"In Faith, In Hope, In Charity, and with Fidelity."

Recent grange reports show that the members of the order are alive to the needs for better roads and what is more to the point, they want roads that will be of use instead of an ornament. It is gratifying to note that the action of the grange has effectually silenced the agitation for a state road through Oregon and California which would cost millions and be of little benefit to the people. According to Judge Webster the scheme has been abandoned and the new road bill to come before the legislature will provide for lateral branches to the direct transportation lines, which will be of benefit to the people who need them and can use them. The grange has done some good in this matter and when our new road laws go into effect, the granges can help matters along by working for their provisions.

The following editorial from the Oregonian endorses the stand taken by E. L. Thorp a few weeks ago in his controversy with F. M. Gill concerning the danger of making an alliance with other organizations. The Oregonian says: "As an agency for the dissemination of knowledge among the people of rural districts, the Grange is a very valuable institution. Its members are with very few exceptions, earnest, thoughtful and conscientious men and women. The opinions and desires of the organization carry great weight with legislators, and for that reason it is important that, before taking action upon any public question, careful and thorough consideration of every phase of the matter should be had. Faddists and designing persons are always anxious to have their schemes indorsed by influential organizations, and unless care be taken, projects of doubtful merit will sometimes be approved because they appear to have merit."

Educational work being done by the granges of the state is making itself felt to a considerable extent. The essay contests are progressing favorably under the direction of State Lecturer Johnson and the State Librarian has made a concession allowing any grange to have two libraries at the same time for the purpose of obtaining material for the essays. Interest in this matter is growing and is sure to be productive of good results. In addition to these there has been an educational feature adopted, embracing the rural schools. Topics have been selected including the schools, the schoolhouse, sanitary conditions, the teachers, hygiene, raising and distributing funds and all other features pertaining to that greatest of all educational systems.

Judge Dimick, of Clackamas county, opposes the measure that is proposed for the establishment of a board in each county to which each district must come for its teachers. He says: "This measure will take away from the districts the power to select and hire their own teachers." Would it not be better for the local boards to go to a county board for a teacher than to go to one man, as at present many are doing? It is known that the County Superintendent recommends nearly all county teachers and that the school directors are only too glad to shift the selection upon his shoulders. A county board would not be apt to play favorites, which a county superintendent might do if so inclined. The grange is indorsing the county board plan.

No one thing will hurt the efficiency of our public schools so much as placing the appointment of our teachers in the hands of one man or one small board. Should this one man or this board be entirely conscientious in the performance of its duties, it might be an improvement but the chance are, undue influences would determine appointments: Friends, relatives and good looks would cut an important figure, or perhaps an occasional hand-out would bring the required result. No, no! We know of instances where the good-looking girl got the job and where the fellow who hadn't sense enough to 'divide up' got kicked at every turn in his teaching career. Centralization is a good thing with honest, efficient officials but the chances for undue influence are too great in this instance. We also understand this is the complaint where this system has been tried, and to be an infamous source of graft, drawing down the teacher's income in a most shameful degree.—Ed.

Rockwood grange missed both of its regular meetings this month on account of the inclement weather but it has made complete arrangement for one of its popular dances tomorrow evening. Installation of officers will be held in the evening of the first Wednesday in February. Mrs. J. W. Shattuck has been invited to act as installing officer. A dance is also scheduled for St. Valentine's eve.

Napoleon Davis has been elected master of Fairview grange again after an interim of three years. Installation will be held on the first Wednesday of next month. E. C. Huffman of Russellville will officiate as installing officer.

FAIRVIEW

Fairview, Jan. 21.—Dr. J. N. Grant has gone to Eastern Oregon to visit relatives for a few days.

F. A. Whitney is preparing to make extensive improvements on his house.

C. R. Keller was here on Thursday repairing the telephone line.

The mud in Fairview streets is remarkable both in quantity and quality.

The regular meeting of Fairview grange was held on Tuesday evening and the new officers installed.

Rev. and Mrs. Cressy were visitors at Pleasant Home from Saturday to Monday.

School was resumed on Monday with a fairly good attendance.

Mother Nature showed her willingness to dispense with the snowdrifts without the aid of man. On Monday a force of men were engaged in shovelling out the drifts on the Fairview and Sandy roads, and if the rain had not come, the job would have been much longer.

While on the way to Fairview the other day we observed a very unusual sight. The car was stopped at the Base line, the Conductor actually got off, walked up the road, relieved a mother of her three-year-old burden and carried it safely to a seat in the car. Such condescension on the part of a streetcar conductor just about gives us a shock, but the everyone that meets Conductor Blough admits his gentility is unsurpassed. Pity we haven't more like him.

Washington Davis was a visitor here last Sunday.

Rev. T. B. Griswold of Portland, was a visitor here yesterday.

LUSTEDS

Theodore Neibauer who has been sick for sometime grew worse Tuesday and was taken to a hospital in Portland for treatment.

G. Goff of Portland visited with G. Lusted and family this week.

It is something new to people in these parts to see skis in use. We noticed Mrs. Ida Holmes and sister, Ivy Blackburn, making good use of them during the recent storm.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rogers made a trip to Portland this week.

School did not close during the storm and there was a fair attendance every day.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simmons and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Douglass of Pleasant Home.

Several farmers had some potatoes frozen during the recent storm.

SALMON

The snow is about gone except where it was drifted.

W. Baxtram is making regular trips with the stage again and keeping the hatcheries supplied with fresh beef and liver. Although the hatcheries were out of feed for several days there was a loss of only about 1400 during the cold spell. Dr. S. Miles has a remedy of hot stuff for ice and frozen pipes in the hatchery.

Wild animals in great variety came down out of the tall timber and deep snow during the recent snow storms and we recommend that President Roosevelt come out here and go into training for his African jungle hunt. A mountain lion that left tracks five inches across came down near Andrew Oak's home and S. O. Mitchell took his gun and a good lunch and started after the brute. He said he would get the lion before returning. Then Odell's hounds killed a large timber wolf and P. Stone and J. McKay killed a wildcat. Five elk came down from south of Salmon post-office and went into the Eagle creek country; Pete Stone saw one of them within twenty-five steps of him and regretted that it was not open season as the animal had a magnificent pair of antlers.

Mrs. E. Gutches, daughter of Mrs. M. Stone, left for her home in the Palouse country which she had not visited for seventeen years.

Mrs. M. Stone received a letter from T. J. Stone at Sanger, Cal. He reports frosty weather there.

CHERRYVILLE

Miss Gracia Mae Smith visited in Oregon City and Portland last week.

The Cherryville school opened Monday after a week's vacation.

Miss Clara Mitchell of Sandy visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Friel, Jr., the first of the week.

Herbert E. Hammer of Eagle Creek, visited here Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. McCabe and sons Leo and Francis transacted business in Cherryville last Saturday.

The dance given by the Cherryville people was quite a success and well attended.

Mrs. Ellen Gutches who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Stone left last Friday for her home in Paulbo, Wash.

PLEASANT HOME

I. N. L. Shriner had the misfortune to sprain his leg which was broken a few years ago. He is unable to walk.

A very interesting Epworth League meeting was led by Miss Minnie Shriner Sunday.

A very good crowd attended church services both morning and evening.

School opened Monday with a good attendance after being closed nearly two weeks.

Mr. Brower has sold his moving picture machine and gone out of the entertainment business. He returned from above Salem the latter part of the week.

Saturday the 23d is grange day. Several new members are to be initiated and a few will take the third and fourth degrees.

POWELL VALLEY

The Young Ladies Sewing Society met with a large attendance at the home of Mrs. C. J. Norblom last Saturday. It was also the date for the annual business meeting and officers were elected for the coming year. Dainty refreshments were served.

Our primary teacher, Miss Lydia Bramhall, who has been very sick during the cold spell, was able to resume her duties on Monday.

At the yearly meeting in the Lutheran Church last Monday the following officers were elected: Secretary, P. N. Almquist; deacons, C. A. Lindgren and P. N. Almquist; trustee, C. Unis; Sunday School supt., C. A. Lindgren; asst. supt., P. N. Almquist; organist, Miss Annie Johnson; janitor, H. Staffanson.

Ladies Missions Society met with a fair attendance last Monday at the home of P. A. Johnson. The business meeting was postponed to January 30 at the home of Mrs. Emanuel Anderson. Everybody come.

Olaf Lasseflok has been very sick for some time. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

The Young Peoples Society had their literary meeting at the Lutheran church and in spite of the stormy weather it was well attended and a fine program was rendered.

Mrs. C. J. Norblom and daughters Olga and Annie visited with A. W. Anderson last week.
