Spring Medicine

The best is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best because it does the most good.

While it makes the blood pure, fresh and lively, it tones the stomach to better digestion, creates an appetite, stimulates the kidneys and liver, gives new brain, nerve and digestive strength.

An unequaled list of cures—40,366 testimonials in two years—proves its merit.

Sarsatabs—For those who prefer medicine in tablet form, Hood's Sarsaparilla is now put up in chocolated tablets called Sarsatabs, as well as in the usual liquid form. Sarsatabs have identically the same curative properties as the liquid form, besides accuracy of dose, convenience, economy,—there being no loss by evaporation, breakage, or leakage. Sold by druggists or sent by mail. C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

Mrs. J. F. Gee, 30 Gould Street, Stoneham, Mass., says: "In 25 years experience I have never known Hood's Sarsaparilla to fail, for spring humors and as a general blood purifier; it cures scrofula, eczema; has no equal as a general spring medicine. It gives me genuine satisfaction to say this."

Baby.

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into here.

Where did you get those eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?
Some of the starry spikes left in.

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.

What makes your cheek like a warm, white rose?
I saw something better than any one knows.

Whence that three-cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.

Where did you get this pearly ear?
God spoke and it came out to hear.

Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into bonds and bands.

Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the cherub's wings.

How did they all just come to be you?
God thought about me, and so I grew.

But how did you come to us, you dear?
God thought about you, and so I am here.

An Untimely Thought.

I wonder what day of the week,
I wonder what month of the year—
Will it be midnight, or morning,
And who will bend over my bier?

What a hideous fancy to come
As I wait at the foot of the stair,
While she gives the last touch to her robe,
Or sets the white rose in her hair.

As the carriage rolls down the dark street
The little wife laughs and makes cheer—
But . . . I wonder what day of the week,
I wonder what month of the year.

LANDSCAPE GARDENING.

Subject Every Home Lover Should Give Attention

By J. R. Shinn, Professor of Horticulture, Idaho Experiment Station, Moscow.

Most of the West is new country, therefore it is not surprising that comparatively few dwellings and farmsteads within her boundaries are surrounded by attractively arranged plantings of trees, flowers and shrubs. Naturally, the attention of most citizens of this great commonwealth has been confined to the one idea of money making; perhaps the place has been mortgaged and every effort has been bent to relieve this condition; or, some may have set a certain standard of money accumulation and have devoted their energies to working toward this goal. The result of these conditions has been that of setting aside the real beautifying of home grounds as a secondary consideration. Another very prevalent reason why people neglect this all-important matter, is found in the fact that scarcely one person in a thousand steps aside and gives the matter adequate thought. Although one may appreciate the attractive places of others, still the idea of making his own place equally attractive is far from the imagination. A third class of people are those who really love the touch which nature gives the home surroundings, but from lack of forethought and systematic planning their efforts fall far short of success. All of these classes of home-makers can profitably devote some attention to this subject, commonly known as "landscape gardening," and its application to homes of our country.

The ultimate aim of all landscape gardening, whether conducted on a small or on a large scale, should be to present a pleasing picture. In other words, landscape gardening may be defined as the art of arranging and grouping trees, shrubs and flowers in such a manner that a picture of undeniable beauty prevails from season to season. It is not enough that the material chosen for the plantings should give an attractive display for a single season, such as the painter places upon his canvas, but the selection should go farther, presenting material that will give increasing variety and alluring beauty for each day, each week and each month.

From this statement of the subject it is quite evident that the landscape gardener who wields the tools which nature places at his disposal occupies a position on equal footing with the artist who wields the brush in transferring these pictures to the canvas. Yet it is quite possible for most of us to play the part of the former, even though it be in a very limited manner. As many painters are imitators to a great degree, if one should imitate the works of others in the arranging of plants, he would be committing no unpardonable sin. In fact, this latter method of procedure is likely to prove the most fruitful means for the average person to employ; at any rate, it will serve admirably for the purpose of giving an idea of the kinds of plants to select and the grouping methods most pleasing to the eye.

On the other hand, it is necessary that the person who is to become the amateur landscape gardener should understand some of the prime essentials and common sense rules of this art. Where shall the flowers be placed? Shall the trees and shrubs come in the middle of the lawn or shall they find a more appropriate location in some other point? Is it good taste to make walks and roads in curves? These and many other questions naturally arise in the minds of those who are carefully prospecting in this subject. It therefore behooves us to get some working idea of these various topics. Every home-lover should give ample attention to this subject.

Holding His Job.

Michael Callahan, a section boss for the Southern railroad, has a keen Gaelic wit. One warm afternoon while walking along the railroad tracks he found a section hand placidly sleeping beside the rails. Callahan looked disgustedly at the delinquent for a full minute and then remarked:

"If a man loses his pocketbook," said the moralizer, "he thinks the chap who finds it is no better than a thief if he doesn't return it."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

NO ONE CAN ALWAYS AVOID

Many people persist in riding on the street cars, insufficiently protected by clothing.

They start out perhaps in the heat of the day, and do not feel the need of wraps.

The rapid moving oft he car cools the body unduly. When they board the car perhaps they are slightly perspiring;. When the body is in this condition it is easily chilled. This is especially true when a person is sitting.

Beginning a street car ride in the middle of the day and ending it in the evening almost invariably requires extra wraps, but people do not observe these precautions, hence they catch cold.

Colds are very frequent in the Spring on this account, and as the Summer advances they do not decrease. During the Spring months no one should think of riding on the car without being provided with a wrap.

A cold caught in the Spring is liable to last through the entire Summer. Great caution should be observed at this season against exposure to cold. During the first few pleasant days of Spring, the liability of catching cold is great.

No wonder so many people acquire muscular rheumatism and catarrhal diseases during this season.

However, in spite of the greatest precautions, colds will be caught.

At the appearance of the first symptom, Peruna should be taken according to directions on the bottle, and continued until every symptom disappears.

Do not put it off. Do not waste time by taking other remedies. Begin at once to take Peruna and continue taking it until you are positive that the cold has entirely disappeared. This may save you a long and perhaps serious illness later on.

Bad Effects From Cold.

Mr. M J. Deutsch, Secretary Building Material Trades Council, 151 Washington St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I have found your medicine to be unusually efficacious in getting rid of bad effects from cold, and more especially in driving away all symptoms of catarrh, with which I am frequently troubled.

"The relief Peruna gives in catarrhal troubles alone is well worth the price per bottle. I have used the remedy for several years now."

Spells of Coughing.

Mrs. C. E. Long, writes from Atwood, Colorado, as follows:

"When I wrote you for advice my little three-year old girl had a cough that had been troubling her for four months. She took cold easily, and would wheeze and have spells of coughing that would sometimes last for half an hour.

"Now we can never thank you enough for the change you have made in our little one's health. Before she began taking your Peruna she suffered everything in the way of cough, colds and croup, but now she has taken not quite a bottle of Peruna, and is well and strong as she has ever been in her life."

Pe-ru-na for Colds.

Mr. James Morrison, 68 East 16th St., Paterson, N. J., writes:

"I have given Peruna a fair trial, and I find it to be just what you claim it to be. I cannot praise it too highly. I have used two bottles in my family for colds, and everything imaginable. I can safely say that your medicine is the best I have ever used."

Disputed the Proposition.

"All that you are, my friend," said the lecturer, singling out an elderly man sitting in a front seat who appeared to be deeply interested—"all that you are, I repeat, you owe to heredity and environment."

"Gosh," exclaimed the elderly man, turning red with indignation, "I never had no dealin's with that firm in my life, and I don't owe them or nobody else a blamed cent!"—Chicago Tribune.

Lost the Connection.

Mrs. Chugwater, in looking over the morning paper, had come across a line that looked like this:

gffeozzwkwlwhyojjjtjjybhkizarxxtbzzuggml

"Josiah," she asked, showing it to him, "what does this mean?"

"It means," said Mr. Chugwater, "that the line's out of order. Same old story. Can't you see?"

Taking in the Soil.

The automobile was going fifty miles an hour.

"We are now passing through a beautiful part of the country," shouted the chauffeur in the front seat.

The tourist swallowed another pint of grit and dust.

"H'm!" he ejaculated between coughs, "it seems as though the country is passing through me."

He Aimed High.

To the uninitiated observer some of the gymnastics performed in a game of football are beyond explanation. The story is told of a half-back who complained to his family about the injustice of allowing football players to wear head protectors.

"I should think it was most necessary," said his mother, who had witnessed one game with many tremors. "Look at the front teeth your poor cousin Frederick lost!"

"That may be," said her son, stubbornly, "but look at me, laid up for two weeks with a lame foot just from kicking a fellow's nose-gear!"

A Beauty Parlor.

There was a long silence.

"Gerald,' she said, breaking the monotony, "what is a 'beauty parlor.'?"

"A 'beauty parlor,' my dear," he whispered, moving closer. "Why, this is a 'beauty parlor.'"

"The idea! Why so?"

"Why, any parlor would be a beauty parlor if you were in it."

And after that the rest was easy. She accepted him on the spot.

UNCLE REUBEN AND EDUCATION.

Old Man Told a Shrewd Story to Illustrate a Point.

"Made ye squirm some, didn't they, Cynthy?" Uncle Reuben asked, sympathetically.

"What do you mean, Uncle Reuben?" Cynthia returned. But under Uncle Reuben's quizzical glance the color came richly. She had been acquainted with Uncle Reuben all her life.

"I saw ye sort of wriggling inside when Eliza Meadows talked about preferring music with a tune to it—something ye could grip on to, instead of sonatas and symphonies—that's what ye call them, ain't it? Eliza Meadows has done more good than any ten women ye'd be likely to meet; she's clothed the naked and ministered to the sick till it's grown to be second nature to her; but after all, I dunno's sewing and nursing and things like that teach ye anything about music. And then when Elviry Pratt talked about the kind of pictures she liked, I saw ye get a holt of yourself. I was real proud of ye the way ye held in then.

"Education," Uncle Reuben mused, "must be sort of alarming anyhow when ye first ketch it. I don't wonder it's kind of upsetting."

"Alarming?" asked Cynthia. Her color had become normal again and her dimples were creeping out.

Uncle Reuben nodded. "Yes, alarming. Ye never can tell whether it's going to strike out or strike in. If it comes out free like measles, it's a splendid thing all round, but if it strikes in ye never can see clear after it. There was Henrietta Bond, now. Before she went to college Henrietta was as bright and likely a girl as ye'd ever see. When she came home she was all changed; seemed as if she couldn't consort with anybody that wasn't college-grown. She talked about art and philosophy and biology, but she hadn't any interest in cooking and sewing; found life terrible dull here—so dull she couldn't stay. So she went away. I dunno's anybody lamented her. That's what I call knowledge striking in.

"Then there was Nellie Chester. I'll own up I hated to see Nellie go. I was afraid it would spoil her, like Henrietta, but bless ye, she wasn't the spoiling kind. Everything she learned just seemed to make life more interesting. I declare I'd hang round for half a day when she was poking under stones for bugs—she made it all so interesting. And she'd name ye nice books to read, and when she played she'd play your tunes and her music both—one as easy as the other. I tell ye, when I see all Nellie got out of it, I understood that education can mean about as many different things as there are people that have it."

"Uncle Reuben," Cynthia asked, "do you see any signs of mine striking in?"—Youth's Companion.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

There is an evaporation from the body going on continually, day and night, through the pores and glands of the skin. This is nature's way of maintaining the proper temperature of our systems and preserving the softness and flexibility of the skin, and so long as the blood is free from impurities no trouble will result. When, however, the blood from any cause becomes infected with humors and acids, these too must be expelled, and coming in contact with the delicate fibres and tissues with which the skin is so abundantly supplied they produce irritation and inflammation, and the effect is shown by Eczema, Acne, Tetter, and skin affections of various kinds. These impurities and humors get into the blood through a deranged or inactive condition of the system; the members whose duty it is to carry off the waste and refuse matter of the body fail to properly perform their work, and this impure, fermenting matter is left in the system to be absorbed by the blood. The skin is not only affected by poisons generated within the system, but poisons from without, such as Poison Oak, Poison Ivy, Nettle Rash, etc., enter through the open pores and glands, and so thoroughly do they become rooted in the blood that they are ever present, or return at certain seasons of each year to torment the sufferer. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., cannot cure skin diseases. True, such treatment relieves some of the itching and discomfort, and aids in keeping the skin clean, but it does not reach the real cause, and at best can be only palliating and soothing. A thorough cleansing of the blood is the only certain cure for skin diseases. S. S. S., a gentle acting, safe blood purifier, made entirely of vegetable ingredients of the forest and field, is the proper treatment. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation, and neutralizes the acids and humors, thoroughly cleansing and purifying the blood, and curing skin affections of every kind. It supplies to the blood the fresh, nutritive qualities necessary to sustain the skin and all other parts of the body, and rids the blood of any and all poisons. S. S. S. cures Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt Rheum, Poison Oak and Ivy, Nettle Rash, and all other skin troubles, and cures them permanently by removing every trace of the cause from the blood. Special book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired furnished free to all who write.

I have used your S. S. S., spring and fall, for the past two years, with the result that it entirely relieved me of a form of Eczema which my doctor was unable to cure. My arms, lower limbs, and, in fact, the biggest portion of my whole body was affected, and when I first began S. S. S. the itching, etc., was worse, but I continued the remedy with the result that the dry, itching eruption entirely disappeared. I think a great deal of your medicine, and have recommended it to others with good results. It is the best blood medicine made, and I can conscientiously recommend it for the cure of all blood and skin affections. CHAS. HORSTMAN.

All for Show.

It is a poor town which cannot boast of something to the stranger within its gates. The man in the anecdote related by a writer in the Yonkers Statesman was hard put to it, but he succeeded in upholding the dignity of his native heath.

"This is one of our greatest show-places," said the resident, who was taking a friend about his town.

"Why, it is only a vacant lot!" replied the friend.

"Certainly, but it's where the circus always performs when it comes to town," responded the proud citizen.

Of Interest to Farmers,

The following publications of interest to farmers and others have been issued by the Agricultural department of the Federal government and will be furnished free, so long as they are available, except where otherwise noted, upon application to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.:

Bulletin No. 145.—Preparing Land for Irrigation and Methods of Applying Water. Prepared by the agents of irrigation investigation. Pp. 84, pls. 7, figs. 33. Price 15 cents. This bulletin gives descriptions of methods of removing sagebrush, of smoothng land, of laying out fields for different systems of applying water, and of the different systems of applying water. The various methods are compared as to cost and efficiency.

Bulleitn No. 146.—Current Wheels: Their Use in Lifting Water for Irrigation. Prepared in the office of experiment stations, irrigation investigations. Pp. 38. pls. 4, figs. 21. Price 10 cents. Drawings and photographs of a large number of wheels used for rasing water from streams are given, accompanied by descriptions, statements of cost, and discussions of efficiency. A general discussion of the theory of current wheels is also given.

Had One of Her Own.

Mrs. Lottakids, who had been invited to attend the opening session of the mothers' congress, was sending her regrets over the telephone.

"It's awfully kind of you to ask me, Mrs. Ondego," she said, "but I can't come. I'm too busy looking after the children."

Grape Sweet Meat.

Eight pounds of Concord grapes, 4 pounds of sugar, 1½ pounds of raisins, two oranges, pulp and peel chopped; pulp the grapes and cook until seeds come out, rub through colander, then add skins and boil fifteen minutes, then add sugar, raisins, lemon, oranges and boil three-quarters of an hour, or until like marmalade. It does not need to be sealed.

Boyce—It is a true saying that time is money. Joyce—It must be; you never see that old miser wasting a minute.

To Use Cold Meat.

Take scraps of cold meat of any kind, cut in uniform size, add a piece of butter the size of a walnut and one small onion, and fry together until brown. Add boiling water to make a good gravy, and thicken with flour to the consistency of cream. This makes an excellent "warmed-over" dish.

It is estimated that in New York City there are 12,300 men who were educated for the bar who are in various employments outside of law offices.

Her Grievance.

"Mr. Clugston," said the caller, "you may stop my paper."

"It doesn't fit your pantry shelves, perhaps, ma'am," said the editor of the Spiketown Blizzard, sarcastically.

"That hain't got nothing to do with it."

"You've found that you can borrow it from a neighbor hereafter?"

"That ain't the reason, neither."

"Possibly you don't like the editorial policy of the paper."

"No, sir; I don't. My nephew was arrested last week for stealin' a hog, and you didn't say a word about it!"

Getting It All In.

The prosecuting witness in the damage suit against the city was giving in his testimony.

"Now, then, Mr. Bleedem," said his lawyer, "you will please tell the jury where you were injured."

"On my knee, in my feelings, and right in front of the city hall," rapidly answered the witness, fearing an objection on the part of the other attorney.—Chicago Tribune.

A Discouraged Digger.

"I see they say that when a diamond passes a certain size it is worth no more than a smaller one."

"How's that?"

"If it's too large it isn't marketable. Nobody wants to wear a diamond as bulky as a glass door knob."

"Is that so? Then it must be awfully discouraging for a man to dig up a sparkler as big as a football."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

On to Her Calling.

Our Landlady—It's the strangest thing in the world! Do you know, our dear old pet cat disappeared very suddenly yesterday. Excuse me, Mr. Rudolph, will you have another piece of rabbit pie?

Mr. Rudolph (promptly) — No, thank you!

Our Landlady (an hour later)—That is three more pies saved. This season will be a profitable one, indeed.

His Idea of One.

"Cuttin' a big watermelon!" answered little 'Rastus with a grin that showed all his ivories.—Chicago Tribune.

The data about the manufacture of steel cars in this country are not as definite as might be desired, but the Railway Age reports the number of all steel cars ordered in 1907 to be 27,800, and of cars with steel underframes, 44,500.

Not a Cheerful Brand.

"Haven't you any milk that is more cheerful than this?" queried the new boarder as he poured some of the liquid into his coffee.

"Why, what do you mean by that?" queried the landlady.

"Oh, nothing," rejoined the n. b.; "only this milk seems to have the blues."
