Mrs. Leslie and her daughter, Mrs. Hevel, go to their cottage at Seaside on Saturday.

Ed Slierit and wife left this morning for some cool spot far from the evil influences of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Cathey are rejoicing over the nine pound boy who came to them a few days ago at their home in Seattle.

At the Commercial Club meeting last Tuesday night many important matters were considered. Those owning property fronting on Powell and Main streets had advanced the money for the macadamizing of the streets the full width in the business part of town. R. R. Carlson and Ford Metzger were appointed a committee to report the matter to the county court. It is thought now to be certain that the court will order the crushed rock the full width of the street.

The Club desires to publish a small descriptive circular, setting forth the resources and opportunities of Eastern Multnomah county and showing Gresham's favored location in the center of this rich, favored locality. To get the best descriptive article the Club voted to appropriate $5.00 as a prize for the best article sent in. The contest is open to any one. The article to be not over 1500 words, all articles to become the property of the club. The members of the Committee on Publicity will be judges. The articles to be in the hands of the Club for their meeting on Tuesday night, Aug. 24.

not present this time, will find it convenient to join them.
Pleasant Valley Aug. 8, 1909.

Those senators and congressmen holding down the grange's demands for parcels post, postal savings banks and the grange good roads bill will never have any monuments raised by popular subscription, says the National Stockman.

How to Preserve a Brass Bedstead.
A good brass bed should only be dusted with a soft clean cheesecloth and must never have brass polish used on it. So treated it should keep its luster for years. When it has grown dull and dark about the only remedy is relacquering, which costs from $5 upward, according to the size of the bed. Be careful not to let coal gas get a chance at your brass furniture and do not keep the windows up over the bed on a very damp or rainy day. When the brass seems to be moist it should at once be wiped off with the cheesecloth or silk duster.
