Limit Your Spending

—and SAVE the balance. That is a better way to get a start than to limit your saving and SPEND the balance.

Why You Should Carry an Account with the First State Bank

- BECAUSE —your money is safer in the Bank than anywhere else.
- BECAUSE —a bank account teaches, helps and encourages you to save, so as to increase your balance.
- BECAUSE —paying bills by check is the simplest and most convenient method as well as the safest. Your check becomes a receipt for the bill it has paid.
- BECAUSE —you can frequently save a tiresome trip by mailing a check.

ONLY FOUR DAYS UNTIL BIG FAIR

Gresham's Big Annual Fair and Festival Will Soon
Open its Gates.

It is requested that entries for live-stock shall be made on Friday so the stock can be held over Saturday, even Sunday, if possible.

The Gresham band will furnish music for the fair. It may not be generally known that the Gresham band has been under the instruction of Portland's crack band leader for the past summer, but such is true. Mr. Rosebrook has been doing double service all summer—leading the Portland band in all the open air concerts given at the parks on Sundays and of evenings and spending at least one day a week with the Gresham boys. They have also the advantage of a lot of instruments of the latest pattern and of the best quality. The boys deserve a better treatment than they have been getting, from all directions. But that is perhaps due to the fact that few of us appreciate what a good thing we have right at home. They are a pretty good looking lot, too, when you get them in uniform.

A man came into the secretary's office Monday and put down $10 for two shares and a season ticket. He then said he wanted to work out a few more shares. We would like to hear from some other in the same way.

J. E. Windle of the poultry department says he expects 350 pure bred birds to be in place at the Gresham fair. He has a number of special prizes.

Indications are that a herd of eastern Oregon range horses will be on the ground, to sell and to break—genuine sport with a reasonable excuse for it.

If you should be glancing your way along the Midway at the big annual fair held in this city, October 13-17, and your ears should be assailed with soul-piercing shrieks in a high feminine key and hearty laughter in a heavy bass, do not for a moment think that a murder is being perpetrated. Far be it from such. Only a party of joy-makers are on pleasure bent and have invaded the modern fun factory, the Crazy House, more appropriately named the Merry Widow Cottage.

E. L. Thompson, the inventor of outside amusements along mechanical lines and an authority on this subject, unhesitatingly declares that the Merry Widow Cottage is the peer of all mechanical amusement devices when it comes to making the public enjoy themselves. This modern laugh-maker is one of the latest and most heavily patronized of amusement features throughout the country, this year being the first season outside of New York City. As an evidence of its popularity, the press and pulpit heartily acclaim the Crazy House one of the most meritorious features with the big Arnold Combined Shows, which aggregation furnishes the amusements at the fall fair held here under the auspices of the Grange Fair Association.

Thrilling free acts will be presented by the high salaried artists employed by the Arnold aggregation to entertain those attending the races in the afternoons. On the Midway in the evenings special feature attractions will be presented that will please the most fastidious as well as those who are looking for the thrillers that make the cold chills race along your spine and cause the small boy to try divers and sundry stunts in the hay mow upon his arrival at the paternal grounds upon his return after a few days at the big annual fair.

An item of extreme interest exhibited by the Venetian Glassblowers will be an engine constructed solely of glass and run under its own steam. This skillful piece of mechanical ingenuity was constructed by F. A. Owen during leisure hours and it is safe to say that its equal would be hard to duplicate to order. Every individual part of this intricate machine was constructed entirely by hand, no other assistance being used other than a blow fire and a pair of glassblower tweezers. Mr. Owen has refused a cash offer of $5000 for this mechanical wonder. The exhibition put up by the Owen duo consists of spinning, weaving, braiding, engraving and nitting glass. The best part of this particular exhibition is that every person attending is presented with a souvenir, absolutely free of cost. These souvenirs presented are all made by the glassblowers for the edification of the audience.

GRANGE NEWS

Evening Star Grange had a large attendance at their meeting on Saturday, Oct. 2, despite the fact that President Taft was in town, there being over 200 present. There were many visitors, both members of the Grange and those who were not.

Initiation and business was transacted during the morning session. At dinner, which was a fine one, Worthy Chaplain J. G. Kelley, was pleasantly surprised with a fine birthday cake.

Mrs. H. L. Vail, assisted by the Worthy Pomona, Mrs. Jennie Smith, had charge of the program. Mrs. Smith read a paper on the "Significance of Pomona in the Grange."

"Offerings to Pomona" were made by several little girls from the Juvenile Grange.

Vocal duets by Mesdames J. E. and C. O. Windle.

Reading, "Planting of the Apple Tree," by Mrs. E. A. Niblin.

Instrumental music, Carl Prior.

Essay, "My trip to California," by Nora Holm of the Juvenile Grange. It was very interesting.

Paper, "Autumn's Offerings," by Miss Julia Spooner.

C. A. Chapman, an assistant editor of the Oregonian, wrote a very fine paper on the "Guarantee of Bank Deposits." He was unable to be present to read it so it was read by Mrs. Elizabeth Hayhurst. He advocated the enacting of such a law and said it had been a success when tried. The opposite side was taken by B. Lee Paget who stated that there were other means of protecting the depositors than by assessing all innocent and well managed banks to pay for the mismanagement or dishonesty of others. Remarks were made along these lines by F. E. Beach and R. C. Wright.

Ordinance No. 45.

AN ORDINANCE prohibiting the keeping of animals at a distance less than twenty-five feet from any residence.

Be it ordained by the Common Council of the town of Gresham:

Section I. It is hereby made unlawful for any person to own, maintain, or allow any pigpen, cowyard, barn or chickenyard within the corporate limits of the town of Gresham at a distance less than twenty-five feet from the residence of any person.

Section II. Any person violating this ordinance shall, upon conviction be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars.

Attest:
D. M. ROBERTS, LEWIS SHATTUCK,
Recorder. Mayor pro tem.

Homesteaders are rushing into the wheat sections of central and southern Oregon and filing on homesteads. Autos are used in some instances. There will soon be no more land open to homestead that has any prospect of enabling a family to make a living from it. Will the people of Oregon then submit to the exactions of the holders of vacant land as they do in Europe? Not one-tenth of the land in Oregon is used.

The temperature of Egypt is gradually being lowered, owing to the irrigation of the country.

Mrs. E. E. Shepard to Lecture.

The ladies of the local W. C. T. U. are expecting a treat next Friday and Saturday nights in the form of an address from Mrs. E. E. Shepard, state president of the W. C. T. U. for Utah. Mrs. Shepard comes with a long list of recommendations among which we note the following:

"Mrs. Shepard is a forceful and convincing speaker. She showed most decidedly what the streets are and how men have made them so. The point was a most telling one and for a five minute speech was one of the brightest and strongest we have ever heard.—Tremonton (Utah) Times.

She comes direct from the W. C. T. U. State Convention at Hood River. All are invited to hear this most able speaker at the Methodist church, Friday and Saturday nights, October 8th and 9th, at 7:30 p. m. Free to everybody.

Astoria has one sawmill with a payroll of $16,000 a month, and there are several others. Its manufacturing industries are constantly increasing and that is why its hillsides are becoming valuable. People must live on the land in Astoria, and the hillsides offer beautiful residential sites for those who labor and build homes. Manufacturing and shipping industries make goat pastures worth millions.

More public clocks are displayed in New York than in London and Paris combined.

You can get all kinds of mill feed at the mill at Fairview.
