

MOUNT SCOTT

One of the saddest accidents that ever befell this part of the county occurred last Saturday evening when the home of J. E. Windle was destroyed by fire and his infant child was burned to death. Miss Ellis, a relative of Mrs. Windle, was also fatally burned and died in the hospital a few hours later. The house and contents was a complete loss. Miss Ellis filled a lamp with gasoline instead of coal oil, the exploding of which caused the fire. Miss Ellis was buried in Gresham Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Windle have the sympathy of a large circle of friends who feel for them in their losses. The funeral of Miss Ellis was attended by her former classmates of the Gresham schools, and by relatives from Corbett.

One of the things that is creating quite a noiseless stir just now is an investigation of the conduct of the road boss and his men who are working east of Lents now. It is reported that the boss has the men all organized so that each contributes to a booze fund and that demijohn is kept on tap all of the time. It is said that a driver recently lost his job because he declined to contribute to the fund. At any rate the boss spends a considerable portion of his time at the road houses a couple of miles from his work and the men run the business themselves. It is a wonder what a lot of time can be spent in constructing a small piece of road.

The meeting of the Lents grange was well attended last Saturday. A good attendance of the lecturers and masters turned out and a number of other persons were also present. Several persons were called upon to discuss political matters and quite a discussion was entered into in regard to the construction of roads and their preservation. The masters' and lecturers' conference proved to be a profitable one and several matters will be proposed for the consideration of the county grange which meets at Orient next week.

Lents schools begin this year with 620 children enrolled and others yet to be reported. Eighteen teachers will assist in the search for education in the temple of learning and there is not room for all of them to work at one time and some of them are working half shifts. This will continue for a couple of weeks when the new building will be ready to care for six rooms. The new building is an exceptionally fine one. The inside finishing is being done in beautiful colors and the arrangements of rooms, cupboards, other conveniences will make teaching at Lents a privilege that will popularize the district with all the teachers in the city.

The board meeting of the Grange Hall association met Monday evening but did not accomplish much owing to the absence of the secretary.

W. R. McDowell left Tuesday morning for Atlantic City, New Jersey, to attend the annual encampment of the Sons of Veterans. Mr. McDowell is the representative from Oregon and California departments. He will spend about a month in the East.

Not many know that Lents has the largest organization. But such is true. The post has grown excellently, and offers a fine point for those persons who wish to unite with such an organization. New members are taken in almost every meeting.

If sleeping, wake; if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate,
And they who follow me reach every state
Morals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death. But those who doubt or hesitate,
Condemned to failure, penury, or woe,
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore.
I answer not. LEAVE IT TO FOX.
