Yes, we have a little wind, a little frost, and a few chilly nights. Yet we have flowers blooming in the yard, roses on the trees, berries on the vines, cabbages, turnips, winter radishes, onions, rape, and good T green grass in the fields. And yet some of our folks are complaining of the weather! They would'nt do it if they could just take a peep into a real cold climate for a few minutes.

More than one young man will regret to learn of the death of I J. W. French, a pioneer banker of The Dalles. For nearly half a century Joshua French was known as one of the shrewdest financiers of Oregon. He was honest and kind and liberalminded. #### STANDING BY "THE HERALD."

For the past two months the Beaver State Herald's subscription list has been absolutely on a cash basis. Numerous predictions have been made that no country paper could establish such a precedent.

November 1st the editor of this paper decided that if the paper was worth while its readers would not hesitate to pay cash in advance for it. If the paper is not worthy of a good cash subscription list the editor doesn't want to publish it and the quicker we find it out the better. Fortunately very few are dropping out because of the new system.

Our folks have faith in The Herald and its policies, appreciate the good work the paper is doing and are standing by it.

A Fable For Critics

Once there was an Ox. He was a fine, hefty Ox. He could pull a big load. He never balked, but always liked to go straight ahead.

But the Ox had enemies.

There was the Flea and his whole big Family. "We don't care whether this Ox travels or not," said the Flea and his Folks. "All we want is some of his blood." Whereupon the Fleas eternally pestered the Ox and gave him That Tired Feeling.

Then there was the Tom Cat and his brothers—the Doubting Thomases. "We don't know whether this Ox is going the right way or not," said the Thomases. "Anyhow, we'll scratch his back for him." Whereupon the Felines jumped on the back of the Ox and scratched him for fair, which made the Ox exeedingly sorrowful.

Then there was the Fiste Pup and his Fellow Fistes-a whole litter of Fistes. "We don't care how slow the Ox goes," said the Fistes; "the slower the merrier for us. All we want is to lag behind him and bite his Tail." Whereupon the Fistes snapped continually at the Tail of the Ox, which gave the Ox a mighty mournfulness.

Finally the Ox, pestered constantly with the Fleas and the Felines and the Fistes, got to looking sickly. He stopped and lay down on his job, and there was no more going forward for him.

KEY TO THE SITUATION: The town is the Ox. The Fleas and the Felines and the Fistes are those citizens who criticise every progressive movement and do everything they can in their petty ways to make the Ox quit pulling in the right direction.

MORAL: Give the Ox a chance to pull. Everybody holler, "Git up!"
