J. C. Sill, Republican Candidate for Coroner

In presenting my platform for the consideration of the public, I wish to state the advantages there are in establishing a public morgue. A public morgue will drive out public graft. How so? For the simple reason that it is not connected with an undertaking establishment.

At present we have a candidate in the field who is being strongly supported by an undertaking establishment and to the public in general. I assert here that a public morgue will drive out private graft. I am an independent candidate for the office of county coroner, and I stand independent on these principles: The living shall respect the dead, and we should have a public morgue. A doctor representing the coroner's office is representing some individual undertaking firm. An undertaker representing the same office is representing private graft. An independent candidate representing the office of county coroner for a public morgue is representing the people, at no cost to the city, but an individual morgue, which belongs to the coroner, and not the city; hence there is no expense to taxpayers. A morgue belonging to the coroner, opened to the public—these are my principles, and they stand independent, creditable for both the living and the dead.

Tells Our Readers How to Mix Best Rheumatism Cure.

A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the readers of a large New York daily paper the following valuable yet simple and harmless prescription, which anyone can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one - half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and, being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will no doubt be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the druggists here will mix the prescription for our readers if asked to.

FUNGICIDES AND INSECTICIDES

The following recipes have been taken from the best authorities in the country. Cut them out, paste on a card and hang it where it will be handy.

FUNGICIDES

These applications are preventative and should be made before the disease has fastened itself upon the plant.

The best fungicide is the Bordeaux mixture. Because of its discolorations do not apply it to ornamental plants.

Bordeaux Mixture.—Copper sulphate, 6 lbs; quicklime, 4 lbs. Put the sulphate in a coarse sack, suspend it in about 4 gallons of water, held in a wooden or earthen vessel until dissolved. Make the lime in an equal amount of water. Add the two solutions to 32 gallons of water. Peaches require 1 lb. more of lime and more water. For flowers or vegetables add a pound of hard soap. Apply as a spray.—Bailey.

For surface mildews dry Sulphur dusted on the foliage may be sufficient.

For Ornamental Plants.—Ammoniacal Copper carbonate—copper carbonate, 1 ounce; ammonia, 1 part and seven eight parts of water (enough to dissolve copper). Then dilute with 9 gallons of water. It is best to dissolve the copper in large bottles.

For Potatoes. Scab.—Soak the seed in a solution of 2 1/2 ounces of corrosive sublimate to 15 gallons of water, or 8 fluid ounces of formalin to 15 gallons of water. Dry the seed and then plant.

Blight.—Spray with Bordeaux mixture at intervals after potatoes are six inches high.

Smut in Grains. Oats.—Soak seed 24 hours in solution of one pound of formalin to 50 gallons of water or solution of one pound of potassium sulphide to 20 gallons of water, or sprinkle well and let stand till dry.

Wheat or Barley.—Soak for 12 hours in one pound of copper sulphate to 24 gallons of water. Some smuts of grain may be destroyed by dipping into water, first into 110 to 120 degrees and then into water at 132 to 135 degree for two or three minutes. Dry and plant.

least two applications within a week are advisable.

For Insects That Suck the Juices and cabbage or currant worms.—Kerosene emulsion—Hard soap, 1/2 lb. dissolved in one gallon boiling water. Mix with two gallons of kerosene and stir well for 10 minutes. Dilute 10 to 25 times. A strong solution will destroy scale insects. Good for plant lice, mealy bugs, spiders, mites etc. Don't mix near a fire.—Bailey.

APPLE SCAB AND SAN JOSE SCALE

Lime and Sulphur Mixture may be already prepared. If bought, dilute with 15 gallons of water to one of mixture. If prepared at home, mix 40 pounds of fresh unslacked lime in 60 gallons of water; stir in 25 pounds of sulphur, boil one and a half hours, strain through a net and apply warm. Some add salt but it renders mixture harder to manage. Other people add about three pounds blue vitriol after the amber color has been obtained. To make a success it should be applied in February, April and a couple of times in May.—Farm Journal.

Don't imagine you must have an expensive spraying apparatus. The man with only a few shubs can get a 50 cent hand sprayer. Of course the orchard man will find it economical to invest in something proportionately better.
