

The Gate Keeper

"In Faith, In Hope, In Charity, and with Fidelity."

Conducted by E. L. Thorpe.

Publicity Given to Coming Fair by Portland Papers—Good Words from Others—Officials of Association.

Gresham grange is to be congratulated upon its successful efforts to interest the people of Multnomah in a county fair. Such an institution has been mentioned here before, and a meeting was held three years ago which authorized the formation of a stock company, but it was not backed by the grange and the scheme failed for lack of enthusiasm. This time it is different—everybody is interested and ready to do anything that a granger would dare to do to give us a permanent county fair. The inference is plain—the grange has taken the lead.

It is cheering to note how the great Portland dailies have endorsed our proposed fair and carnival. Last Saturday the Journal gave it a splendid editorial endorsement and has written to a member of the publicity committee for full reports for its news columns. The Telegram is not behind in the praise it is bestowing upon the enterprise and prints everything concerning our fair that its correspondents can get. The Oregonian had a full report of our preliminary meeting the next morning, the local reporter having been previously instructed to send in at least 600 words. It will be one of our best friends and will contain full reports of every happening connected with our enterprise. With such loyal allies as the Portland dailies the fair and carnival cannot fail to be a success.

Nor are words of praise lacking from those higher up in our order. Mrs. Mary S. Howard, secretary of the Oregon State grange, writes as follows to The Gate Keeper, endorsing the project: "I am in hearty sympathy with any movement for the co-operation of the patrons and the common farmers in advertising the agricultural products of any locality in our state; also, for any other industrial interest, and especially along lines tending toward educational advancement. If our order stands for anything that uplifts both materially and intellectually, and I have long thought we were not aggressive enough, everything successfully done is by advertising—and I believe a good way to acquaint the public with what we are doing is to hold fairs, and the larger these exhibits and the more enthusiastic our members, the greater the results."

The officers of the Multnomah fair and carnival are as follows: President—J. J. Johnson, Commercial building, Portland, master of Multnomah county Pomona. Secretary—E. L. Thorpe, R. F. D. No. 1, Gresham. Past master of Rockwood grange. Treasurer—First State bank, Gresham.

Following are the directors, fifteen in number: J. F. Roberts, Gresham, R. F. D. No. 3, master Gresham grange. E. J. Spooner, Leuts, member of Evening Star grange. Mrs. Rosa M. Littlepage, Latourelle Falls, R. F. D. No. 1, master of Columbia grange. John Sletet, Gresham, R. F. D. No. 2, master of Multnomah grange. Arthur F. Miller, Portland, Sellwood station, master of Lents grange. Fred H. Crane, Cleone, R. F. D. No. 1, master of Rockwood grange. Mrs. Carrie Townsend, Troutdale, R. F. D. No. 1, master of Fairview grange. Harry A. Start, Portland, Woodlawn station, master of Woodlawn grange. H. W. Snashall, Gresham, R. F. D. No. 4, master of Pleasant Valley grange. John Welbis, Montavilla, master of Russellville grange. Charles Cleveland, Gresham, R. F. D. No. 1. H. E. Davis, Gresham, R. F. D. No. 3. Louis Dechman, Gresham, R. F. D. No. 1. R. Wilson, Gresham, R. F. D. No. 3.

Applications for concessions of various kinds have already begun to come in to the secretary. All applicants have been referred to the board of directors at their next meeting, Monday afternoon, Aug. 12. From the indications there will be no lack of amusements and entertainments "Furrow." Side shows of all kinds will be there as well as exhibits. Restaurants and refreshment booths will be plentiful, and it is a sure thing that the people will be on hand to patronize them. Many of the Portland business houses that seek the farmers' patronage will have individual exhibits worthy of a larger fair than our first one will be, and it is certain that all the available space at command will be utilized. The only regret is that the time is so short in which to make preparations.

The promotion and publicity committee, elected by the board of directors, consists of Timothy Brownhill, editor of The Beaver State Herald; L. H. Wells, East Side reporter for The Oregonian and E. L. Thorpe, secretary of the association and correspondent of The Oregonian from Eastern Multnomah. To them is entrusted the work of advertising the fair and carnival. Their long experience in paper work fits them for their duties, and it will be well done. Besides their newspaper work, which will be mainly confined to news items, they now have several plans ahead which cannot fail to be of benefit as their work will be gratis and their promotion plans will pay their own way.

The annual mission convention of the Swedish Lutheran will commence Monday, Aug. 19, at 8 p. m., in the Lutheran church and continuing over Wednesday. It will be held in William Peterson's grove on Tuesday and Wednesday. Dinner will be served in the grove.

way, their advertising will cost the association very little, if anything, and the work will be effectually done.

GOOD OF THE ORDER.

Dr. A. Thompson should be a member of the grange. He has the true grange spirit. Dull meetings these days, but just wait—

Call it The Furrow—Trails are frequently converted into furrows. Mrs. Mart. Kroninberg, chairman of the committee on art and music, has a brilliant opportunity to make two attractive features of the fair.

The boys of the Gresham band will be forgiven their unmelodious performances when alone if they will get in readiness for Oct. 15. Who will be chairman of the baby show? Where young married couples are gaining At babes of preposterous size. The lady the children is praising And hopes—with a smile in her eyes.
