EDITORIAL NOTES.

The most valuable consideration in placing an advertisement is the number of readers you can reach through the medium you are using. The Herald always has been, and it continues to be, the most widely read paper in eastern Multnomah and Clackamas Counties. Don't make a mistake by failing to consider this.

The Northwest is coming to be one of the great stock producing sections of the country. It is really surprising what a lot of finely bred animals are being reared in this comparatively new country. During this week a stock show has been in progress in Portland, at the Stock Yards which is remarkable for the large number of fine animals that are shown. Cattle, sheep, hogs, all have had their inning. Single individuals and carload lots, twos and threes, bunches and droves, might all have been seen. Those who live at home, to themselves, and who know nothing of the productions of their immediate state would do well to get out once in awhile and see what we have right here at hand. Two of the finest animals exhibited were a couple of four year old steers that pulled down just a ton each. Any number grass and hay fed cattle would have put the corn fed top priced of the middle west on the doubtful list had they been entertained here in competition with these well bred animals. We doubt if there is another section of the United States, of equal area, where the well bred animal is as highly appreciated as it is in Oregon, especially in the territory local to Portland.

Another matter that should be brought to our attention. We are so accustomed to have people brag on themselves that we often overlook a valuable fact because it seems to bear the earmarks of the advertiser. We have seen a considerable amount of reference to the modern stockyards and shipping facilities that have been constructed in North Portland, at Kenton within the last two years. It is worth while to make a trip over there just to see how these new improvements do look. They are commended by government experts who have the opportunity to see all the various facilities afforded in all the big cities of the country. They state emphatically that the Portland Live Stock Yards in plan and convenience are second to none in the country. They may not be so extensive, but they are the best adapted for the convenience of the public, for the comfort of the animals, and for the purpose of keeping them in a clean and healthful condition. Not only this, but the slaughtering of animals at best seems to be a sort of heartless affair. It has come to be recognized that the comfort of the animal immediately before being reduced to meat has a very important effect on the quality of the meat, and over and above this, the humanity of the situation has greater bearing than ever before. True enough these animals are to be sacrificed for our comfort and sustenance, but do we not still owe it to them to make their last living moments as comfortable as possible? These requirements seem to have been very largely in the mind of the persons who designed the Portland Live Stock yards.

A lot of people in this section of the country have been in a hurry to accept the best in sight—the proposed Canadian Reciprocity treaty. Now it may be a good thing to show appreciation by jumping at the first crumbs thrown our way, and yet would it not be better to wait for larger bait. Any way the bait that is coming to the farmer of this United States is exceedingly small. The large bait seems all to be prepared for the fellow who apparently does not much need it—the manufacturer who is already able to quote a much lower price than he now makes public to the citizens of this country, but which is quite well known across the lines, either north or south. To get an American made product at the best advantage, go either into Mexico or Canada and discount your home price from thirty to fifty percent. Now if it is possible to produce certain articles of common necessity at a figure that, additional freight added, can be delivered several hundred or a few thousand miles away for less than can get them in your town, is it not conclusively evidence that the local price is too high? What we will all eventually come to will be a tariff strictly for revenues only, for the regulation of all kinds is too complex for human ingenuity to ever accomplish.

Do you know that of all the minor ailments colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not the cold itself that you need to fear, but the serious diseases that it often leads to. Most of these are known as germ diseases. Pneumonia and consumption are among them. Why not take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and cure your cold while you can. For sale by all druggists.

Homesteads are being taken in large numbers, irrigation lands are being bought and new towns are building because of the rush of immigrants who are following the railroads into the interior. Train loads of supplies, building materials and agricultural implements are going in and the long delayed awakening of Central Oregon has arrived, after that section has lain dormant for ages awaiting the whistle of the locomotive.

Attacks School Principal
A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at all druggists.

Kills a Murderer
A merciless murderer is appendicitis with many victims, but Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing constipation, headache, biliousness, chills. 25c at all druggists.

A Fierce Night Alarm
Is the hoarse, starting cough of a child suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O., R. R. No. 2, for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Some times in severe attacks," he wrote, "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, hay fever, la grippe, whooping cough, hemorrhages fly before it. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Sold by all druggists.

Has Millions of Friends
How would you like to number your friends by millions as Bucklen's Arnica Salve does? Its astounding cures in the past forty years made them. Its the best salve in the world for sores, ulcers, eczema, burns, boils, scalds, cuts, corns, sore eyes, sprains, swellings, bruises, cold sores. Has no equal for piles. 25c at all druggists.

Juvenile Granges.
Juvenile granges are to be commended from every point of view, says the New York Farmer. Such granges will give the farm boys and girls much of the social charm that is said to be lacking in country life. Grange work will familiarize the youngsters with parliamentary practice, develop whatever oratorical and rhetorical gifts they possess, give them self possession, cultivate their self reliance and make them courteous, polite and intelligent young men and women. The grange has been of inestimable value to the farmers and their wives, and the juvenile granges will do for the children what the subordinate and Pomona granges have done for the parents.
