EDITORIAL COMMENT

CRUEL and inhuman practices are alleged in a statement given out today by the National Association for the Study and the Prevention of Tuberculosis against the eastern doctors who persist in sending dying cases of consumption to the Southwest. Fully 7,180 persons hopelessly diseased with tuberculosis annually come to die in the states of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Colorado, most of them by order of their physicians. The statement, which is based upon the testimony of well-known experts and all available statistics, shows that at least 50 per cent of those who go to the Southwest every year for their health are so far advanced in their disease, that they cannot hope for a cure in any climate, under any circumstances. More than this, at least 60 per cent of these advanced cases are so poor that they have not sufficient means to provide for the proper necessities of life, which means that 4,315 consumptives are either starved to death or forced to accept charitable relief every year.

It is not an uncommon thing, the National Association declares, for whole families, who can hardly eke out a living in the East, to migrate to the West in the hope of saving the life of some member of the family. In most instances the abject poverty of such cases forces them to beg or to live on a very low level. Often consumptives who cannot afford the proper traveling accommodations are found dead on the trains before reaching their destination. The resources of almost every charitable organization in the Southwest are drained every year to care for cases which would be self-supporting in their Eastern homes. It cost, on an average, at least $50 per month for the support of a consumptive in the Southwest, including some medical attention. The National Association strongly urges no one to go to this section who has not sufficient funds to care for himself at least one year, in addition to what his family might require of him during this time. It is also urged that no persons who are far advanced with tuberculosis go to so distant a climate.

Consumption can be cured, or arrested in any section of the United States, and the percentage of cures in the East and the West is nearly the same. Any physician, therefore, who sends a person to the Southwest without sufficient funds or in an advanced or dying stage of the disease, is guilty of cruelty to his patient. Renewed efforts are being made to stop this practice and to encourage the building of small local hospitals in every city and town of the country. Attempts are also being made in Southern California and in Texas to exclude indigent consumptives or to send them back to the East.

ALMOST everybody in the country have seen the President and everyone who saw him was impressed by his fine, common sense, yet impressive personality. That the President is a man of great social tendencies is evident to every citizen. Consider the duties that were pressed upon him in our own state, and yet he left giving the impression that Portland is the one place on the trip that he regretted to leave—at least that is what the Portlanders think. He probably will be, as much pleased with Frisco, New Orleans, St. Louis, Atlanta and a number of eastern cities. Not that he is a hypocrite, but that each locality will construe his remarks as especially favorable. That will be a happy effect and the high regard due the office of president is rendered far more intense and the influence he may exert is increased fourfold. Have you considered what this trip means? No other ruler of modern times has undertaken such a tour—at least 10,000 miles—and on that trip he will meet one-tenth of the people in the country and whether of the same political view or not, his personality is generally admired. Another impressive feature of this is the simple manner in which it is being conducted. No noise; no special heralds; no mounted guard. Just an ordinary procession, no more elaborate than the Fourth of July parade or some carnival with one or two special service men in view. Compare this with the movement of some foreign potentate from one palace to another or on a visit to a bordering state. It takes several trains, with baggage, servants, advisers, secret service men, a small army and expense that will run into the six figures. Taft's trip will not cost the government to exceed $25,000, probably. Its influence for National harmony will be worth ten times that, not to mention other advantages to be gained.

More than Enough is too Much.

To maintain health, a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be all right again. For sale by Gresham Drug Co.
