UPPER LATOURELL

Mountain school will give a Thanksgiving Entertainment and Basket social next week.

Columbia Grange reports a most enthusiastic social last Saturday night. A good crowd was present to witness the burning of the mortgage, and the hall is now out of debt.

Mr. W. Crowsten spent Sunday with his little daughters, who are making their present home at Anderson's.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross transacted business in Portland on Thursday. Mrs. Ross having two sisters confined to the hospital.

A large number of the young folks of this place is down with lagrippe.

Mr. and Mrs. Rasmussen of Corbett was callers at Anderson's this week.

Additional Gresham Locals

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsons were among our many visitors Saturday. They were delighted to find us so nicely situated.

Dr. J. P. Powell, one of Powell Valley's most honored and oldest settlers, dropped in to see The Herald's big press last Saturday. He said the high winds of last week reminded him of the big wind in the early 80's that in about 15 minutes powdered a swath through the timber big enough for him to see Mt. Hood from his front gate for the first time.

Fred Palmquist, son of J. A. Palmquist, returned home for a few days visit after an absence of eight months in Carson, Wash. He and George and Arthur Baldwin left on the 12th for Los Angeles Cal. where they expect to spend a few months.

Ed. Littlepage, who is helping in the construction of A. B. Meyer's new residence, is residing on his farm at present. He says there is to be a Swede store built near his place in the very near future.

Archie Cornutt, of Pleasant Valley, paid us a visit last week.

Charles Reynolds was a business visitor last Saturday.

High School Basket Social.

The basket social given by the Gresham High school, under the leadership of Professor Bert Ashurst, last Friday night was a decided success. A large number of nicely decorated baskets had been arranged and sold at prices varying from fifty cents to $2 realizing about $30 which will be applied to the improvement of the laboratory.

Prof. Bert Ashurst Has Resigned

The many friends of the Gresham Public and High schools will regret to learn of the resignation of Principal Bert Ashurst. The professor has not been well for some months, and this together with other circumstances, caused him to hand in his resignation last Tuesday, with the request that it take effect immediately.

The professor left Tuesday night for Portland and will leave shortly for his home in California, where it is sincerely hoped he will soon recover.

Town Officers Named.

Pursuant to the call of Mayor Lewis Shattuck a goodly number of voters gathered in the Regner hall last Monday night, Nov. 19th, and after electing Lewis Shattuck chairman and Ralph Johnson secretary, proceeded to the nomination of officers for the Town of Gresham. After a number of nominations and balloting upon same, the following were nominated by a majority of all votes cast: E. C. Liesley for mayor, J. H. Metzger, treasurer; D. S. Johnson, recorder; Fred McElliott, marshal; F. B. Stuart, councilman to fill the unexpired term of Councilman S. B. Johnson, resigned, and D. M. Roberts, Bert Thomas and L. P. Manning councilmen for the full term.

STABLING DAIRY COWS.

Some Advantages of the Covered Yard System.

A new scheme for stabling dairy cows has been suggested by Professor Ert of the dairy department of the Kansas State Agricultural college. A covered yard plan consists of building a cheap structure and allowing the cows to run loose in the stable. In other words, it is merely a covered yard, with some cheap roofing material, closed in on all sides. On one end of this yard is a milking stable, into which the cows are driven to be milked every night and morning. They are fed their grain rations while being milked. The roughage is fed in the covered yard proper.

Advantages of the Method.

The advantages of this method of stabling are enumerated as follows:
First.—Cheapness: no stalls, no expensive building and no cement floors are required, except those that are in the milking stable.
Second.—This covered yard is bedded daily. It has the advantage of making the greatest amount of the best manure of any plan that may be devised. The stable is cleaned out at such time as to allow the manure to be hauled directly from the stable to the field. Thus nothing is lost in the way of fertility.
Third.—Cows are more comfortable in such a stable than in stalls.
Fourth.—With plenty of bedding the cows can be kept cleaner.
Fifth.—It saves labor to clean out the stable every day.
Sixth.—All that it is necessary to keep scrupulously clean is the milking stable, which is but a small part of the barn.

STREET COMMITTEE MEETS SUPPORT

An Eighty-Foot Thoroughfare Meeting With Approval by Property-Owners.

Fairview "Push Club" Should Now Make Effort to Extend the Road.

The committee heretofore appointed to prepare and present to the city council, a resolution to open East Glisan street (Villa avenue) eighty feet wide to the east line of the city, is meeting with general support from the property owners along the street.

Last Saturday evening the committee submitted to the East 28th, street Improvement Association, the proposition of widening Glisan street westward from the Ladd farm to 28th, street and opening the street thence westward to the Sandy road, and thus make one continuous wide street from the Willamette river to the east line of Montavilla.

That association expressed itself as being heartily in favor of such a movement and appointed a committee to confer with the property owners along the street and to call a meeting of that association within a few days when the matter will be fully considered.

It is now time for the "Push Club" at Fairview to commence operation to open a county road eighty feet wide.

CORBETT

W. H. Reed went to Shoalwater bay on Tuesday.

Fred Sholtz was a Portland visitor on Thursday.

Mrs. Newell Gleason, who is recovering from an attack of quinsy, spent the past week with her aunt at Fernvale Place.

C. J. Littlepage spent Thursday and Friday in the city. His daughter May who is attending college returned with him Friday evening to spend Saturday and Sunday at home and attend the Grange banquet Saturday evening.

Rev. Soule preached at Corbett school house Sunday morning.

Mrs. Lotta Benfield and daughter, Anna, who are being cared for at a Portland hospital, are reported very sick at this writing with typhoid fever.

David Benfield drove to Portland on Friday with a load of peas.

The most enjoyable social event of the season was a banquet given by the Columbia Grangers at their hall Saturday evening. After a short session of the grange the doors were thrown open to a few invited guests. The event was to celebrate the burning of a paid up mortgage on the hall. C. J. Littlepage in a short address very ably gave a brief history of the order here from its organization in 1893 to the present time. The grangers have a fine hall and should be complimented for their enterprise.

F. W. Reed, in the employ of the N. P. R. R. Co., is running a gasoline launch between Mt. Pleasant landing and Cape Horn.

An immense slide and washout near Bonneville was the cause of no trains over the O. R. & N. on Thursday.

BUSY SESSION OF GRESHAM COUNCIL

Many Items of Interest Call Out a Full Attendance on Tuesday Night.

Council Specifies How Sidewalks Shall be Built—Will Provide for City Light.

No one of the councilmen or officers of the town was absent last Tuesday night at the adjourned session of the council, excepting the treasurer and he was out of town.

It was known that several matters of special interest were to come up and this called out several visitors. The others were there, of course, from a sense of duty. That this is true is shown by the fact that while the visitors got tired and left early the councilmen deliberated concerning the affairs and welfare of the town until nearly midnight.

Several ordinances were introduced and given their first reading. One provided for a refund to the owner of certain tracts on Roberts avenue, recently assessed for street improvements, of a proportionate share of $25 deducted by the contractor from his bid because of alternation in the plan of the work on portion of said street.

Another ordinance provides for the payment to Henry Kane of $19 for material and labor on a portion of the street not otherwise provided for.

Ordinance 27 was introduced and under suspension of the rule was adopted. This ordinance specifies how sidewalks shall be built in the town of Gresham. It provides for gravel, plank or cement walks. All plank walks shall be five feet wide with a curb, the curb to be to seven feet from property line. All gravel walks shall be seven feet wide. When the council hereafter orders sidewalks to be built according to specifications it will be known what is meant.

At Tuesday night's meeting a resolution was passed providing for six street lights at a probable cost of $72.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to all stockholders and renters of the Multnomah & Clackamas County Mutual Telephone Company that all long distant telephone bills must be paid to the treasurer of said company at the First State Bank on or before the 10th day of each and every month. Otherwise no long distance calls will be honored over the lines of this company. Said stockholders and renters are also notified that any violation of Rule 5 (which follows) will be charged with the full amount of the message.

RULE 5. No member shall allow the use of his telephone free of charge to any person not a stockholder, except it be a member of his family, his partner in business, his employee or guest who is actually visiting his family, or a member of another line who has free exchange with this line, and then only to a stockholder or renter. Any member who shall violate any of the provisions of this Rule shall be charged with the full amount of the message so permitted.

Gresham High School Has Vacation

Owing to the resignation of the principal the Gresham High school was given a vacation last Wednesday morning which will continue until Dec. 3rd, at which time arrangements have been made for the school to open as usual. The Public school will have a vacation during all of next week in order that the teachers may attend institute.

The Successful Man.

You will hear the croaker say of a successful man "I can't see what there is about that man that makes everything he puts his hand on turn to money. He isn't any smarter than I am, and here I am plodding along just making a bare living by hard work. I was ahead of him at school; in fact, he was the fool of the class, but here he is rolling up hundreds at every turn while men who were smarter in everything seem to have trouble to make a decent living."

But here are the facts: The successful man has acquired that one habit,—the habit of saving,—saving a portion of his earnings no matter whether it be wages, salary, profits, interest or dividends. He is taking care of the dollar which he has earned while his brighter friend is chasing some wildcat scheme whereby he can treble his money by spending that which he already has.

Then there is the man who has spells of saving that don't last. He feels a slight awakening of spirit in his body, sizes himself up, and after reasoning with himself that he is as good a man as many others who have made successes, says to himself "I can do it and I will." Ah! What a pity that he can't stick to that resolution. But his strength soon wanes and he catches himself saying "O, what's the use I can't," and he soon finds that bulwark, that little fortification which he had built up around him, that which would have helped him rise in the world all gone and he feels defeated.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood leads on to fame and fortune." Fortune may knock at your front door once but she is not going to wait for you to come and open if you don't hurry.

The successful man banks all his earnings and uses that only which he actually needs.

Look at our large corporations, the railroads. Many of them commence operations loaded down with debt. If under proper management they adopt a saving plan at once. All their funds are immediately banked and cannot be checked out except by the signatures of at least three or four different persons. Each year a portion of their earnings is set aside and placed in a sinking fund with which to finally pay the debt. The fact that they are able to set aside a portion of their earnings, though it may be small, places them higher each year in the estimation of the public and we hear of them as a successful corporation. "Success makes success as money makes money."

If this be correct policy for corporations why not for individuals? If debts amounting to millions of dollars can be paid in this way why not the mortgage on the farm or home dwelling? Deposit the money in the bank as you get it and it will surprise you to see how fast it will accumulate with a little effort on your part. Don't wait to make a big deposit because it may not get big enough to suit you before it is gone, besides that which you have in the bank will act as a magnet in helping you to put more there and the more you have there the harder it will pull for you. I you want to buy a small tract of land that is a good way to raise the money. If you expect to build it will surprise you how fast you can make that fund grow and then you will find it very convenient and an excellent plan to pay all expenses in building by check, which will give you a complete record with a legal receipt for every expenditure, and should you have a fire the fire insurance company cannot contest your claim. Paying by check puts you on a footing with all the business world just where you ought to be.

The First State Bank offers every inducement consistent with good banking principles and will be glad to give you a check book and any information you may desire.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATISTICS

Over 50,000 Attend Grange Lectures in Three Months.

State Lecturer Pattee of New Hampshire reports a most excellent work done in that state during the first three months of this year. There were given 1,697 selections of vocal and 937 selections of instrumental music, 2,438 readings, 531 essays, 327 addresses, 14 dramas, 79 farces, 163 tableaux, 694 discussions upon which 4,219 people spoke; 52,837 people heard these programmes. In all there were 10,247 parts given, consuming 41 days, 3 hours and 46 minutes. Can the value of such an amount of work be estimated?

"I read and am told," says Mr. Pattee, "that during the summer months grange interest slackens and that literary work must be in a lighter vein." I do not concur in that opinion. I believe in hard work in hot weather. The summer season is that of greatest activity among farmers, and I hold that people can work harder with their heads when they work harder with their hands. I do not mean that programmes should be long and tedious, but that they should be more carefully arranged and presented in the best possible form. Do not expect your members to sit through a dull programme in a hot hall. See to it that matters concerning the work in which they are at that time engaged are brought to the attention of the members. Every member will be interested when his own affairs are under discussion. For example, in the haying season a thirty minute programme, with essays, readings and a discussion concerning the hay crop, will be of interest to the farmers, who would not care to listen to a programme dealing with European affairs, interesting as they may be. Above all, do not infringe upon the time and patience of your people by lengthy programmes. Thirty minutes of good work on a hot night is better than an hour that drags."

Germs in the Dairy.

The conditions most suited to the growth of germs are food, warmth and moisture. Milk furnishes the required food for their growth. Bacteria are especially numerous in and around a dairy and get into the milk in many ways. Thousands of them are concealed in crevices that can barely be seen, and if they come in contact with milk they will increase many thousand fold within a short time and set up bad fermentations, which are familiar to all dairymen.—Kansas Experiment Station.
