FOUND IT BY CHANCE

HOW EDISON HAPPENED ON THE PHONOGRAPH SECRET.

Accidental Occurrence, While He Was Experimenting on Sheepskin for the Telephone, Suggested the Talking Machine.

Accident has had so much to do with all great inventions that it will not be surprising to hear that the phonograph was a chance discovery.

Many years ago, while Edison was experimenting on diaphragms for the telephone, he had constructed a number of small sheepskin drumheads, to compare with the metal one.

One of these sheepskin diaphragms he had attached a small needle, which was intended to project toward the magnet and assist in conveying the vibrations caused by the human voice.

The sheepskin diaphragms did not fulfill Edison's expectations, and were discarded and thrown aside as rubbish. His assistants soon discovered that by holding the sheepskin diaphragms in front of their mouths and emitting a guttural sound between the lips, a peculiar noise, approaching music, could be produced.

In passing one of the men engaged in playing on a diaphragm one day, Edison playfully attempted to stop the noise by touching the projecting metal pin with his finger, and had no sooner done so than he started.

"Do that again," said Edison, and it was repeated, and again his finger touched the pin, to his evident delight.

He went about for some time, asking one after another of his assistants to hum or sing against the diaphragm, and finally he got them to talk against it, he all the time touching the pin lightly with his finger.

WHERE HE EXPECTED TO GO

Cheerful Grocer's Clerk Makes Witty Reply to Housewife Who Wanted Only Fresh Goods.

"Have you any country butter?" the young housewife asked.

"No'm," the grocer's clerk responded, "but we have some near-butter."

"Well, have you any fresh leaf lard?"

"Sorry, ma'am; but I can give you some of our finest near-lard and you can't tell the difference.

"Well, of all the stores! Could I get a glass of honey for the children?"

"Er—I'm afraid not, ma'am; but we have some excellent near-honey."

The housewife sighed.

"Dear me!" she said reproachfully. "You should be ashamed to sell so many adulterated foods! Where do you expect to go when you die, young man?"

"Near-heaven, ma'am," calmly responded the clerk, as he chased a fly away from the prunes.—Judge.

Presence of Mind.

The burglar, having pocketed all the loose jewelry in sight, which was not much, roughly awoke the sleepers.

"I want them diamond earbobs of yours, ma'am," he said.

"Please don't tear their out of her ears," begged the husband; "I'll detach them and hand them to my self."

"All right, sir. Quick, now!"

Subsequently the burglar learned that he had robbed the dwelling of Professor Presto, the magician, and that the professor had cleverly substituted a pair of glass imitations for the diamond earbobs.

Appropriate Carments.

There are times when the pun, much abused and poverty-stricken and aged as it generally is, seems to justify its appearance. One day, when Mr. Potter was trying to read a romance story to his matter-of-fact wife, he had recourse to a pun to save his temper.

"And so the evening wore on," read Mr. Potter, "and—"

"What did it wear?" inquired his wife in her driest tone.

"My dear," said Mr. Potter, after a scarcely perceptible hesitation, "if you must know, it was the close of an autumn day."—Youth's Companion.

AN INSULTING QUESTION.

"Father has given me $100 every birthday since I was 21, and I have saved every cent of it."

"How many thousand dollars have you got in the bank?"

Unconverted.

"Jiblets read a pamphlet this morning advocating the use of predigested food."

"Didn't he have anything better than that to do?"

"No. He was waiting to be served a breakfast order of pork chops, tomatoes and hot waffles."

"Was he frightened by what he read in the pamphlet?"

"No. He merely ordered some additional pork chops."

Where the Fighting Is.

"War with Japan seems imminent. These dreadful rumors alarm me."

"Too bad!"

"What would you do?"

"Well, I think I would switch magazines."

Good News.

"My dear, our landlord says he's going to raise our rent."

"Glad to hear he can do it. I can't."

From the Storehouse of the Eyes.

Eyes are built as lions, roving, running, leaping here and there, far and near. They speak all languages; they wait for no introduction; they are no Englishmen; ask no leave of age or rank; they respect neither poverty nor riches, neither learning nor power, nor virtue, nor sex, but intrude, and come again, and go through and through you in a moment of time. What inundation of life and thought is discharged from one soul into another through them!—Emerson: "Conduct of Life."

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

Scandinavian Courtship.

It was considered beneath the dignity of a Scandinavian warrior to court his bride by gallantry and submission; he always waited until she had bestowed her affections on another and was in her way to the marriage ceremony, then collecting his faithful followers they fell upon the wedding party and carried away the bride. It was much in favor of this practice that marriages were always celebrated at night.

Care of the Attic.

Few attics are ceiled, but if they are not light the walls and the beams should be treated to a coat of white paint or whitewash. Once a month the floor should be swept. The windows should be washed three or four times a year. Twice a year there should be a campaign waged against moth, roaches and possible bedbugs, as well as against larger vermin. Keep a rattrap and a mousetrap in commission.—Woman's Home Companion.

Need for Women Architects.

It is a practically accepted axiom that there are too few women architects, for, if there is one subject more than another in which woman's talent is required, it is domestic architecture.—From the Queen.

Don't cringe—don't flinch,
Should fortune pinch
And all seem lost;
With might and main,

MUNYON.

I AM taking the above text for the reason that I want to instill into the people self-reliance, self-mobility, self-assertion. I want every person to feel that there are above deception, hatred, selfishness, jealousy, envy or revenge.

I want the person who is pinched by poverty, who has suffered great reverses, who is weighed down with some great sorrow to become acquainted with the redeeming power of Hope. I want them to take Hope as a companion, as a counselor, as a light, as a medicine, for Hope is an ambassador from God. It is a teacher that shows us the beautiful. It fills our souls with songs and our tongues with praise.

To be hopeful one must be well, and to be well one must be hopeful.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and gives health and strength to the whole body.

Borrowed Bridal Finery.

In Norway every parish house has a set of ornaments for the temporary use of the bride, including a showy coronal and girdle, so that the poorest women in the land appeared for one day in their life in a costume which they probably thought equal to that of a queen. The museum of national antiquities at Copenhagen contains a number of such sets of bridal decorations, which were at one time used in Denmark.
