EDITORIAL COMMENT

As anticipated in our issue of two weeks ago, it is generally conceded now that Chamberlain will have a much harder time to secure the senatorship with Cake as his opponent than had it have been Fulton. Republicans are in the majority in Oregon and the only reason for supporting Chamberlain is his attitude toward Statement No. 1. But Cake takes the same position and is a Republican, too.

About everyone in the state feels like commending Judge Burnett. The bankers wanted a fair trial and they got it. The judge seemed to know, too, that a corporation could not exist or transact business without officials to determine its policy or management. We hope the Judge will have an opportunity to deal out justice to the remaining officials.

Five hundred and seventy five thousand dollars or 396 years. Not less than one or more than fifteen years and double the amount involved is the penalty a "fair trial" has pronounced for the chief wrecker of the Title Guarantee & Trust company. And the others are shivering in expectation.

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, which will be held in Seattle, beginning June 1, 1909, is said to be at present about half completed. The Oregon building will be the first state building finished and it will be completed within a month.

The headquarters of the Rose Festival Association looks like an immense valentine shop these days. Thousands of beautifully engraved invitations are being sent out in rose-garlanded envelopes, fit emblems of the coming attractions. "The Queen of Flowers will have a perfumed whisper of welcome for you, and her sweet hospitalities humored for your tarrying." Thus the invitation closes.

Our attention has frequently been solicited by bargain men—in other words peddlers—to goods of various kinds and qualities, which we are sure might be obtained almost if not quite as cheap at home. Then what does the peddler do for the town aside from leaving the article he offers? Nothing, absolutely. His interests are elsewhere and his profits are expended elsewhere.

We are pleased to see the harmony that is shown by the defeated candidates of the county in banqueting their successful opponents. Now if they will drop this talk about running independent statement candidates against "Republican's Choice" nominees there will be a permanency to the good feeling.

H. A. Darnall, for two years in job printing in the Bunker building in Kansas City, some eight years ago, recently took charge of the Beaver State Herald, at Gresham, Oregon, as editor and manager. The paper ranks among the best weeklies in the state. Mr. Darnall is a good writer and will doubtless be ably assisted by his very accomplished wife.—Pointers (Kansas City, Missouri).

We notice that the Portland Railway Light and Power company last week invited the public to make friendly criticisms of its service. The Herald has done this but so far as we can see no action has been taken in recognition of the suggestion. We hesitate to repeat the advice. Perhaps it was not observed. Shall we send a marked copy?

AS SEEN BY OTHERS

THE CHAMBERLAIN BUGABOO.

The republicans of Oregon have nominated a candidate for the United States Senate against whom the Chamberlain bugaboo will have no political influence. H. M. Cake stands for every good political principle advocated by Governor Chamberlain, and in addition is a republican, and in sympathy with the Roosevelt policies and ready to work with the progressive element in Con-

SAND

I observed a locomotive in the railroad yards one day. It was waiting in the round-house, where the locomotives stay; It was panting for the journey, it was coaled and fully manned And it had a box the fireman was filling full of sand.

It appears that locomotives cannot always get a grip On their slender iron pavement, 'cause the wheels are apt to slip; And when they reach a slippery spot their tactics they command, And to get a grip upon the rail they sprinkle it with sand.

It's about this way with travel along life's slippery track, If your load is rather heavy and you're always sliding back; So, if a common locomotive you completely understand, You'll provide yourself in starting with a good supply of sand.

If your track is steep and hilly, and you have a heavy grade, And if those who've gone before you have the rails quite slippery made; If you ever reach the summit of the upper table-land, You'll find you'll have to do it with a liberal use of sand.

If you strike some frigid weather and discover to your cost, That you're liable to slip on a heavy coat of frost, Then some prompt decided action will be called into demand, And you'll slip way to the bottom if you haven't any sand.

You can get to any station that is on life's schedule s-e-n, If there's fire beneath the boiler of ambition's strong machine; And you'll reach the place called Flush-town at a rate of speed that's grand, If for all the slippery places you've a good supply of sand.

gress for the betterment of the country.

So there is no need of a solitary republican in Oregon to vote for Geo. E. Chamberlain for the senate. You have a clean, honest, capable, fearless candidate of your own, and with forty thousand majority in the state you should sweep Cake into office with a victory that would forever silence party dissension and factional strife in Oregon.

The principle of the popular election of United States senators has come to stay and the way to make Oregon permanently republican is to keep clean, honest men in office; demand that the people's choice be elected and then see that the people's choice is a republican. For such a program the Chamberlain bugaboo will have no terrors.

The people of Oregon are walking hand in hand with progress. They have rebuked the proffered enticements of the old machine in Portland and now let us put the loyalty of the machine to the test. Let us see if the machine is really and truly republican at heart or whether it is wholly selfish and has simply used republican voters in the past for selfish ends.

If the defeated members of the machine will now support Cake who is the republican choice, against the democratic nominee, well and good. The test will be satisfactory; but let us see. The matter has been put up to them. Are they interested in the success of republican principles? Let us watch closely and see where they stand on the senatorial question. — Pendleton East Oregonian.

WHAT A YOUNG MAN CAN DO.

While farming does not promise the largest rewards in the way of wealth or fame, it offers compensations that may be as attractive and satisfying. A competent farmer with a good farm is assured of a comfortable living and can win a moderate fortune. He has the privilege of constant association with his family. He enjoys the greatest degree of personal and business independence. His products are articles of universal use. If one market will not take them, another will. He has no occasion to fawn upon clients or cringe to magnates. Commercial panics rarely affect him. His goods are still necessary; and while their value may be less, the cost of production is often more than enough lower at such times to more than make up the difference. In fact, his margin of profit is often greatest in years of depression.

While farm life is often laborious, there is often variety about it that contrasts pleasantly with the monotony of a life spent at a bench or the desk. To the lover of home farm life is delightful in that it is a constant process of home development. Each tree and vine acquires a personal value to him far greater than its worth in money. All the domestic animals are his pets and friends. A well kept farm is a bit of landscape gardening that helps to make home beautiful, and is a tribute to the character of its owner.— Frank W. Rollins, in Farm and Fireside.

Multnomah Grange Meets

Multnomah Grange, No. 71, held an all day meeting last Saturday. Members from other granges to the number of 100 attended to help initiate fifteen candidates, all of whom were present except two, who were sick.

The guests enjoyed (?) a hayrack ride from Anderson station and although we do not see how that could be possible, it speaks well for our grangers or the visitors. A delicious dinner was served. The members of the Evening Star Grange of Lents were present and gave the new members their third and fourth degree.

FARM ADVICE FROM MANY SOURCES

Potatoes should be planted an even depth and for that reason the potato machine planter is an essential to successful growing.

Now is a good time to drain the swampy places and avoid that crop of mosquitos you have been growing every year.

Don't set the hen in an old box that is a "left over" from last year's nesting, without having thoroughly spraved or fumigated it. Use crude petroleum or some good lice killer.

Keep the young chicks dry and warm. A chill means dysentery and that means death.

If you have a patch of briars to kill, set them on fire and when the young briars come up let the cattle and sheep pick them off. This will kill them in a year or so.

Don't worry if your garden is not up or planted. We notice that seed planted in May comes up in a week or less and now it requires twice as long. Seed that comes up quickly does better than if it lies in the ground a longer time.

Better clean that strawberry bed out and shape up the rows. It will soon be too late. Berries should be undisturbed after blooming.

Now is a good time to overhaul your plows, cultivators, mowers and other machinery. If you get acquainted now it will save you lots of delay when the hours are more valuable. You should know that a tool is ready for use before you are ready to use it.

Try cutting the blossom end off of a sack of potatoes and see if you do no get more potato and less top than from those uncut. We notice that about so many strong sprouts develop on a potato. You get the same result by using a medium sized, smooth potato or a good piece as by using a large potato. All the seed requires is a bulk of starch sufficient to nurture the young plant till it gets through the soil.

Peter's Pence.
Peter's Pence was presented by Ina, king of the West Saxons, to the pope about 725, for the endowment of an English college in Rome. The fund took its name from the fact that it was agreed to be paid on Peter mass, Aug. 1. The tax was laid on all families possessed of 30 pence yearly rent in land, out of which they paid 1 penny.
