friend, shortly after he had been elected alderman, "'th' gradation av th' manner av addressin' a man they have in this country. For iv'ry station in loife there bes th' proper way 't' spake 't' him 't' is blame near all av thim Oi have had called at me; but fer politeness th' Apiscopalian do take th' cake. Whin Oi was frish landed off av th' steamer from th' ould country, 't' was Oi was 't' git a job on th' sewer, and shure Oi was no wan than but a greenhorn, and th' boss adressed me as such. 'Twas 'Hey, ye Mick, do thes,' and 'Hey, ye Mick, do that,' from wan day's end 't' th' other.

"And nixt," continued Mr. Hooley, "'Oi got 't' be th' boss av a gang mesill, and then 't' was 'Tim' here and 'Tim' there, until Oi took a hand in th' contractin', and wan and all adressed me as Mither Hooley. Thin nixt 't' was nawthin, w'u'd, do but Mither Hooley shud run fer alderman, and Oi did, and 't' was elicted Oi was, as ye well know, and then 't' was 'th' Honorable Timothy Hooley' by day and be noight, and whin me fortun' grew big and ivery wan knew th' ward wint as Hooley tould it 't' go, and th' 'city wint as the ward wint, then nawthin' was too good fer Tim, and th' ould lady fair swelled wid pride. 'Tim' she says, "'t' is but right we sh'u'd take th' position in society th' wealth and prominence of us lades folks 't' suppose belongs 't' us. And th' swell four hundred,' she says, 'all belongs 't' th' Apiscopalian church,' she says, 'and so sh'u'd we, Wid that Oi gave her a look and Oi says: 'Th' Apiscopalian church is not for th' loikes of us, Bridget. Their swell w'u'd be laughin' at us.' But she w'u'd not have no for an answer, so Oi says: 'Well, anny how 't' will do no harmn 't' thry it wance, and if they do not show disrespect fer th' alderman av th' city, we will see.' So th' nixt Sunday we wint 't' th' Apiscopalian church, and th' reception they gave me was beyond me imagination in th' idolatry av ut. Mebbey Bridget had let out 't' some wan was comin'. Oi dunno. But anyway 't' was a grand reception they gave me and beyond anything Oi expected."

"And what was it like, Mr. Hooley?" he was asked. "'We was a late late loike," said Mr Hooley, "'and as we come in th' front dure what do ye think thim Apiscopalian did? 'Twas no 'Mick,' nor 'Tim,' nor yet 'Mr. Hooley' they adressed me wid, but as they saw who Oi was jumped the choir and singe out: 'Hooley, Hooley, Hooley, Lord God Almighty!'"

Mr. Jordan and family have moved to Seattle.

The work of laying the water mains to the new addition of Katherine is being rapidly pushed by Ford & Co., the contractors. The line will run along Villa avenue, thence to the Base Line Road, where it will connect with the city's big mains. This will insure a bountiful supply of water to the residents of that district. Mr. Carter, the local representative of the Hart Land Co., says they will have their line ready as soon as water is turned in the main by the city.
