

People's Market

GRESHAM ORE.

We take pleasure in quoting you the following prices on first class meats:

Soup Bones	2c. lb.
Neck Boil	6c. lb.
Brisket Boil	6c. lb.
Plate—Short Ribs	7c. lb.
Chuck Roast	8c. lb.
Shoulder Roast	8c. lb.
Shoulder Steak	10c. lb.
Round Steak	12 1-2c. lb.
Round Butts	10c. lb.
Sirloin and Porterhouse Steak	15c. lb.

These are our prices both in Gresham and on the wagon routes. It is not, nor never will be, our aim to charge more for meats than is consistent with quality. And we always have the best meats that were ever sold in this section of the country and all of our patrons well know that.

We will lower the price of meats just as soon as possible. Some time during June will see quite a drop in prices of boiling meat. Give us your trade and we will always endeavor to please you all.

IN THE HOG LOTS.

Very Desirable Watering Device. Trough for Milk Feed.

The device used for watering the hogs is exceptionally well adapted to the purpose in the absence of a natural water supply—in fact, it is perhaps more desirable than ponds or even running streams on the score of cleanliness and decreased liability to infectious diseases. A sled large enough to hold an ordinary barrel is covered with a heavy water tight floor and boarded up water tight four inches around the edges. The barrel is provided with a large bung, or wooden stopper, in the upper head in order that it may readily be filled with water. A half inch hole is bored in the side of the barrel about three inches from the bottom—i. e., the opening is three inches from the floor, on which the barrel stands. The lower hole being stopped, the barrel is filled with water. The large bung is then inserted airtight. The sled is now drawn to the field near the shelter houses, and the small stopper is removed. The water runs out, filling the shallow box forming the top of the sled to the level of the small opening in the barrel. The hogs may drink at any corner of the box. As the water is consumed more runs out. Two such barrels are placed in each inclosure and filled once or twice a day or as often as they become empty.

New barrels are frequently not airtight. To remedy this defect when the openings which admit the air are not plainly visible the barrels are given a good coat of paint. This usually stops all small crevices. If a single coat of paint does not accomplish the desired result another is added and so on till the barrel holds water and excludes air. In this connection is shown the cross section of a feed trough used on a western farm, which is also described by W. J. Millman of the department of agriculture. This hog trough is designed for winter feeding. In winter a good deal of mill stuff is fed. Troughs enough are provided so that for 100 pound pigs each pig has eight inches standing room at the side of the trough. As the pigs increase in weight this allowance of space increases to twenty-four inches for 200 into the troughs, but does not interfere with their eating. It also prevents fighting across the trough.

The crosspiece (C) is made from 2 by 4 inch stuff as a support for B. There are five of these to each trough. The bottom of the feed box (D) is made from 2 by 12 inch material, and the sides (E, F) from 2 by 2 inch planks.

The milking stool notices that the men who raise beef are not concerned about dairy breeds. They never talk about a dual beef cow, but thousands of dairymen insist that they want a double deeked cow to fall back upon and "fall" in with a cow that possibly pays her board, but that not very often, and sells for cheap beef at last.

Why do not the beef men clamor for a cow that they can sell for a dairy cow if she fails as a beef? At the auction sale it is the fat, blocky cow that sells best because seven men say that she is an easy keeper, ignoring the fact that easy keeping and milk giving do not go well together. She is fat because she gives little milk.

A cow that lays on flesh easily is a misser, living for herself. The well fed, thin cow is a giver and, like a true "mother," is generous in her food gifts.

Correspondence. SANDY. Mrs. A. G. Bornstedt and baby returned home Sunday after an extended stay with her folks at Celarville. B. F. Hart, E. D. Hart and the messers Wilkins went to Government Camp Sunday. Wednesday, May 29, the patrons of Sandy school spent a most enjoyable time at a school entertainment and picnic. The schoolhouse was beautifully decorated and a pleasing program rendered. The feature of the occasion was the surprise presentation of the pupils of a handsome gold watch chain to Miss Emily McElroy, teacher for the past two years. Ice cream and other delicacies were contributed by friends of the school and the children indulged to their hearts' content. Dr. McElroy is receiving goods for the new drug store. A large number from here attended the dance given at V. B. Topps, Cherryville, Saturday night. L. A. Wrenn passed through Sandy Monday enroute to Portland.
