MUCH SHIPPING FROM GRESHAM

Large Increase in Number Cars
Loaded Here Shows Rapid Growth of the Section.

That Gresham is the principal shipping point on the Springwater division of the Portland Railway, Light and Power company's line is a fact that is hardly realized by our people, but there are good reasons for believing it to be true. It is difficult to get absolutely correct data upon the subject as the agents along the line are not allowed to give out information in regard to the company's business. The Herald however has been gathering a few facts from outside sources which lead to the conclusion that Gresham is in the front row.

The freight business along the line has increased so that two freight cars each way and two express trains are required to handle the business. A trip to the depot at Gresham almost any day will show standing on the side tracks a long row of cars with a dozen or so teams loading or unloading freight.

On a recent date there were shipped from Gresham 19 cars of wood, five of potatoes, two of brick, and one of merchandise, a total of 27 cars of outgoing freight in one day. The average weekly record of late is about 50 cars of wood, eight cars of potatoes, eight cars of brick, and four cars of general merchandise, fruit, etc., making a total each week of between 60 and 70 cars.

Most of the wood and all of the brick billed from this point is loaded at Hogan, a mile east of Gresham. At this point is located the Columbia Brick works. Mr. A. Klose, the proprietor, is thoroughly up to date in his methods and machinery and puts out a product unequalled by any of its class. Added improvements have been made recently which put the yards in first-class shape for the coming season's work. At Hogan also are several wood companies cutting and shipping large quantities of wood.

Gresham is getting to be a very important potato shipping point. It is a veritable mecca for potato buyers, and a leading San Francisco firm has a salaried representative here. There is no better potato producing soil in Oregon and potatoes from this section are at a premium in the southern market. The steady stream of wagons loaded with "spuds" passing through Gresham to the depot day after day is a sight worth seeing.

Gresham is also becoming an important milk shipping station. This is comparatively a new business, but many farmers are taking advantage of this means of selling their milk and cream at good prices. From 200 to 350 gallons of milk are handled daily from this station.

The line of the Portland Railway, Light and Power company extends east of Gresham about 20 miles. The country through which it passes is developing rapidly. Lumber, wood, potatoes, fruit and other products are finding an outlet to market. The electric company is continually adding to its equipment. Its seven big electric engines, and several smaller motors, are kept constantly in use pulling freights, switching, etc.

Nor does this tell the complete story of the shipping of this district. Both

POMONA HAS GOOD MEETING

Discuss Questions of the Day and Initiate Largest Class in History of County.

Pomona grange met at Evening Star hall on Wednesday with a very large attendance of grangers from all over the county. All the officers were present except the Graces and chaplain. Messdames Nidlin, Byers and Townsend were appointed Graces and A. H. Welch acted as chaplain.

Eighty-five persons, the largest class in the history of the county grange, were initiated into the 3rd degree. The attendance was over 250.

The afternoon discussions were led by F. M. Gill on the direct primary law. John H. Lewis, state engineer, discussed legislation relative to control of water rights. The question of consolidation of grange papers with Washington was argued and voted favorably.

Mrs. E. L. Thorpe of Rockwood grange, lecturer, presented an excellent program of the following numbers: Double quartet, Woodchuck grange; address, "Water Legislation," John H. Lewis; song, Mrs. O. J. Brown; address, "A Model Farm," R. C. Wright; song, Mrs. Edna Bell; song, Mrs. Jennie Kronenberg; recitation, Carl Emery; song, Mrs. Bessie Byers; recitation, original poem, J. D. Lee; recitation, Mrs. Julia Ashcraft; recitation, Louis Benfield; recitation, Miss Olive Mills; song, Mrs. A. Pollock; duet, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Bryson; recitation, Florence Taylor; instrumental music, Adell Rice; song, Jas. Kelly; song, Selma Johnson.

A vote of thanks was given Evening Star grange for the generous hospitality extended.

FISHING EXCELLENT IN JOHNSON CREEK

Boys Report Good Catches of Wily Trout in This and Neighboring Streams.

This is the open season for trout fishing. This, together with the fact that the streams in this vicinity abound with numbers of the speckled beauties, explains why so many fishermen are daily seen following up Johnson creek and other streams in this locality. The most of these persons come back with contented looks and a good string but a novice is likely to wear that long face that comes from "fisherman's luck." There are not many of the latter, however, for every Oregonian is a born fisherman.

Johnson creek is a favorite in this locality. It is one of the best streams for early trout fishing. Several Gresham boys report extra good catches. Cecil Metzger has caught two over five inches this season and Roy Chalkier one sixteen inches, and others numerous large ones. One of our prominent citizens on Wednesday caught in Johnson creek a trout 18½ inches long.

Johnson creek is fished every year from its mouth to its source and has been for years, yet each season the fishing is good. Where the fish come from each year is a mystery.

In Memory of Mrs. Earl E. Jack.

Stella May Jack, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. L. Shriner of Orient, Oregon, died at Gresham, Oregon, Monday, March 9, 1908.

Mrs. Jack was born June 3, 1884, at Fisher's, Wash., and in 1892 moved with her parents to Willsburg, Oregon. At the age of fifteen she moved to Pleasant Home, where the family have since lived.

She was united in marriage to Earl E. Jack by Rev. H. L. St. Clair, July 14, 1903. Mr. and Jack have made their home at Cottrell.

There were born to them three children, Harold D., Alice W. and Ralph E. These, with the husband and the father, mother, three sisters and three brothers, remain to mourn the departure of a loving and faithful wife and mother, a kind daughter and

Present Crowded Condition a Menace to Health—Special Meeting Tomorrow.

A special school meeting has been called at the schoolhouse, Gresham, Saturday, March 21, 1908, at 2 o'clock, the notice says, "To vote on the proposition to provide additional school room."

The overcrowded condition of all the rooms and the fact that the old church building now being used for the fifth and sixth grades, under Miss Pierce, will not be available another year, makes some action on the part of the district imperative at this time. Whatever plan is adopted, and several have been suggested, it leaves all too short a time to perfect plans and erect a building before school opens for another year.

As to the need there can be no question. The capacity of the present rooms is thirty-five, not over forty at the outside, without endangering the health of teacher and pupils. When fifty and more pupils are crowded into one poorly ventilated room, as has been done this year, it is a positive menace to health.

The total registration to date is 220, with an average attendance for February of 188. A few have moved away, but others are coming in every month. New seats were bought by the board at the beginning of the year, which it was thought would be sufficient, but it has been necessary to use chairs and tables and put in old discarded seats.

This is not only a time of necessity, but should be looked upon as Gresham's opportunity. There is building on every hand. Many eyes are on Gresham. The new railroad is assured. It is time to provide not simply for present absolute necessity, but for future needs. The population of the sister. With them join a host of friends who deeply mourn her untimely death and extend trust sympathy to all the bereaved.

Mrs. Jack was a member of the Methodist church, having been sprinkled in infancy, and lived an exemplary Christian life. A few days before her death she said to her father, that, "It paid to be a Christian."

The funeral services were held on Wednesday, March 11, at the Methodist church at Pleasant Home and were largely attended. Rev. J. H. Wood preached the sermon. The burial was at Pleasant Home. She rests in peace.

The two older children will have their home with Mrs. D. D. Jack, the father's mother, at Cottrell. The three-weeks' old baby was taken by Mrs. G. C. Pendleton, cousin of E. E. Jack, to her home at Woodburn, Ore.
