WRITES OF DOINGS AT MARMOT

Aschoff's Crowded with Boarders — Railroad Talk.

MARMOT, ORE., August 19, 1906.—

EDITOR BEAVER STATE HERALD:— I thought I would write you a few lines to let you know how things are up here. There are about forty boarders at Aschoff's spacious hotel, it being pleasantly situated on the Backbone, and like the Kentuckian's con trap to catch 'em a goin' and a comin'. They had a very enjoyable time a few nights ago, having an entertainment composed of a program gotten up and carried out by the boarders. Quite a number went to the hatchery yesterday with Ernest Aschoff and some started back to Portland, Otto Aschoff taking them as far as Boring. All who have been up here praise the country as well as the people very much. Mr. Aschoff is about laid up with a stiff neck, having hurt it a few days ago by lifting a heavy box in the store. He is lagging around now with his head down, and bent like he wants to butt someone, but I don't think there is much harm in him. Mrs. Aschoff and her daughter, Miss Margaret, attend to the wants of their numerous boarders.

The farmers, generally, have their hay and grain in, having had a fine season for such work.

O. Minsinger has bought Ernest Aschoff's place near here. I am not informed what Ernest intends doing now. Mr. Minsinger is going to start up his mill and saw lumber for the public in the near future. I understand there is a great deal of it needed here and it would please everybody to get lumber so near home.

There is a great deal of railroad talk around here and land is steadily increasing in value. A carline to Mt. Hood would be a big thing to the owners as well as a great benefit to the settlers along the route. There is a great deal of fruit and vegetables raised in this section, and if there was only some way to dispose of it it would be a fine country. It is the healthiest country in the world I think. No one has ever died a natural death here yet and we can't even start a graveyard.

Well I will close lest I tire your patience.

PIKE

P. S. Since writing the above I have learned that Mr. Aschoff has gone to Portland to see the doctor, his neck being much worse. The numerous boarders are having a jolly good time fishing on the Little Sandy, and knocking around generally as there is such splendid scenery around here. More boarders are coming today and will be as long as the weather continues so warm.

school in which the sciences connected with agriculture and the mechanic arts could be pursued, and in 1836 the legislature granted a charter for an agricultural college. It was proposed to purchase a farm near Albany, but the project failed owing to lack of money. Again in 1840 the governor appointed a board of eight commissioners to meet at Albany and mature plans for an agricultural college, and the outcome was that a charter was granted April 15, 1853, for the New York State Agricultural college. In 1855 the citizens of Ovid, Seneca county, petitioned the legislature to locate the college in their vicinity instead of at Oakland Farms, where the commission had previously decided to locate it. After much discussion a farm of 640 acres was purchased at $65 per acre. The trustees of the college took possession April 1, 1857. The cornerstone of the building was laid July 7, 1859. The college opened Dec. 5, 1860, but the breaking out of the civil war brought it to a close. The old building now stands as a part of the Winard asylum for the insane. Thus it will be seen that the state has given attention to agricultural instruction for the past seventy-five years or more.
