EDITORIAL COMMENT

These early showers may spoil a few bunches of hay or grain but they foretell early fall pasturage which will more than offset the injuries produced.

Our vacation friends will find themselves in need of better housing than a tent affords, if the present tendencies of the climate are not changed early. Perhaps we will appreciate their early return whether they do or not.

The selection of the Smith tract as a park site by the city council will be satisfactory to almost everyone not personally interested. It lies well, has good drainage, is mostly cleared ground and can be easily shaped up for any desired purpose. There is a nice grove, an especial feature of which is a number of typical Oregon cedars. There is also a goodly variety of other native trees. The ground used by our boys for a ball park is included and an exhibition drive can be easily provided. It goes without necessary proof that the purchase was the most economical of all that were offered, considering our finances and time limits.

A cat may look at a king, but it is sometimes at the cat's peril—at least so it would seem judging from this anecdote concerning Alfred Tennyson. The then poet laureate of England was once dining at the house of his brother-in-law, Professor Lushington, and among the guests was an inoffensive stranger who, never having had the honor of being in Mr. Tennyson's company before, very now and then stole a glance of curiosity at the illustrious poet. Suddenly, however, those present were startled by the poet, who had been rather quiet for some time, looking up from the tablecloth and glaring wrathfully round the table. He fixed the young man with his glittering eye and said loud enough to be heard by all present, "You are looking at me, I tell you." The collapse of the young gentleman was, of course, complete and instantaneous.

There is no Good Time to Rest in Advertising.

The important fact in the management of a store is that it is open for business regularly on all business days, save an exchange. This fact makes it important that the pulling power, the influence of the advertising should be as steady as the service of clerks. There is no day on which the advertising can be suspended without doing injury to the store—just as sure and positive injury as would be done by suspending any other function of the store for a day or two now and then.

For advertising has come to be a "function" of every live store—a part of the "service" it renders to the public. Advertising information is calculated to save the time and money of the store patrons—and there is no good time to suspend such a function as this.—Ex.

Courtesy is a quality that often goes wanting. A very common notion is that it is something to practice when you expect a favor. Not at all. The truly courteous person is polite whether they gain by it or not. Some people seem to think they are justified in being insulting whenever they diverge from your views. They simply have one quality and that is selfish conceit, which says, "the world is for me; if I can't use you, you are nobody." Hogs do not all wear bristles. Difference of view makes the world better. It drives out conceit. It throttles selfishness and graft. It balances up our mental vision and helps us to see the good in the other fellow, even though he differs from us. The man who does not make a mistake is an undesirable. If it were possible to have such a person he would be an undesirable for his sphere of usefulness would be limited by his appalling perfection. Let us not get the conceited notion that "we are it," that our ideas are perfect, that those who oppose our ideas are fools or rascals, and let us not forget to be courteous about it.

Oregon Profits by National Forests

Announcement has just been made of the amounts which each state containing national forests will receive under the new law giving 25 per cent of the gross receipts from forests to these states. The total amount to go to the states from the receipts of the fiscal year which ended June 30th is $147,063.79. Of this, Oregon's portion will be $32,313.52.

The law requires that this money be expended upon public roads and schools by the counties which contain national forest land. In this way the counties are compensated for the reduction of taxable area brought about by the existence of the forests.

Before this year the states have received 10 per cent of the gross receipts but Congress voted last winter to increase the amount to 25 per cent.

He Collapsed.

A cat may look at a king, but it is sometimes at the cat's peril—at least so it would seem judging from this anecdote concerning Alfred Tennyson. Direct Legislation in Oregon.

Under the system of direct legislation prevailing in our state the grange finds an excellent opportunity to make itself helpful in a practical way to the people of the state. Intelligently directed organized effort is necessary in order to make this system effective and direct its operation along well defined lines toward the accomplishment of permanent and really essential reforms.

The grange can serve no more useful purpose to the state than by educating the people, whose will under this system is the predominant influence in our political life, to an intelligent understanding and appreciation of their real needs.—State Master Buxton.

May Be Candidate For Governor.

It is very probable that Past State Master Gardner of Maine will be nominated for governor on the Democratic ticket this fall. Mr. Gardner is reported as saying: "A nomination for governor by Maine Democrats would be a most distinguished honor that I should certainly prize. In this connection I wish to say that I have not made nor shall make any effort to obtain the nomination. If it comes to me, why, I shall feel all the more highly pleased and shall do my best to be worthy of the honor as a candidate and if elected as chief executive of the state."

Multnomah grange, No. 71, held an all-day meeting at Mr. Campbell's hall at Orient, August 22. About 20 members were present and four visitors, Mr. Snashall, master of Pleasant Valley grange, Mr. and Mrs. Spooner and daughter Julia of Evening Star grange. Three candidates took first and second degree. The lecture hour was taken up with a discussion as to whether the State University and the Agricultural college should be combined or run under separate boards. The alcohol for fuel and lighting purposes was also discussed.

The stockholders of the Lents grange hall company met at Duke's hall, Lents, last Friday evening and organized by electing A. F. Miller, Donald Feury, T. J. Kreuler, H. F. Hershner and O. E. Lent, directors. It was decided that it would be best to erect a substantial building of brick or concrete. The ground lies about two blocks north of the station and in the midst of the thickest part of the population. It is about two blocks south of the school-house. It is anticipated that work will be started in a very short time.
