JANUARY 25, 1906
 We were greeted with the words: "You can't make a bank pay here."
 "You are too close to Portland; people will carry their money to Portland."
 "What assurance have I that you will care for my money?"

JANUARY 25, 1907
 We are greeted with the words: "You have done much better here than I thought you could possibly do."
 "I would rather you make my exchanges between here and Portland."
 "Burglars have unsuccessfully attacked you and you can have my money."
 "I have saved $125 the past year by means of your bank, whereas before I was always in debt."
