HAD AN AWFUL TIME

But Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Cured Him

"It is with pleasure that I give you this unsolicited testimonial. About a year ago when I had a severe case of measles I got caught out in a hard rain and the measles settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not possibly have lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude, and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy."—Sam H. Gwin, Concord, Ga. For sale by all druggists.

Misses Chloe and Pearl Crandall, Clara Junn, Messrs. William, Cedric and Elbert Stone, Charles Fisk Jones and Peterson were the invited guests.

Mrs. E. McGaw and daughter, Miss Bessie, are expected here this week to make their home in their new cottage.

Miss Lucy Higgins spent the latter part of last week in Portland.

FAREWELL TO PASTOR

evening to those who attended from the Pleasant Home Baptist Church, Gresham M. E. Church, Gresham Free Methodist church, Gresham German church and many friends.

Baptist Church Services

Rev. G. H. McKee, the new pastor of the Gresham Baptist church, will preach at that place next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and again in the evening at eight o'clock. There will be Sunday school at 10 o'clock in the morning and Young People's society in the evening. Members and friends are urgently requested to attend these meetings.

Rev. Mr. McKee has just closed a very successful work at Hood River, where he has been instrumental in building a fine new church. He has a state reputation as a worker and the people of this community will find in him a very efficient christian worker.

Death of Former Gresham Boy

Charles H. Dougherty, brother of Mrs. Dan Talbot, met an accidental death July 21, 1907, near his home in Sacramento, California. He was bridge inspector for the Southern Pacific railway and had his own gasoline motor car. While starting away from the city at 6:30 in the morning in company with a friend, when a few miles from the city the car left the track. His friend, Mr. Clarke, was thrown out, but came back to where Charles was lying unconscious. The latter was taken to the hospital where he told the doctors his head hurt him and then lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he never awoke. His skull was split from ear to ear, and he passed away at 7:40 in the afternoon.

Deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Dougherty of Floyd, Wash., formerly of Gresham, and also a brother of Mrs. Talbot. He leaves a wife.

He accepted Christ at the age of nine, living an exemplary life, beloved by all who knew him. He was laid to rest in the cemetery at Eugene, Oregon, awaiting the resurrection morn.

County Fair Planned

Multnomah county is to have a fair if the plans of Gresham grange materialize. Following the example of Evening Star Grange the members of this grange have started a campaign for a fair to be wide in scope and to be of value to every business man and farmer in the county. There are ten granges in Multnomah county, all of them east of the Willamette, and these ten granges number in their membership practically all the suburban agriculturists in Multnomah. In the membership of these granges can be found the men and women who raise the flower, the fruit, the grain and the vegetables that make Portland markets what they are, and many of the grangers live in the city limits on the East Side.

It is planned to make the fair not only an amusement and exhibit enterprise, but to make a Chatanooga of it and to have educational courses by the experts of the Northwest. Every man who raises a cow, a hen, a hog, or assists in making a pound of honey or in gathering a pound of fruit will be asked to take part, and that the fair will be a success is unquestioned.—People's Press.

County Exhibits at State Fair

The county exhibits at the Oregon state fair in Salem are always interesting, and a big advertising feature for the sections represented. This year six counties will exhibit, as follows: Marion, Benton, Lane, Linn, Clatsop and Multnomah. The last two have never been represented before. The county courts of Multnomah and Clatsop counties have each appropriated $1000 to provide for an adequate display. Marion county will exhibit, but she will not compete for the prize. The outside counties say that Marion has an advantage in being nearer the fair. Accordingly she will withdraw and the other contestants will have an equal chance.

Individual farm displays will also be a prominent feature in the pavilion. Two entries have already been made: Mrs. F. A. Wolf of Falls City and W. H. Hulbert of Albany. The first prize in this division is $100 in cash and a $75 Studebaker wagon, donated by that house, while the second premium will be $50 in cash and a $65 Iowa Cream separator, donated by the Mitchell, Lewis & Staver company.

Americans "Trekking" to the Canadian Northwest

Americans are "trekking" to the Canadian northwest, and a glance at the figures shows that 49 people went there in 1906 while an army of Americans, 150,000 strong, sought this Last West in 1906. It certainly cannot be said that the States farmer is moving for his health. There is but one reason—he is moving because he can sell his own land in the home country and multiply it ten times its area in Western Canada for the same price, while realizing an undreamed profit and constant advance in value for years to come. The American settler of today knows exactly what he wants, and conducts farming on strictly business principles, rather than in the somewhat haphazard fashion of earlier days.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in the National Magazine for August.

Bonds Burned.

Welster grange of Monroe county celebrated its twenty-seventh anniversary in May. The chief feature of the programme was the burning of 135 bonds ranging from $10 to $50, a total of about $7,000. These bonds were given for the erection of their fine grange building and purchasing equipments.

OUR FRIENDS AT SEASIDE

Mrs. P. Mitchell and her sister-in-law, formerly of Gresham, were Portland visitors a few days last week.

Mrs. J. F. Roberts of Gresham was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Metzger the past week. Also Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Metzger spent Saturday and Sunday at the Metzger home.

Many people from Fairview and Troutdale are spending their vacation here.

Mr. Bond spent a few days at Seaside.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie have a beautiful camp, "Wayside," where they are enjoying all the pleasures of a seaside resort.

A very pleasant trip to the ship Galena was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Conley, Mr. and Mrs. Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Metzger, Mrs. J. F. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Henshaw of Houlton. The party had a dainty lunch in the captain's quarters.

The weather has been delightful here, the mornings being cool while the afternoons are generally warm and pleasant.

Mrs. Miller and son Ralph and J. W. Lawrence were the guests of Mrs. Mitchell.

Many improvements have been made in Seaside since last year. The railroad has been extended to the Seaside house and a new bridge has been built across the Necanicum river.

GRESHAM LOCALS

Henry Ruhl and Mrs. Mary Schaffer of the Section Line road were doing business in Gresham Tuesday. The Herald acknowledges a pleasant call.

Robert Doane made the Herald office a pleasant call Wednesday.

Wm. Sales has been enrolled as a member of the Herald family and made the office a welcome call Monday.

Miss Lela Gibbs, who has been suffering for some time with appendicitis, was taken to Portland Monday evening and operated on Tuesday morning. Although the operation was quite serious, it is thought she will recover.

C. J. Littlepage, a prominent granger of Corbett, was doing business in Gresham last Saturday. He is delighted with the idea of a Multnomah county grange fair and carnival and says he is sure it will be a decided success.

T. E. Howitt and Fritz Hamilton left last Monday morning for the Siletz Indian reservation, where they go to buy sheep and cattle.

G. W. Kenney returned from Seaside on a day or two's business trip Tuesday, and he was hot,—that is to say,—well, he returned Thursday to cool off. Too hot in Gresham for him now.

Mrs. Hattie Westell and children are enjoying the cool sea breezes of Seaside.

A. L. Stone doesn't usually complain, pretty generally looks on the bright side of things, but he was rather thinking of the shadowy side Wednesday when he was in Gresham hunting a cool spot; he didn't find it and left in a hurry for Fairview and a chance to get a waft of the Columbian breezes at that place.

Ed. Smith, one of our staunch subscribers at Cleone, was in Gresham looking for a cool place Wednesday, coming to the Herald office he was immediately relieved—a dollar—and the editor rejoiced.

Consult the "Want Ads," on page 8. Tuesday was undoubtedly the warmest day we have experienced in a number of years, the thermometer registering 108 in the shade at noon and at 5:30 in the afternoon in the Herald office it stood at 99.

Charles McColl spent a few days in Gresham the fore part of the week before leaving for Rooster Rock, where he is employed as flagman on the railroad.

The Young People's orchestra gave a picnic at Bullrun last Sunday, in which members of the orchestra and friends and relatives joined in having the time of their lives. Luncheon was served by the young ladies that would tempt the palate of any musician. A splendid time was had by all and except for the untimely accident on the return trip, it was voted a grand success.

The Gresham concert band practices every Tuesday night. One night each week open-air concerts will be given during the months of August and September. New music has recently been purchased and the band is doing well under the leadership of Fred Fieldhouse.

Mrs. L. M. Little of St. Johns, recently sent to The Herald, through her sister, Mrs. E. M. Douglas, an elegant bouquet of sweet peas, a sample of what she is raising for the coming fair and carnival.

The Portland board of water commissioners have a surveying crew locating a route for the proposed new pipe line from Bullrun.

Gresham's amateur baseball team expect to play at Seaside Sunday.
