It Worked a Cure.

A certain clergyman in Richmond, sava Success, has had in his employ for so long a time a negro named Julian that the latter had come to regard himself as something of a confidential adviser to the divine.

Early one Sunday morning the pastor awoke feeling decidedly ill. After a futile attempt at breakfast he summoned his old faithful servitor, saying: "Julian, I want you to go to my assistant, Mr. Blank, and tell him that. as I am unwell, be will officiate for me in this morning's service." At this Julian demurred and after some argument persuaded his master that he would feel better if he officiated as usual. This the latter did, and, as predicted by the darky, he did return home feeling much better. "You'se better, suh?" asked the servant, meeting his master at the

"Very much better, thank you, Julian."

The darky griuned. "What did I tell you, suh? I knowed you would be all right just as soon as you got that seruon outer your system."

Our freed negroes have at times been Gordon Jones and wife have returned advised to go to Africa and carry the she will make her home with friends. their benighted brethren. Africa, it is Misses Alice and Murial McKinley of sald, is the negro's proper home, and tion, instigated and controlled by white genius and white power. Even white farmers thrive there, and European peasantry are to be settled there with a view to making them actual tillers Miss Christine John of Portland was of the soil. European soldiers become remain from choice after their military E. Gibson wife and child of Sellwood service ends. And soldiering, as the white man in Africa prosecutes it, is hard work.

As a rule, of course, white men do Africa. They do not need to. Their best hold is arousing and directing the natives, bringing them out of the torpor of ages. Steam, electricity, and machinery that the sun cannot wilt even the natives would sink under. Miss Laura Luce returned Tuesday to Railroads now haul freight into the wilderness where it never went before except a savage chief with his spear or a white man with his gun stood over the blacks who were impressed to "tote" it. Negro women, who take to the woods at the sight of a washtub and pile of clothes, will sit all day at a sewing machine making overalls and jumpers for the black laborers, who think the white man's machine is doing all the work, as it really is. It is no wonder that the sons of Stanley's army of fighters, guides and porters will work the best that is in them to extend a railroad along Stanley's track in the Kongo wilderness. Negroes are not dead to sentiment nor blind to the fact that white men are now doing things in Africa which their traditions told them could not be done except the gods interfered. So in Africa the race issue is a long way off. White and black are necessary, the one to the other, the man of brain to the man of muscle,
