ROCKWOOD

Rockwood grange will have an ice cream social on the second Friday eve in May, which will be the 10th. A program will be rendered. Proceeds to go into fund for new hall.

Rockwood will soon be able to boast of two stores. A stock of goods is to be put into the store formerly owned by A. H. Bell.

D. L. Herring has failed to get any trace so far of the jersey heifer that strayed away two weeks ago.

Grace Crockett, who has been quite sick for the past two weeks, is slowly recovering.

Real estate is still booming at Rockwood. Ten acre tracts are readily selling for $1200.

R. Sharringhouse is calling on friends in Rockwood recently.

L. Lovelace is doing some pruning for Geo. Zimmerman.

Mrs. Lilly Hartley has gone to Portland to work.

Miss Edna Bell visited in the city Saturday last.

W. A. Herring is reported sick.

PLEASANT VIEW

Mrs. Ogden left Sunday for Portland. From there she will go to Forest Grove. Mr. and Mrs. Ogden have lived in this vicinity for over twenty years and although they had a beautiful home here they sold it and have moved onto a small place, as they were getting too old to assume the duties of a large farm. They will be greatly missed by their many friends and relatives here.

H. J. Prosser of Forest Grove spent part of last week in this vicinity, visiting friends and relatives and assisting Mr. Ogden in removing his stock and household goods to his new home at Forest Grove.

Quite a number of the young people from Fairview attended the social here Saturday night. Their kindness was appreciated by the base ball boys.

The many friends of Miss Mershon were very sorry to hear of her accident and hope for her speedy recovery.

Miss Ruth Rooney spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Henkle.

Lewis Mershon visited his parents last Sunday.

I MUST thank my customers for their liberal patronage at my newly opened general store, and I promise square dealing, full weight and honest count. Bring on your butter and eggs. I will pay you all they are worth. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

A Matter of Education—Taking Hood River by Storm—Grange Fire Insurance—Good of the Order.

Russellville Grange is determined that the law in regard to spraying and caring for orchards shall be enforced. There are a number of people making a business of spraying for the farmers who use material that is as harmless as cold water. The following resolution was adopted by Russellville Grange at its meeting April 13:

Whereas, Inasmuch as certain parties engaged in commercial spraying use material that is ineffective, and the spread of scale is not checked by such spraying, we earnestly call upon all men engaged in spraying for others to use only proper material, such as will test at least four degrees on the spray barometer, and,

Whereas, Those who manufacture and sell prepared spray should prepare only the best, therefore,

Be it resolved by Russellville Grange, No. 353, That if such persons continue to use, prepare or sell ineffective spray material we will publish their names to all true owners as unreliable and fraudulent persons.

The Lower Columbia Fire Relief Association, operating under the auspices of the Oregon State Grange, has just issued its annual report. The amount of risks in force are $814,130, showing a gain of $67,529. That the grange fire insurance is a good investment and the very lowest in existence is shown by the report that only $3230.50 were paid in losses during the past year, covering the adjustments on thirteen policies of members who suffered by fire. The total expense of running the association was only $657.79. There is always sufficient money in the treasury to pay two or three losses promptly, assessments being levied ahead so as to keep such a balance on hand. The officers of the association are: Thomas Paulson, president; A. F. Miller, vice president; Jacob Northe, secretary; S. A. Lawson, treasurer. The association was organized twelve years ago and has been growing ever since, its growth keeping pace with the growth of the grange. None but grange members may insure with it, a fact which makes it a conservative and safe institution to become identified with.

That Hood River has a warm place in the hearts of all of Oregon, despite the fact that there have been a few who have tried to give her a black eye, is attested by the contents of a private letter from E. M. Gill of Clatsop, Oregon, to A. I. Mason. We take the liberty of culling a few remarks therefrom.

Mr. Gill says: "Ten granges in old Wasco! 600 members! Sounds mighty good, doesn't it? I am afraid you may have about 600 to 800 members to feed strawberries to. Evening Star grange will be there with 30 to 50 members to put on the work in the fourth degree. It would not surprise me to see from 150 to 200 Multnomah county members there. There will be 50 from Clackamas and 30 from Washington county. Everybody is talking Hood River. You want to toot Hood River's horn long and loud, for you will have a very appreciative audience."

He says there are some who are talking of taking tents and camping out. We believe this to be the very best thing for those to do who can. We have innumerable delightful camping places in and around the city, and it will be a most delightful outing at that time of the year. All our granger friends who have friends abroad whom they expect to come and who can bring tents will find it a pleasant way to attend the State Grange.—Hood River News Letter.

There are many good farmers in Oregon who should be members of the grange. When we can increase our members with the right kind of material we increase our own strength and usefulness. When the average man or woman on the farm fully learns of our great work, of our high purpose, of our usefulness—the social pleasures, the financial benefits and not a single objection or reason why they should not be members, they are then willing and glad to join with us. There is no better medium for winning a strong, new membership to our order than through the weekly messages of the Gate Keeper. It is giving to those outside our order an entirely new and higher idea of the grange and its work. We want every member to help introduce The Herald into every family not now taking it, and by so doing we believe we can help you increase your membership. If each subordinate grange would pay for a few trial subscriptions to prospective candidates it would be a paying investment. From a business standpoint we believe it would bring sufficient additional money into your treasury to make you more than even besides making your grange stronger and more useful, and it would also help to lift some of the burdens from the faithful workers who are now doing all the work. But aside from all this it is those good, honest, worthy neighbors that you want affiliated with you in your organization.

FAIRVIEW

FAIRVIEW, Ore., April 23.—Miss Clara A. Moller, daughter of Mrs. A. E. Moller, of this place and Daniel O. Dunbar, son of D. S. Dunbar, were united in marriage at Piedmont last Monday, only the immediate relatives being present. They will visit with relatives here for a few days before going to housekeeping in Piedmont.

Prof. Harry R. Crooks, president of Albany College, was here from Saturday evening to Monday, a guest of A. L. Stone and wife. He delivered lectures at the Presbyterian church both morning and evening on Sunday that were very interesting.

Miss Lucy Higgins, who returned from California last week, after eighteen months' stay, is spending a few days in Portland. Her sister, Mrs. W. T. Scott, who remained in San Francisco to visit her son, Charles, is expected home this week.

Rev. C. E. Crandall gave an address on Comparative Astronomy in the Methodist church on Tuesday evening, to a very appreciative audience.

James Lahey, wife and infant son of Goldendale, Wash., are visiting Mrs. Lahey's father, Frank Axtell, and family.

GOOD OF THE ORDER.

Has Oregon a "state flower"? If so, what is it and how was it adopted? Grangers, get busy and look this up.

If quarrels have a place in this world, surely it is not in the grange. Do what you can to avoid them elsewhere, too.

Does your grange have printed letter heads and envelopes? They cost but little more than the plain variety.
