

GRESHAM COUNCIL OFFICIALS MEET

Newly Elected Officers Hold First Meeting of Year on Wednesday.

Important Questions Discussed and Votes Taken Expressing Views.

The newly elected officials of the town of Gresham met last Wednesday night for the first time and were duly sworn in and proceeded to business in a business like way. B. W. Emery, nominated James Lawrence to fill the unexpired term of E. C. Lindsey, resigned. Mr. Lawrence was duly elected, notified to appear, was sworn in, in the usual way, and took his seat at the "pow-wow" table ready for business.

The mayor, Dr. J. M. Short, in his opening remarks, said that he was "not in favor of making speeches or promises," but preferred rather that their actions should bespeak the good they proposed to do. Among the good things outlined was the encouragement of the building up of the public and high schools, the Gresham library, the improvement of the streets and sidewalks, and other things necessary to the welfare and building up of the town, and as far as possible the observance of the Sabbath. He wanted, he said, "to see Gresham a town its inhabitants would be proud of, and the outside would be proud to come to."

During the evening a vote was taken as expressing the views of the council in the matter of the enforcement of law, resulting as follows: ayes, B. W. Emery, F. B. Stuart, B. Thomas, J. G. Metzger, James Lawrence, Nays, Roy Gibbs. Among other important things discussed was the question of marshal, and street lighting. It was generally considered that unless a lower bid than $25 per month could be secured for this office the street light would have to be done away with as the expense is too great for the benefit derived. Space and time forbids a more detailed account of the first meeting of the new council.

Preparing a Drama.

The Rockwood and District No. 7 literary societies are preparing a drama which will be given at Rockwood when ready. The play is "Captain Rocket," a drama in three acts and will give amusing entertainment for two hours. The two societies are flourishing and attend each others meetings, always providing good entertainment. The next meeting at Rockwood will be held on the evening of the 10th. Everybody is invited to be present, as a contest for points is on and a good program is assured.

The Slate Turkey.

The slate turkey is of American origin. This fowl when right is nearly blue in plumage color, the shade resembling that of the blue Andalusian, the female being much lighter in color than the male. The standard calls for a plumage color slaty or ashy blue, sometimes dotted with black. The standard weights are: Cock, 27 pounds; cockerel, 18 pounds; hen, 18 pounds; pullet, 12 pounds. Disqualifying weights: Cock, less than 18 pounds; hen, less than 12 pounds.

Observe Your Wrapper

Our subscribers will notice that their names are printed on the paper this week, in place of being written. It will also be noticed that the date to which their subscriptions is paid is also in evidence. This is an improvement long contemplated, but owing to unavoidable circumstances could not be accomplished till now.

In making the change there has doubtless been some errors made. We must therefore ask each subscriber to carefully note the name and date on your label and if this does not correspond correctly with your receipt, kindly notify this office at once giving your name in full, Postoffice, rural route or street number, and the error will be corrected.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Rockwood Grange Social.

Rockwood Grange will give its regular monthly social next Friday evening January 11. It promises to be one of the best of the season, the program being a dance with a basket supper. All ladies attending are requested to bring baskets which will be sold by lot for one dollar each. The buyer will have the lady owner for his partner during the evening. The proceeds will go toward the hall fund which now amounts to over $60. Everybody is invited.

Apple Timber.

In parts of Michigan large quantities of apple wood logs are cut and sold for saw handles, says an exchange. Apple timber is hard, tough and without much grain, and once it is shaped it seldom splits or shreds. No other lumber is so well fitted for saw handles. The supply in Michigan comes in short logs six or eight feet long from abandoned orchards.

Popular Fairview Girl Weeds.

FAIRVIEW, ORE., Jan. 2, 1906.—The residence of Wm. Tegart and wife was the scene of a pretty wedding on Sunday, Dec. 30th, when their only daughter, Miss Margaret May, was united in marriage to B. Tonseth, of Portland. Rev. W. T. Scott performed the ceremony.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with potted palms, smilax and carnations.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dress of cream voile over taffeta, and carried a lovely bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. Miss August Tonseth, sister of the groom, attired in a beautiful white dress, carrying a bouquet of pink roses, was the bride's maid, and P. H. Battier, of Portland, was best man.

The bride is a very talented and winning young lady and has a large circle of friends here.

The groom is well and favorably known in Portland where he is engaged in business. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts in cut-glass and silverware.

Mr. and Mrs. Tonseth will reside at Hunter street, Mt. Tabor.

The guests were Wm. Tegart, wife and son, Earl, Rev. W. T. Scott, A. Kronenberg, wife and son, Chester, all of Fairview, Mrs. August Tonseth and daughter, August, P. H. Battier, James Cummings, S. Anne and wife, M. Tonseth and wife, A. J. Richards and wife, Dr. B. E. Wright and wife, W. J. Ferrol and wife, J. and Miss Mayme Burns, Miss Ruth Osburn, Capt. Boyer, Mr. Batten, Mrs. Tonseth, Mrs. Thora Slippren, Harold Tonseth and wife, Lloyd and Vesta Tegart, F. A. Rasch and wife, all of Portland, and Richard Tegart and wife, of Rockwood.

WORK OF PORTLAND LIBRARY WITH MULTNOMAH SCHOOLS.

The Children's Department of the Public Library has already sent out boxes of books to most of the schools of the county for use among children and teachers during the coming winter. Many attractive new volumes for use by the lower grades have been added since last year. Any school not already supplied with books may receive its box at the library, or if the school is too far away to send in to Portland for it, the box will be shipped to the nearest railway or street car station as soon as the library is notified about it.

In addition to the books in these boxes, all teachers in the county are entitled to special privileges of Teachers' Cards, on which a number of books may be taken from the Children's Room at one time, and kept four weeks, with the privilege of renewing them for two weeks additional, when necessary. These Teachers' Cards are in addition to the regular cards on which teachers may draw books from the adult library.

The picture collection in the Children's Department is also kept up for the benefit of teachers. Here sets of mounted pictures of from 10 to 30 in each set, illustrating the classroom work in history, geography, composition or nature study, may be drawn on the Teacher's Card, and kept four weeks.

It is always a pleasure to welcome teachers to the library and to help them in any way in the library's power.

Mrs. Goodwin—I heard that your father was dangerously ill.
Eddie Fay—Yes, ma'am, he was.
Mrs. Goodwin—Is he now out of danger?
Eddie Fay—Yes, ma'am, he is; the doctor has stopped coming!—May Woman's Home Companion.

Edmonds-Allen Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Boardwell near Camas, Wash., was the scene of a very pretty wedding Tuesday December 25, when Mrs. Boardwell's daughter, Ruby A. Allen was united in marriage to William Edmonds of Camas. The wedding took place promptly at noon. The bride was daintily attired in a dress of white albatross with lace trimmings. After the many congratulations were given, a beautiful dinner was served. The happy young couple left in the afternoon for Oregon City where they will visit relatives for a few days. Mrs. Edmonds is well known in Troutdale and is the granddaughter of Mrs. W. P. Pelton of that place. Mrs. Geo. Smith of Brewer, Ore., an aunt of the bride and Mr. H. Treimbath of Oregon City, an uncle of the groom were guests at the wedding besides a goodly number from Camas.

Many useful and beautiful presents were received. Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds will reside near Camas, Wash., where they have the best wishes of their many friends.

ROCKWOOD

Mr. Will Herring left last week for his old home in Missouri, on account of the serious illness of his father.

Mr. Geo. Stockton was badly hurt in a runaway a few days ago. His horse became frightened and he was thrown out of the buggy, which ran over his shoulder.

The dance given by the Aeolian club at Rockwood hall on Saturday evening was a great success. Dora Dickenson served the supper.

Mrs. George Prettyman celebrated her wedding anniversary on Friday, having been married nineteen years.

Born on December 16 to Mr. and Mrs. W. Duncan, an eight pound boy.

Mr. Merrill Prettyman was initiated into the Forrester on Friday evening December 28.

Don't forget the basket social to be given by the Rockwood Grange January 11. Everybody come.

COLUMBIA VIEW

The entertainment and basket social given at No. 7 school was a complete success. An interesting program was given after which a number of presents were distributed among the children, which was followed by the sale of the baskets. The proceeds of the baskets amounted to $24.35 which will be used to purchase books for the school library.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Miller, of Springwater, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Zimmerman.

Miss Alma Miller and Miss McCarguodale, of Portland, attended the basket social.

J. Henderson, A. Ledbury and A. Campbell just finished loading a car of potatoes.

R. A. TenYke spent Christmas with his family at Marmot.

SCHOOL AND HOME GOVERNMENT.

By Mabel Burghduff.

The education of a child begins with life and before we are aware the foundations of character are laid. To so govern a child that he may learn to properly govern himself becomes an

HUNTERS FIND CLOTHING.

Clothing of Morris Milstead Confirms Theory That He Drowned.

Philip Eder and George Moulton while out hunting on last Sunday in the vicinity of Lusted, found on the bank of the Snyly river, some clothing known to have been worn by Wm. Milstead at the time he disappeared about three months ago. The shirts, an undershirt and over-shirt, were found ragged at the bottom as if beaten by the water. At the wrists they were still buttoned. These were found three miles above where he was supposed to have disappeared and was searched for.

Important problem in every household where children grow up. Parents often find themselves puzzled to know just how to properly deal with the various moods and whims of their own child, and if punishment becomes necessary the wrong kind is often administered.

The school is not merely an intellectual drill ground, but a second home to the child. It is a place dear to him and gratefully remembered in later life; a place where, with proper encouragement from his teacher and his home, all that is best in him may develop. If the child has been taught obedience, and taught to respect his parents and his home, he will have the same regard for his teacher and school.

In a child's home life there are three well-marked phases. They are: Play, with its wide range of possibilities and its adaptability to the age and development of the child; study, which includes every mental effort and acquisition; and work, such as may be required by the parents.

In well-balanced homes each of these disciplinary and developing phases are accorded their proper place and each leaves its proper influence on the growing mind and character. A taste for good reading is cultivated, and evidences of culture and refined manners are insisted upon. But unfortunately there are homes in almost every community where children are not governed except in a sort of restraining way. Whatever instincts they may have toward good behavior are so blunted in wrong practices and low ideals that subsequent teaching avails but little to undo the tendency. This is not only true in conduct, but it is equally true in the taste or lack of taste for good reading. Cheap, trashy literature shapes a child's mental development just as does bad company. It degrades and enslaves the mind. So many good books are now available, setting forth as they do in a style attractive to children the best mental achievements of the world, it seems that none should be allowed to form vicious tastes and habits.

One of our great educators has said, "Give me the child for the first seven years of his life and I will mold his future." In those seven impressionable years, the foundation is laid for obedience and regard for law and order, or for disobedience and disregard for things orderly. If allowed to acquire selfish and disobedient habits at home, the patience and tact of even the ablest teacher cannot always dislodge them, for "all things are possible but one—this is, undo that which is already done."

The child must be taught to realize that there exist higher laws than the law of its own will, his conscience must be awakened, his morality developed, that he may make for himself a place in the ranks of the intelligent, conscientious citizens, after he has passed out of school life into life's school.—The School and Home.
