RIVETERS ARE NOW AT WORK

Forces Increased to Hasten Work on Pipeline—Miles of Big Ditch Dug.

The Schuss-Batcher company and the several sub-contractors on the pipeline appear to be redoubling their energies with a view to getting as much work as possible done before the rainy season begins. The big pipes are arriving faster than they can haul them and their yard here is overcrowded with carloads of pipe sections laid at various places. There are now probably 250 joints in the yard and between 900 and 1000 have been hauled out, most of them to the standpipe near the top of Lusted hill. Only a few joints have been taken across the Sandy river bridge.

Near Lusted the steam shovel, with quite a force of men, is rapidly scooping out the ditch, and a riveting gang is ready to begin work at this point. Along the level stretch of road just below Lusted grade the ditch has been dug and pipe is being laid.

The contractors have staked quite a barrier at the Sandy river. It was found that the county bridge was too weak to allow the heavy loads of pipe to be hauled across, and the bridge is being braced to withstand the heavy strain of teams and autos. The pipes will be conveyed across on a tramway constructed on the pipeline bridge, and by the same means on up the steep hill. From this point it is seven miles up to the Headworks. About three miles of the ditch has been dug along this distance and the Italian contractors, who have this part of the job, hope to have the excavation finished for the whole distance before winter. It is a big task but many men with teams and picks and shovels are making rapid headway. Good use is being made of dynamite to loosen the soil.

J. H. Hoss went through last Saturday to the headworks taking up a load of shingles for the Portland Water Board. He says it will be a very difficult haul from the Sandy river to the headworks. As it takes about 180 pipes to a mile it will be seen that it will be quite a task to distribute the pipe along this part of the thirty mile ditch.

The big Case traction engine is the only engine now handling pipe. It makes two trips, running night and day. Besides the many four horse teams, the two auto trucks are making an average of about five trips each in the twenty-four hours. Two other trucks have arrived and are being fitted out to haul pipe, tile, rivets or other material.

Andrew Hendrickson

Died at his home on the Section Line road August the 9th. He was born in 1841 in Denmark and was married in 1866 to Miss Christine Neilson. Three children blessed their union, two sons and one daughter, the latter dying some years since. One son, Peter, resides in Wisconsin and the other, Anton, with whom deceased made his home, resides on the Section Line road. Mr. Hendrickson came to Oregon from Wisconsin five years ago and had lived in America for 28 years.

His death came as a frightful shock to his family. Tuesday noon, while working near the farm he was seen to stagger and fall and when his son reached his side death had claimed the best loved member of the Hendrickson family. Heart failure ended a kind, useful life and left vacant grandpa's chair in the pleasant home and where his untimely passing will long shadow their home. His widow and her family have the sympathy of the whole neighborhood, and the beautiful floral offerings and large attendance at the funeral testified to the high esteem and deserving respect in which deceased was held by all who knew him. The burial was in Gresham cemetery and the service was conducted by Rev. Scott of the Danish Lutheran church of Portland.

FOREST FIRE IN THE BLAZE

Sweeps territory Near to Gresham Mrs. J. Straus is Severely Burned

1500 CORDS OF WOOD BURNED FATAL RESULTS ARE FEARED

Miles of Fence Burned Body and Limbs Badly Many Still in Danger Fire-fighting Still Continues

Forest fire started Wednesday about four miles from Gresham and before it could be turned in its course had consumed 1500 cords of wood and many thousands of dollars worth of timber.

The fire started up suddenly and came from the direction of the Bahl farm near Anderson station. It soon surrounded the neighborhood of Wm. Anderson, the Lundeen, O. Andrews and several Japanese wood contractors. The terrified farmers took immediate action for the salvation of their property and in a short time fully 200 men were on the scene and set to work to put a damper on the fire furnace. As stiff breeze was blowing and fanning the flames the fire traveled with the rapidity of a race-horse and in a short space of time it seemed the whole country was on fire. The fire fighters worked tirelessly to save the endangered property but the large piles of cordwood owned by Geo. Kunitake, a Japanese was ablaze and despite the efforts of the rescue party was reduced to ashes. Many rods of fence on the Lundeen farm was burned, but the nearby building were saved.

The fire still burned fiercely and the fire fighters worked Wednesday night, having the fire practically under control yesterday morning.

A large fire is burning in the woods near O. Andrews' place, situated on the butte near Anderson and yesterday it was feared this property might also be the scene of a conflagration.

FATAL RESULTS ARE FEARED

Body and Limbs Badly Burned—Clothing is Entirely Burned Great Sufferer

Boring, August 19.—(Special)—Mrs. J. Straus was severely burned yesterday while tending clearing fires at her home near Cottrell.

There were several piles of logs burning on a clearing near their buildings and Mrs. Straus was guarding the fires to keep them from spreading. In some mysterious way her clothes caught fire and soon she was enveloped in flame. She was badly burned about the head and hands and is in a very critical condition. Mrs. Straus is the wife of John Straus, a well known sawmill man of eastern Multnomah.

Doc Hite's barn was burned to the ground Thursday night, having caught fire from slashings in the neighborhood. The barn was located about three miles east of Boring. The barn was worth about $1000 and contained some hay. It was a total loss.

FIRE NOW BEYOND ALL CONTROL

Late advices from the forest fire are to the effect that the fire which was practically under control, has broken out anew and is worse than ever. It is traveling south from Andersons and all the farmers in that section are greatly in danger and are all out fighting the flames. Aid may be asked from the authorities.

WEST SECTION LINE

Wm. Nagle sustained a bad kick from one of his horses lately making a break in his usefulness in this busy time of the year.

Master Freddie Raber of Portland is a guest at Arnsperger Lodge for a few weeks.

Threshing has been the rage in our neighborhood this week. Messrs. Jones and Stanley have been doing the work for the farmers.

Garnet McCartney, while driving on the Base Line road was run into by an automobile which made a century run for parts unknown. Young McCartney escaped injury, though the buggy was demolished, the harness stripped from the horse but not injuring the animal. The wrecking machine went off so fast that the number could not be taken.

Some time ago Mr. Wilbur of the Base Line road was thrown from his wagon by one of those "death dealing" machines and has been laid up ever since with an injured back.

Sunday between 12 and 1 o'clock, while returning from church, a wagon containing nearly the entire family of the Dollowichs was run into from the rear by a car containing one man and five women. Most miraculously none of the family were injured but the horse is badly hurt and may have to be shot to end its sufferings. The wheels and thills of the wagon were bent and broken and gave the family a shock long to be remembered. The car was number 1306 and was driven by a Dr. Cummings of Portland. The car ran through the wire fence on the public place and shattered the glass front to the auto. The matter has not yet been settled. Several reliable witnesses saw the accident and can prove that the wagon was on the right side of the road.

The Measure of Achievement is not the size of one's income. That may be only the measure of one's extravagance. The real Measure of Achievement is the DIFFERENCE between your income and your outgo. A SINGLE DOLLAR by itself seems a trifle, yet it is the collective effect of many single dollars SPENT that holds so many men down to the dead level of mediocrity, and the collective power of many single dollars SAVED that is lifting others to SUCCESS.

The man who despises a single dollar seldom commands a thousand.
