O. O. Cone of Portland, who bought the James McKinney property in Thompson addition some time ago, has built a house and moved his family out last week.

The revival meetings have closed after two weeks of good work. Evangelist Phelps was assisted by Rev. Bishop. Mr. Phelps has gone to his home at Dallas, Oregon, for a much needed rest.

Carl Wirtz is employed in the Portland Railway, Light and Power Co., general offices at 7th and Alder street, Portland. Carl seems to have a stand in with the company, as he has had several promotions.

Employees of the pipe line contractors were looking over the Odd Fellows building Thursday morning with the view of preparing to prop up the building while putting the new pipe under the southwest corner.

J. H. Eakin of Portland was out this week to call on J. H. Hoss and family. Mr. Eakin is an old time friend who, having moved, they had lost trace of for the past fifteen years. Mr. Eakin expects to invest in eighty acres near Gresham.

The local telephone company has just finished the work of stringing a third circuit to Sandy. So many subscribers have been added out there that the two former circuits were overloaded and relief was necessary. The distance is fifteen miles.

Several carloads of alfalfa hay is being shipped into this vicinity from Eastern Oregon. It may even be had in Gresham at several dollars per ton less than the cost of home grown clover or timothy. It is said to be a splendid fodder for cows and several dairymen are experimenting with it to see what the results will be.

Not much over a mile more of grading will allow of rail laying on the Mount Hood so as to make through connection between the Troutdale branch and Lusteda. The incomplete part is from the Buoy place to Pleasant Home, a great portion of which is nearly ready but lacks finishing up. The steam derrick is working on that portion of the roadbed.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. William Dean was received here last week. Mrs. Dean will be remembered by her many friends as a woman of great sweetness and nobility of character. Mrs. Dean spent nearly two years here at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. S. Culy. She was at her daughter's in South Bend, Indiana, at the time of her death.

Joel Emily, who was a student at the Oregon agricultural college from Troutdale, Multnomah county, graduated in '09, has recently returned from British Columbia, where he was engaged in mining operations with David Little, an '07 graduate of the college. Mr. Emily, who was the famous all north-west end of the championship football team of '08 is now instructor in mathematics at the Hill military academy.

The Misses Ethel and Olive Merrill honored their mother's 50th birthday by a surprise party. The evening was very pleasantly spent with cards and music. An adjourned meeting of the Gresham District Commercial club will be held in Odd Fellows hall tonight. A large attendance is assured as many more names have been added to the charter list. The committee reports will be interesting. Everyone is invited to be present.

The people of the Baptist church are planning some changes in the near future if everything goes as they expect. They will erect a new church building and move the present building onto the west end of their property. They will give the present building and lease the ground it will then be on to a Y. M. C. A. for a gymnasium.

One of the best organized institutions in our town is the Library association. Gresham's library plan is a model for other towns which may be contemplating the establishment of a library. The plan of getting everybody in town interested as a member of the association is eminently practical and proves to be a strong inducement for library patronage. A recent report shows an attendance of 1,611, of whom 1,000 were adults, and that too in one month—February. The total circulation of books for the month ran to 1,561.

Birthday Party

Last Saturday evening a delightful birthday surprise party was given in honor of Miss Bessie Howitt by nineteen of her friends and classmates. They spent a very pleasant evening with games and music and at a late hour refreshments were served. Miss Ruth Niblin of Montavilla, a cousin of Miss Howitt's, came out for the occasion.

Mt. Scott Bank of Lents Goes Under

The people of Lents were considerably shaken up last Saturday evening by the closing of the Mt. Scott bank at that place. Several things that had occurred within the last few days previous that had kept people guessing. Extra men were on hand looking over the accounts and there seemed to be a slowness in cashing checks. By Saturday morning things looked serious and by the middle of the afternoon the bank officials finally admitted that the bank would close its doors. The state bank examiner took charge and since that time the officials have had nothing to do with the matter. A meeting of depositors was called Sunday. About fifty were present. It was decided that they would ask for a receiver, and that a committee would be required to look after the affairs of the bank and depositors. By vote of the depositors present it was decided to recommend E. P. Tobin as the choice of the stockholders. The committee, composed of Fred Katzky, and Messrs. Carter and Peterson seem to have gotten busy at once. They went to the city the next morning, secured legal advice, went before the court and the judge gave a willing ear to their complaint. The officers of the bank wanted to have an agent appointed who should settle the matter up. Then Mr. Meyers, president of the defunct concern, wanted to make a contract with the committee to pay half of the amount against the bank within the next four months and the balance within six months, if the collections came as they should. This was too indefinite to suit the committee. They urged a safer method and as a result Mr. Tobin was appointed.

It is said by some that the assets of the bank will exceed the liabilities, being about $35,000 against $25,000. There are about 200 depositors. It is also said that considerable of the banks investments are bad and that the assets will not show up as well as it is reported.

One of the worst features of the affair is that the officials had been withholding payment on a large number of small checks, at the same time taking in cash, when they knew things were in a critical shape. There is some talk of suits against the president on this account. It is plainly against the law for a bank to accept deposits after it has become insolvent.

Most of the deposits are small sums. Many working people live in this section of Portland and it will prove a great hardship on everyone concerned.

Saint Patrick Dance

Rockwood grange will give its next dance on Saturday evening, March 18, in honor of St. Patrick. Richard's orchestra, as usual, will furnish the music and a grange supper will be served. Tickets to dance, $1.00; supper extra. Everybody welcome, except undesirable who will not be sold tickets, nor allowed in the hall.

GRESHAM OUTLOOK NEW VENTURE

Semi-Weekly Paper Launched to Supply City's "Ingrowing" Needs.

H. L. St. Clair and E. S. Smith, both former employes of the Herald, "responded to the popular demand for a wide-awake local newspaper" by issuing the first number of the Gresham Outlook on Friday last. The former gentleman will pilot the craft as editor and Mr. Smith will look after the advertising management.

The paper is a six-column folio, just half the size of the Herald, and will appear on Tuesdays and Fridays as long as the boys are willing and the subscribers and advertisers are disposed to furnish the meal tickets. The columns are well filled with advertising that presages a healthy future and indicates that the proprietors have begun with the support of "careful and progressive business men who have had the opportunity to observe the influence of a newspaper on a community." The publisher says he has it from these men that "Gresham is an inviting field" that will no doubt supply all the necessary financial aid. The subscription price has been placed at $1.50 per year. The display type is all of the Cheltenham style and the mechanical work is good. The editor states that politics will be laid on the shelf and that the paper will go gunning for bigger game such as "the good there is in men," keeping in view the important fact that "a newspaper is mainly a business enterprise."

Here's the fraternal hand to the Outlook and a wish that the paper may assist in making Gresham grow till there is plenty of room for two good local newspapers.

Grange Co-Operation

A co-operative association will be formed among the ten granges of Multnomah county. At the last meeting of Evening Star Grange, last Saturday, the subject was proposed by Past State Lecturer J. J. Johnson, his idea being to promote a better feeling among the membership of all the granges and eventually bring about an organization for the betterment of everyone in a closer bond of defense against the rapacity which all are exposed to by corporate interests. It is intended to promote the financial interests of the members as well as their social interests. It was proposed to have as many members of all the ten granges meet with each grange once a month, the first meeting to be with Gresham grange tomorrow, at which time the project will be more fully outlined and the organization perfected.

T. R. Howitt will give 5 cents a pound for beef cattle.
