FAIRVIEW

FAIRVIEW, ORE., April 2.—The school entertainment and shadow social given by Mrs. L. Mershon and pupils on Saturday evening was quite well attended. The program consisted of recitations, duets and dialogues. Those participating were Misses Edith McKillop, Ruth and Eva Jackson, Alta Wilcox, Clara Quinn, Pearl Crandall, Susie Hunter, Eva Turner, Eva Townsend, Chester Crandall, Lloyd Axtell, Perry Dolph, Frank Sharp, Earl Townsend and Carl Schram. A pantomime given by Mrs. Mershon with a solo by Miss Laura Luce was very pleasing. J. T. Stillion auctioned off the shadows. Lunch was served to those not having baskets. Proceeds are to be devoted to buying school supplies.

Special Easter music was rendered in the Presbyterian church last Sunday. Regular quarterly communion will be observed next Sunday at the morning service and several will unite with the church.

Gordon Jones and wife, of Portland, were guests of her parents R. Hunter and wife on Sunday.

Mrs. R. Bonette, with a friend from Astoria, spent Sunday with her mother Mrs. J. Struckman.

William Hall and wife of Portland were guests of Mrs. Alma Hall on Sunday.

Mrs. B. Tonseth and Earl Togat visited their parents, William Togat and wife.

E. J. Snow and wife of Portland were Fairview visitors last Sunday.

Henry Ross and wife entertained their daughter, Mrs. Vincent, and Mrs. Black, both of Portland, on Sunday.

E. Jenkins and wife have been visiting relatives here.

Lee Shaw and family, who have been living at Ononta, visited relatives here recently. Mr. Shaw has just been transferred to Wyeth as section foreman.

The O. R. & N. are having new ties put in to replace the worn out ones all along the line.

The Cedarville to Troutdale extension is completed within a short distance of Fairview road. Work is soon to begin on the depot, near C. Shephard's place.

J. A. Ledbury and A. Kronenberg have been having new fences built on their farms.

Misses Clara and Louise Moller spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. A. B. Moller.

H. B. Perkins and wife of Hurlbut have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. O. A. Jackson while on their way to Eastern Oregon where they will spend the summer. James Fitzgerald of Troutdale will look after the farm during their absence and have his family moved there.

Misses Cloe and Pearl Crandall have gone to Hood River to remain for some time.

C. Clark of Portland visited relatives at the home of J. T. Stillion on Sunday.

Miss Edith Jenkins spent Sunday at her home here.

The Gate Keeper

"In Faith, In Hope, In Charity, and with Fidelity."

Conducted by E. L. Thorpe.

Division Into Districts—Appeals for Aid—Help for Idaho—Investigating for Graft.

An important measure, and one which the politicians are taking notice of, was endorsed by the state grange last year. It brought about by the people as an initiative law it will revolutionize the method of electing state senators and county representatives. The proposed law provides that each county shall be divided into senatorial and representative districts, according to the population, and that each one shall elect its own candidate. In Multnomah county, which has thirteen representatives, there will be that many districts. Some of them will be small in area, others quite large. In the city of Portland the districts will not cover much territory where the population is dense but east of the Willamette river there will probably be not more than two districts. The scheme would have much merit and the representation would be scattered over the county and prospective nominees would not have to make a primary canvass all over the whole county. It will be remembered that all the members of the legislature elected in this county last year came from the city of Portland. Not one was elected from the country although there were several excellent candidates. Those in the city traded votes at the expense of those outside. The same thing happened in Marion and Linn counties. Under boss rule the country was given a candidate occasionally but under the new primary law such a thing is not apt to happen and the country people must vote for city candidates or not vote at all. The matter will not be allowed to die out and it need surprise no one if the next state grange should invoke the initiative, inasmuch as the legislature has done nothing to correct the evil. It was not expected that anything would be done by that body and the farmers will have to do for themselves what the city people refuse to do for them.

The Gate Keeper has been doing some thinking on a very important matter but as yet have not solved the problem. The matter referred to is that of "appeals for aid." These appeals are becoming more frequent each year and as a rule they are all worthy while some, of course, will appeal more strongly to our sympathies than others. For many years it has been the custom among the fraternal and beneficial orders to send out these appeals for aid to sister lodges to help some worthy unfortunate brother, sister or widow. In these orders the dues are usually about five dollars a year so in case of sickness a stipend can be voted for assistance to the living or for funeral benefits. Now this is not the case in the grange with a monthly dues of only ten cents and there are very few granges that are able to donate even a dollar to such appeals. Now it seems as though some means should be provided to establish and maintain a fund for charitable purposes. The Grange was not organized as a so-called beneficial order in the ordinary sense of the term and its revenues are inadequate to meet the requirements along this particular line. It is not proposed to solve the problem here and now, but we would like to see someone do it who has a longer head and more time to think out a plan.

The Idaho grange has not yet risen to the dignity of being represented in the National grange because it lacks the necessary number of subordinate granges. There are, we think, seventeen granges in Idaho and they are under the jurisdiction of the Oregon State Grange although not represented in that body. At the last two sessions of giving Idaho some assistance has been discussed with a view of making it independent and bringing it up to the standard required by the National body to give it a voice and delegates there. There are two other states in the same class with Idaho. They are Iowa and Texas. It may seem astonishing that three great states are so negligent in such a matter, but it is a fact, and they do not seem to realize what the grange is doing elsewhere nor what the National organization is doing for the whole country. There is a movement on foot, however, to so increase the number of subordinate granges in those three states that they may come into the national fold and thus have a voice in the great work being done.

Consult the "Want Ads." on page 8.

Seventeen counties in Oregon have granges, as follows, according to last report to the state secretary: Benton, 5; Clackamas, 17; Columbia, 10; Coos, 1; Gilliam, 2; Lane, 4; Linn, 11; Marion, 8; Multnomah, 10; Polk, 3; Tillamook, 4; Umatilla, 3; Union, 3; Washington, 11; Wasco, 5; Wheeler, 1; Yamhill, 3. Since this report was made there have been six new granges organized and the work is being pushed ahead as never before. Other counties will be invaded next year and there will soon be granges in everyone of them.

GOOD OF THE ORDER.

Negotiations are under way for the production of "Captain Racket" at Fairview under the auspices of the grange. The Rockwood Dramatic society has a good show and draws full houses.

There is just time enough yet to initiate new members who may want to go to Hood River for the State Grange degree. The granges of Wasco county should bear this fact in mind before it is too late.

The Gate Keeper is being quoted by many of the state papers including the Oregonian. This shows that original grange matter is interesting and that the grange is doing something for the country and all its people—all the time.

Immense wealth is being produced in our country annually but the farmer is not getting his share of that wealth. And one of the dangerous features of the situation is the disposition to claim that they should be thankful for what they get.

Correspondents will please observe the rule that items for the Gate Keeper must be in by Tuesday night. State news will not be inserted and several good communications have been thrown away because they came in too late. Write early and often.

Death of Mrs. N. W. Rice.

Mrs. N. W. Rice, formerly of Fairview, died at Salem, Ore., March 30th, 1907. Mr. and Mrs. Rice, with Mrs. Rice's aged mother, Mrs. Rhoda Wilson, came from Whitewater, Wis., six years ago. They resided for a time at Forest Grove, then moved to their place east of Fairview, where, last July, the mother died. About six weeks ago they moved to Salem.

Mrs. Rice was a long and patient sufferer. She lived a devoted christian life from childhood and was greatly beloved by all who knew her. The funeral was held in First Methodist church, Salem, sermon by Rev. Wm. Selleck, and interment at Salem. Mrs. Rice leaves a husband and one daughter, Mrs. M. E. Austin of Salem.
