Succeeding Gresham Vindicator, Gresham Gazette, East Multnomah Record, Multnomah Record and Multnomah Herald.
Published Every Friday at Gresham, Ore., by the BEAVER STATE PUBLISHING CO.
H. A. DARNALL, Editor and Manager.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Gresham, Oregon.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

We have decided to extend the time one week to those who wish to take advantage of our offer of two tickets to the fair with each subscription to the Herald, but you must call at the office for your tickets.

The Gresham Concert Band will be the official band for the fair. This is doing the boys justice and ensuring good music for the fair. There are many reasons why the Fair Association acted wisely in securing the home band. It will do more, put more good will into it and work within the limits of our purse than any other band would do. Good for the boys, and twice good for the fair.

The meeting held on Monday evening to consider plans for fair receptions arrived at the conclusion that any effort made by Gresham as a city to take part in the fair proceedings would be out of place. This is not Gresham's fair any more than it is some other place's fair and any effort to interpose would be unnecessary and impolitic. Every business man will be expected to assist in the comfort of the visitors of the fair and a large reception committee has been arranged.

We are all waiting to see what the result of this Sunday closing spurt will be. Does the judge really mean to enforce the law or is he doing it for political effect or does he hope to play to both parties, making one believe he is working for the moral welfare of the people by strict enforcement, and at the same time gratifying the other class by the eventual result that the law will be declared unconstitutional and everything be thrown wide open? So far the district attorney has proven himself awake to his job. Perhaps he is now. Time will tell.

"Boy, Take Off Your Collar."

Father raised up his boys kinder mild-like an' easy;
"All wuk an' no play" wan't no part of his creed.
We tended the huskin's an' raisin's an' trainin's,
An' he'd as much fun ez a youngster e'd need.

As fer me, I wuz lazy-like, wrapped up in dresin';
An' prinkin' an' poein' an' 'ilin' my head;
An' father most allus w'd smile an' say nothin',
But I reckon I knew that he meant what he sed

When he'd come in an' holler:
"Son, take off yer collar,
Get on yer old clothes an' come down in the shed!"
It might mean the woodpile wuz needin' attention,
Er grindin' the scythes, gettin' ready ter hay;
Er it might be most anything else you e'd mention,
But it allus meant work for the rest of the day.

An' I allus felt, somehow, that 'workin' an' grubbin'
'Come more natch'ul an' wasn't worth grumblin' about,
When I hed on my overalls, cowhides, an' jumper,
An' the duds I'd put on when I heard father shout
From the medder an' holler:
"Son, take off yer collar,
Get on yer old clothes right away an' come out!"

I'm older consider'ble now, an' don't worry
'Bout sparkin' an' prinkin' an' dresin' ter kill,
I've worked party hard on these rocky old acres—
Hed fun, too, a plenty, an' suppose allus will.
But when I drive up ter the village ter barter,
An' see youngsters a-loafin' around in my view,
A-crackin' cheap jokes an' a boastin' an' blowin',
I keep my mouth shet, but I own up ter you,
I'm jest itchin' ter holler:
"Boy, take off yer collar,
Get in yer old clothes—show us what yer can do!"
—W. C. Duncan.
