Come and help. Good music will be rendered.

WEST SECTION LINE

J. C. Buckley spent two days last week with friends in Middleton. Charles Wilson and wife were visitors among us from their new home in Corbett, Ore. Mrs. Wall and daughter Miss Celia have been ill with lagrippe the past week. The late hard frosts have not killed the fruit as was first supposed. It gave the early vegetables a hard rub however. The ten acre equity of M. C. George of Portland in the old Van Valch place was recently sold to a banker of Portland. Teams have been ploughing and a number of young trees have been planted by the new owners. In response to an invitation from Mrs. P. Shultz, sixteen little girls met on Saturday at her home to felicitate her youngest daughter Eva on her eighth birthday. Games on the lawn, a delicious luncheon crammed with the presentation of a souvenir easter basket, filled with colored eggs and candy and nuts to each playmate, and the young hostess made the day long to be remembered by her young guests. The Buckley school had a real sensation a few days ago in the visit to that institute of learning of the monkey belonging to the proprietors of the Seven Mile House. The monkey caused much merriment among the pupils jumping among the seats and finally falling into the drinking bucket. While doing a climbing stunt over head the boys succeeded in catching his collar with a wire and lowered him down into a gunny sack. The chattering ape grinned and fought but he was safely anchored into the sack and restored to his owners. He was first seen at Buckley Grove in the yard with eight young pigs with whom he was making a strenuous acquaintance.
