ANNOUNCEMENT!

WITH this issue there appears as one, two newspapers—the Beaver State Herald and The Lents Reporter.

This change has been brought about by the management with the intention of devoting time and energy to the interest of one paper instead of two as has been done in the past. It is aimed to give the readers of both papers more and better news service and the advertisers a wider and more extensive circulation, greatly enhancing the value of the paper as an advertising medium.

As in the past the paper will devote its energy and news columns to the interest of the people in this large district. By this consolidation the people of the Mt. Scott district and Eastern Multnomah and Northeastern Clackamas counties are brought close together as should be—for it is in reality all one great district and the farming and business center of the county tributary to Portland on the east.

The four pages of ready prints that have appeared each week as a part of the Herald are now done away with, giving eight pages of all home-print news instead of four to the readers of this paper. Readers of The Reporter will get by this change four additional pages, which they will undoubtedly greatly appreciate.

The Herald has already mailing privileges that the Reporter could not have till its mailing subscription list was doubled several times. The Herald enjoys a standing among newspapers, advertisers and the public in general which time only can give, hence the continued use of the name. We hope this explanation will be satisfactory, and that our readers will find comfort in perusing these pages.

Our watchword will be as heretofore, "For the right that needs assistance; for the wrong that needs resistance and the good that we can do," and this paper will stand ready and willing to advance the interests of this entire district at every opportunity. All it asks is for your moral and kindly assistance in the future as has been shown it in the past.

DO IT NOW.

ALTHOUGH we cannot vouch for the veracity of the following story taken from an exchange, we think it is true and are sure the moral is plain.

"A man who was too economical to subscribe for his market paper sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance, and, failing to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into it, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $5 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the corn-field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, the wife ran, upset a four-gallon churn of rich cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole flock. In her hurry she dropped a $25 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled cream and into the parlor, ruining a $20 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man."

MORTAL MAN.

HEAVEN help the man who imagines he can dodge enemies by trying to please everybody! If such an individual ever succeeds pass him over this way that we may have one look at his mortal remains ere he vanishes away for surely this earth cannot be his abiding place. Now we do not infer that one should be going through this world trying to find beams to knock and thump his head against, disputing every man's opinion, fighting and elbowing and crowding all who differ from him. That, again, is another extreme. Other people have their opinions, so have you. Don't fall into the error of supposing they will respect you more for turning your coat every day, to match the color of theirs.

The Herald addressed a postal to every senator and legislator in the state on Monday of this week and the answers are beginning to come in. They make interesting reading and when the list is almost complete we will give you the benefit of it. A 20,000,000 dollar session of the legislature does not seem to appeal to the members at this date, and neither do they seem inclined towards paying their own expenses.

Every school boy knows that a kite will not fly unless there is a string tying it down. It is just so in life. The man who is tied down by half a dozen blooming responsibilities and their mother will make a higher, stronger fight than the bachelor, who having nothing to keep him steady, is always floundering in the mud. If you want to ascend in the world, tie yourself to somebody.

"Every little bit helps" they say, and now comes a 10 per cent dividend to the stockholders of the defunct Mt. Scott bank. We hope the next dividend will not be proportionally small. If it is it will require a magneferous imagination to see it after it is delivered.

The girl with a sweet little voice need not feel discouraged because she has no opportunity to sing in grand opera. She can give great pleasure by being a songbird in the home nest.

BEAUTIFUL LENTS.

Lents, Oh! beautiful Lents. With well-kept graded streets. 'Tis of everything you are wise. With woodlands, baseball park and retreats. Go to "Kelley's Butte" for your sport. The height of enjoyment to reach. There your lady friend you may court. On the beautiful, shady slope. The theatre 's' you will sure report. Are fine places for friends to meet. And stores are the best of the sort. That one would want the eye to greet. Our many maidens in Lents. Are dainty, graceful and sweet. Likewise, the gentlemen too are— Handsome, good-looking and neat. The newspaper and its exhorts. Similar to a metropolitan sheet; And its articles have no retort. By the pen pushers swift and fleet. —Contributed.

REPORTORIALS

Philosopher and poet are alike in the verdict that the safety and perpetuity of any nation lies in the homes of its people.

The real business of life is the making of a happy home. When you come to sift the whole chaff of existence, everything goes to the wind but the happiness we have had at home.

There are six secular nights in each week. Out of the six some men spend one at home and five at lodge, while others spend five at home and one at lodge. In which class shall we register your name?

A woman who fails in her home fails in all. Home is a woman's realm, given into her hands to regulate, govern and beautify. If she fails here she may look in vain for another kingdom; for she has failed in the only spot where she could have ultimately succeeded.

To make a boy into a pure man, a mother must do more than pray. She must live with him in the sense of comrade and closest friend. She must stand by him in time of temptation as the pilot sticks to the wheel when rapids are around. She must never desert him to go off to superintend outside duties any more than the engineer deserts his post and goes into a baggage car to read up engineering when his train is pounding across the country at forty miles an hour.

Many of us miss the joys that might be ours by keeping our eyes fixed on those of other people. No one can enjoy his own opportunities for happiness while he is envious of another's. We lose a great deal of the joy of living by not cheerfully accepting the small pleasures that come to us every day.

The children whose horizon is a brick wall, who must play on cobble stones and go swimming in the canal and be chased by the police, if they do not grow up to be ideal citizens, shall we of holier memories sit in judgment upon them? Shall we not remember the weight they carry in the race of life and be thankful we live in this beautiful country of ours.

FOOD PIRATES

For years we have been under the thumb of the commission merchants. They have stripped in the last ten years in Portland millions of dollars worth of food products to keep up prices. Who paid the bill? Recently they have been stopped from dumping food into the river and have to have to send it to the garbage incinerator to be burned. A few months ago no taxes on vendors of food products would soon stop these gentry from piracy.
