EDITORIAL COMMENT

Let us not overlook the next Market Day. The time is coming around quickly. Already a good number of articles have been listed for sale, but there might be many more. Let us have a better time than the first, though that was by no means a failure. A little more effort and talking and we can draw a regular Fourth of July crowd.

Don't sell all your chickens. The unusually high price of wheat is causing many of our farmers and poultry growers to dispose of their stock. That is a big mistake. Expert poultrymen all say eggs will take top prices this fall. Fifty cents a dozen and upward is expected. The young hens will not do to rely upon. Better save some of the old ones.

This is the time of year to beautify your cemeteries. The Herald calls attention to two of its advertisers who solicit your trade in tombstones.

The chance for another good Market Day is favorable. But that should not prevent the committee in charge from putting in a lot of energy to ensure its being the very best possible. No laying back and trusting to the record begun to make it a success. People got an idea of what was to be done the last time and they should be on hand now to provide a lot of marketable stuff. And they will if we let them know that the institution is to be continued with energy. Already a number of people have signified their intention of being on hand with salable material and others will no doubt come in later. But to make the market an entire success the committee should make an effort to list a large amount of stuff. Let them list the material already ensured for the day and tell the public where to list other property. Only yesterday we were requested to tell where the clerk of the Market Day lives, who he was and some other matters of like interest.

Fourth of July celebrations are to be numerous this year. Already Sandy has signified its intention to be patriotic and there are other places of the same notion. But Gresham has promised to celebrate this year and must make good. It must out-do its previous record. Last year's celebration was a success, but this must be better. More music, more speaking, more attractions.

Portland people are delighted over the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision this week opening the Portland gateway. This is a ruling Portland has long contended for and the victory is regarded as an important one. Its chief significance will mean a free interchange of passenger traffic at Portland between the Hill and Harriman lines. This is bound to increase the travel of eastern visitors to the coast through that city for at present travelers coming through Portland bound either to or from the Sound, must re-check their baggage and buy new tickets here. This is inconvenient and has often deterred passengers from coming to this city. The decision means that through tickets must be sold via Portland, a thing the Hill lines have hitherto maintained should not be required of them as it gave the long haul to the Harriman roads. The Hill roads are expected to appeal the case to the Supreme Court.

GRANGE NEWS
Multnomah Grange met in their hall at Orient on May 22nd in all-day session with a good attendance. The forenoon was taken up with business, two applications for membership being received. The Grange has bought four new alcohol lamps to light the upper hall with. A number of members have bought lamps and irons and speak very highly of them. Alcohol is here to stay.
After dinner an hour was spent with the lecturer in an interesting and instructive program. Several good essays were read and discussed and all went home feeling that the day had been well spent.

A Family Reunion.
A Leeton, Mo., paper has the following to say about a family reunion, members of which are well known in Gresham:
"There was a family reunion at the home of Uncle Hugh Epperson Sunday last. The event was in honor of the three brothers of Mrs. Epperson, namely: W. G., John A. and R. L. Cathey. The two former went west many years ago. Wm. G. to Oregon in 1853 and John A. to California in 1860.
The meeting Sunday was remarkable from the fact that it was at the old Cathey homestead and was more highly enjoyed by the brothers and sister by its being their first meeting in over 50 years. To assemble around the festal board at the place of one's birth by brothers and sister who have attained the age of these good people is a privilege accorded to few. The combined ages of the four aggregate 283 years. Mr. Wm. G. is the eldest, he being 75. John A. comes next with 74 years, R. L. 65, and the sister, Mrs. Hugh Epperson, 68.
The two brothers who went west so many years ago will spend the summer here with their sister and brother who have continuously resided in this vicinity.
Besides those mentioned above quite a number of others partook of the fine spread prepared by Mrs. Epperson and daughters, Misses Annie and Fannie, and enjoyed the hospitality so prevalent in this family. They were Mrs. Laura Epperson and family, Jessie Epperson and wife, Lufe Epperson and wife, Geo. Cathey, Harry Jerome and wife and Rev. Neufus.
The afternoon was spent in conversation and music, both vocal and instrumental, furnished by Rev. G. N. Neufus, pastor of the First Baptist church of Leeton, Harry Jerome, J. H. Epperson and wife and Miss Fannie Epperson.
The two brothers who recently came here to visit and attend the reunion have prospered and are good citizens of the far west. We wish them a very pleasant sojourn here and a safe return to their homes."

There has recently been established at Yale university a professorship that is significant of a marked change of sentiment in the United States touching a preservation of our forest areas. This is the endowment with $50,000 worth of lumber company bonds a chair of applied forestry and practical lumbering. The innovation seems to have a special significance in view of the fact that the endowment for the new chair is furnished by a class who in the past more than all others combined have been responsible for the deplorable and almost complete denuding of the forest areas of the country. Much good should come from the establishment of such a professorship, and other colleges should follow the lead of the Yale school.

A move has recently been inaugurated in the Texas Panhandle which it is hoped may spread to other sections of the country and tend to check the threatening congestion of hordes of foreigners in the large cities of the country. It is, in brief, the colonization of Italian immigrants in the country along the Rock Island railway in Texas. A commission appointed by the Italian government made a thorough investigation of the country in question and reported favorably upon the proposition of inducing Italian citizens to locate in the agricultural portions of the state. It is to be hoped that this is the dawning of a new era both as touching the congestion of population in large centers of the country and a development of rural portions of the country.
The Iowa state highway commission has lately issued a bulletin entitled "Road and Bridge Improvements For the Year 1907," which is at once practical and helpful. It contains careful directions telling how to make and use the King road drag and how to properly manipulate the steel grader and takes up the matter of proper drainage of the highways preparatory to doing other road work, as well as the repairing of wooden culverts and the construction of steel bridges with concrete abutments. The commission also stands ready to furnish standard plans and specifications for bridges and culverts and to aid supervisors and township trustees in all ways that they can. The cause of good roads the country over would be greatly advanced were all state boards of this character to cooperate as fully with the local highway authorities.

She was a woman, worn and thin, whom the world condemned for a single sin. They cast her out of the king's highway, and passed her by as they went to pray. He was a man and more to blame. Beneath his feet he saw her lie, and raised his head and past her by. They were the people who went to pray, at temple of God on the holy day; they scorned the woman, forgave the man, 'twas ever thus since the world began. Time passed on and the woman died, on the cross of shame she was crucified; but the world was stern and would not yield and they buried her in the potters' field. The man died too, and they buried him in a casket of cloth with a silver rim, and said as they turned from the grave away, we have buried a noble man today. Two martyrs knocked at heaven's gate; stood face to face to inquire their fate. He carried a passport with an earthly sign, but she a pardon from love divine. O ye who dodge 'twixt virtue and vice, which think ye entered Paradise? Not he whom the world said would win, for the woman alone entered in.—Selected.

Whooping Cough.
This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Parinaud's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Dr. Albert McKeig of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by Gresham Drug Co.
