GRESHAM READY FOR NATAL DAY

The preparations now under way to give the best celebration ever yet seen at Gresham are getting well along towards completion. A full program of the day's proceedings will be found below and it will be found to be the most complete list of events ever shown in this part of the country. The only bad feature in the program will be the lack of an orator of the day, but that has been provided for in the shape of a good eulogist who will read several selections and there will be several musical selections and other features that will take the place of the oration. Special rates will be made over the railroads and the Mt. Hood road will have a schedule out that will provide plenty of service between here and Montavilla and Portland. Program as follows:

Wins Fight For Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run-down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's Discovery. But it has helped greatly. It is doing all that you claim." Guaranteed by Gresham druggists.

Kidneys and Macaroni.

 Break the macaroni into short pieces and cook in salted water till nearly tender. Slice the kidneys and toss them in a little dripping, with pepper, salt and some sweet herbs. Stew the kidneys very slowly in good gravy, then arrange on a hot dish with the macaroni. Scatter grated cheese over and brown in the oven.—National Grange Bulletin.

WHEN DADDY WAS A LITTLE BOY

By BETTY SACK.
 When daddy was a little boy
 All the little boys were good;
 And did just what their nurses
 And their parents said they should;
 And sometimes, when I'm naughty,
 He takes me on his knee
 And tells, when he was little,
 How good he used to be.
 He never stole a cherry tart,
 Or hid in passageway
 To "boo" at Jane as she came by
 With dishes on a tray;
 He never once put currant jam
 Where grandma'd probably sit,
 And when he fell and hurt himself
 He never cried a bit.
 He didn't pinch Aunt Lucky's legs
 When going up the stairs,
 He never told poor little Ted
 His bed was full of bears,
 He never kicked good Mary Ann
 Or hit her with a spade;
 I guess perhaps my daddy was
 The best boy ever made.

The woman of today who has good health, good temper, good sense, bright eyes and a lovely complexion, the result of correct living and good digestion, wins the admiration of the world. If your digestion is faulty Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct it. For sale by all druggists.

SANDY TO MAKE THE EAGLE SCREAM

The preparations that have been under way for several weeks to give Sandy a celebration this year the equal if not the superior of any in the country hereabouts are almost completed. Only one thing will prevent the day being ahead of anything this part of the woods has ever seen, namely, the weather. Despite the appreciation of the fine rains we have been having for some time everyone is hoping for a fine day on the Fourth. A committee has been busy for some time getting the grove ready and preparing the platforms and making ready in general for the occasion. The program of the day will provide for a lot of sports, speeches, and plenty of refreshments. Be sure to be on hand for the parade which will start at 9:30, proceeding to Meinig's Park. Miss Angeline Canning will read the Declaration of Independence, and Hon. Geo. C. Brownell will deliver the oration of the day. Then will come dinner. The Carrineville fifteen piece Brass Band will furnish the music. After dinner there will be horse races, pony races, foot races, and all sorts of races and matches for which liberal prizes will be offered. The people will be under the protection of the Sheriff's office, and Mike McCormack will act as officer of the day. Everybody goes early, has a good time, and stays while the fun lasts.

GOOD CHARTER LIST

C. R. Keller has succeeded in securing 118 names to the charter list for the new lodge to be established at Powell Valley as a subordinate of the American Society of Equity. All have paid their initiation fee which has been deposited in one of the Gresham banks. Mr. Keller proposes, after the organization is perfected at Powell Valley, to form another at Rockwood and Pleasant Valley and perhaps at other places. They will all work together in promoting the interests of the members in the sale of produce by establishing a business center in Portland.

BUILDING WAITING ROOMS

The Mount Hood Railway is building waiting rooms at several of the most important crossings. At Craswell's Junction will be 100x40 feet. As that place seems to be destined for the branch to the power house at Bull Run the company is preparing for more business there than at other points. The stations are all being built about 200 feet from the road crossings so as to allow space for sidings when needed. Most of them will be in readiness by the time regular traffic is begun between Portland and Bull Run.

THE TARIFF FRAUD

An American who has settled in the Australian province of Victoria, a man of high rank in the engineering profession, sends an item of information which ought to interest American voters. It is as follows:
 "The unspeakable fraud and rascality of the tariff shows more plainly here (in Australia) than at home. I bought some hay making tools last week. They are manufactured at Springfield, Ohio.

To get here they travel more than half way around the world, pay 5 per cent duty and the agent's commission, yet I get them for 1-3 less than the Ohio price."
 "That is the kind of protection the Ohio farmer votes himself."
 "Owing to our rapid growth the state works could not build locomotives fast enough. Twenty were bought in America and twenty in England, all made after Victorian design. The American engines are cheaper than the British by 15 per cent. Why then should the Baldwin works be protected?"

Spiced Crab Apples.

Wash the crab apples, cut out the blossom end with a silver knife. To four pounds of fruit take two pounds of sugar, one pint of vinegar, one heaping teaspoon each of broken stick cinnamon, cassia buds and whole all-spice, add one scant tablespoon whole cloves.
 Tie the spices in a thin bag and boil with vinegar and sugar five minutes. Skim, then add the apples and simmer slowly until tender, which will take from 10 to 15 minutes. Skim out the apples, putting them in a large bowl or jar. Boil the syrup five minutes longer and pour over the fruit. Next day drain off the syrup, heat to the boiling point and pour again over the apples. Do this for the next two days, then bottle and seal while hot.

Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern that the Mount Hood Railway Power Company is about to pay to E. H. Haggood the balance due from said Company to said Haggood on account of grading of crossings performed by said Haggood under contract with the said Company in the construction of its railroad, and any and all persons having a claim or claims against said Haggood which constitutes a lien against said railroad or property of the said Company are hereby notified and required to present the same to said Company at its office in the Lewis Building, in the City of Portland, Oregon, on or before the 24th day of June, 1911.

WILSON FAVORS INITIATIVE

During the congressional debates on the Arizona constitution one of the favorite unfair methods of the tory side was to quote the writings of Woodrow Wilson. Until a year ago Governor Wilson was an opponent of the initiative, referendum and recall, and was considered by many a reactionary. His writings during that period naturally reflect the views he then held. Tory Democrats like Littleton of New York and tory republicans like Olmstead of Pennsylvania quoted from these writings although both knew quite well that Governor Wilson has since acknowledged these views to be erroneous. He is now an advocate of the initiative and referendum and has frequently so expressed himself. His latest was an address at Bayonne, New Jersey, where he urged the people to adopt the commission form of government with the initiative, referendum and recall. Among other things he said: "I have been preaching that the initiative, the referendum and the recall would not work. And the denuce of it is, that they do."

Congress and the Trusts.

Congress enacts laws to enable manufacturers to charge and obtain higher prices than they could get in the open market. Then trusts are formed to better enable the purpose of these laws to be carried out. Next comes a loud complaint from consumers about excessive prices. Thereupon Congress blames it all upon the trusts and denies that the tariff has anything to do with it. A law making the formation of a trust a crime is then passed but the tariff is left alone. Suit is brought and such trusts as are held by the courts to be "unreasonable" are ordered to dissolve. But the courts do not order prices reduced and could not enforce such an order if they tried. Genuine competition is not to be had by forcing a corporation or a combination of corporations to dissolve.

Under free trade combinations could do the consumer no harm for they would be subject to competition from abroad. This competition would force them to give consumers the benefit of economy in production on a large scale. They might in fact be then classified as labor savings machines.

It is inexcusable waste of time and effort to prosecute trusts and individuals connected with them, no matter what the result of such prosecution may be, while the protective tariff is permitted to exist and to carry out the purpose of its framers which is simply to keep prices excessively high.
