Bend had a Fourth of July celebration that was probably the most unique in the country because of one feature, a trout barbecue. There are numerous places in the state that could duplicate it, probably, but where throughout the East could such a place be held? Bend had about 3500 trout served to those in attendance, which is certainly a splendid advertisement of Oregon's attractions as a fisherman's paradise.

When you advertise in The Herald you reach the buying class throughout eastern Multnomah county.
