GOVERNORS' TRIP GREAT SUCCESS

As Advertisement Will Do Wonders for Oregon--160,000 People Addressed--Trip Ends Governor Home

Seven cities visited, over 160,000 people addressed by the Governors, more than 30,000 people passed through the exhibit cars, illustrated stories of the Western States printed several different times in papers having a total circulation of over three million, is the record of the Western Governors' Special, under the charge of James H. Brady, President of the Western Development Association as President, and Reilly Atkinson, Secretary of Boise Commercial Club, as Manager, which toured the east in the interests of the greater development of the West.

The special train, consisting of five exhibit cars, one-half of each car devoted to one State, four sleeping cars and observation cars, one baggage car and one diner, left St. Paul November 27th, and since then has visited Chicago, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, and Batavia, and in Rochester, and other eastern cities. A most cordial welcome has been tendered the entire party, the leading business and professional men having shown a great interest in the visit of the Western Governors and made preparations for their entertainment equal to any ever offered a President of the United States.

At Chicago two large banquets were given in honor of the visitors, one by the Cook County Realty Board at the La-Salle Hotel, and the other at the Congress Hotel by the Chicago Association of Commerce, and at both of these the Governors were the guests of Governor Dineen, of Illinois, and Mayor Harrison, of Chicago. The total attendance at both banquets was 1250.

At Kalamazoo the party was met by a reception committee, which took it to the eight different educational institutions in that city, at each of which one of the Governors delivered an address; and was then taken to the Burdick House, where was held a luncheon at which five of the party spoke, and at which there were about 600 seated. Gov. Chase S. Osborn, of Michigan, presided as toast-master, and remained with the party until it left Detroit the next day.

At Grand Rapids a banquet was held in the largest auditorium in the city, 600 people being present, to whom all the Governors spoke on the resources of the West and the needs of that great country.

The train was in Detroit on Thanksgiving Day, where the Governors were assigned to the different churches, and a Peace and Prosperity Meeting at the Detroit Opera House, the total attendance at which was over 12,000.

Thanksgiving evening was spent in Toledo, where the party was entertained by the Toledo Board of Commerce and the Toledo Club. The entertainment consisted of a luncheon reception at the Toledo Club held in the afternoon followed by a buffet luncheon at the Board of Commerce.

Similar programs were arranged at Cleveland and Buffalo, and the total number of people addressed by the Governors of the West, previous to reaching Rochester, was above 16,000. The exhibit portion of the train is attracting wonderful attention throughout the east, the people in all the cities flocking to see the western products from the suburban towns, the large factories, and the outlying farms. At almost every city the train has been met by a large number of farmers and others who were there waiting to see the samples of the western countries' products and fruits. In Buffalo alone 6152 people passed through the cars, and in the little town of Batavia, N. Y., 752 people went through. The total number who have gone through the cars up to Rochester is 30,186. The people have carried away all the literature with which the train started, and a large portion of the second supply, the interest being shown by them being far beyond anything expected by those in charge of the Special. It is noticeable also that those who visit the train are of a specially desirable class of citizens, many of them being farmers

CELEBRATE THEIR SILVER WEDDING

About 40 friends and relatives dropped in on Mr. and Mrs. Niblin last Saturday evening to help celebrate their silver wedding. The affair was a complete surprise and very well planned and carried out. Numerous presents and flowers were given this estimable couple who have lived so long among us.

Among those present were several who were present at the wedding 25 years ago. They were: Mrs. E. A. Kelley, J. D. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Peterson, Mrs. Grout, and Chas. and Agnes Niblin.

After wishing the couple many more years of happy wedded life the affair broke up, having been one of the most successful ever attended here.

Nels Jepson, the Gresham grappler, who is to appear at Metzger's Hall in a bout with Oscar Gustafson, issues a challenge to any and all comers in his class, O'Connell, the Greek Buzukas or any man in Portland or surrounding country. JEPSON'S CHALLENGE

Sporting Editor Herald--I wish to issue a challenge to any and all comers in my class to a wrestling bout to be staged either in Lents or Gresham on any date convenient to them for a side bet. I especially wish to meet O'Connell. Signed Nels Jepson.

ROCKWOOD TO GIVE LEAPYEAR BALL

Rockwood Grange is going to start the leap year off with a grand ball on Jan. 13, which will be wholly in charge of the women members of the Grange. At the last meeting of the Grange a committee of arrangements was appointed consisting of Mrs. G. B. Stockton, Hester B. Thorp, and Bertha Weiland who will oversee all preparations and carry out the leap year idea to its final conclusion. It is intended to have the women buy the tickets, and have every dance a ladies' choice except three during the entire night. The floor managers will be young ladies of the Grange. The ticket sellers will be deft fingered women who know how to pin on ribbons, and all the men will have to do will be to look pretty and dance when asked to. The dining room will be in charge of the old men of the Grange, assisted by the wall flowers.

PUBLIC XMAS TREE FOR LENTS

To Be Given Under Auspices of Improvement Club--Real Live Santa Claus to Be There.

A public Christmas tree for the children of Lents, whose parents cannot see their way clear to provide one and to fill the little ones' stockings on Christmas morn, or for those more unfortunate--those not having parents--is to be given by the Improvement Club on a date to be announced and posted around town as early as possible. It will probably be held Wednesday eve at either Grange or Davis hall.

Candies, nuts, and presents will be distributed by a real live Santa Claus who will be present.

The merchants around town have all generously responded and the committee further asks assistance of all persons desiring to help the less unfortunate ones of the town.

It will perhaps be a little late but it is so set as not to conflict with the numerous Church Xmas trees.

Wait for the date and place to be announced by circular bills. Arrange to lend some assistance.

Contributions may be made either at The Herald office or at the Bright Realty Co's office on Foster road.

COLLEGE GETS EIGHTY RIFLES

Gallery shooting practice by the cadets under the new commandant Lieut. Miller, at the Oregon Agricultural College. Eighty new Krag rifles have been put into commission because of the number of cadets in training, more this year than ever before. The new guns are modeled exactly after the regular Krag in weight and balance, but shoot 22 shorts. A table worked out by the army engineers allows comparison of the gallery gun scores with those of a full sized rifle range rifle.

W. T. Bischoff of Second Avenue is building a nine room bungalow for C. F. Zincer on the latter's farm two and a half miles south east of Lents.

CRUSADE BIRTHDAY TEA GREAT SUCCESS

One of the most enjoyable recent social functions was the Mount Scott W. C. T. U. Crusade Birthday Tea.

The opening devotional thought was voiced by the Rev. Peter Conklin together with brief remarks pertinent to the occasion. The old Crusade Hymn, now of historic importance, was sung. An address on the Genesis of the Crusade was given by Mrs. Ward Swope and listened to with great interest and profit. A Solo, "Ora Tro-Nobio" was sweetly rendered by Mrs. Gibb. Mrs. Lillian Clark told of the development following the Crusade of the W. C. T. U. as being the sober second thought, and in reality the Crusade crystallized into organic form and permanency, and the speaker took up one point after another showing the marvelous systematic development and wonderful results accomplished. As these two speakers took up the crusade, told its story and development, one could almost see the line of Crusade mothers marching to the music of the old Crusade Hymn "Give to the winds their fear, Hope, and be undismayed." Later the scene changed and we saw the in comparable leadership of Frances Willard.

Fittingly following these addresses came the Summing Up, and "Looking Forward," given by Mrs. Additon which was an optimistic vision of future victory complete.

Mrs. Nettie Dunbar recited an exquisite poetic gem, entitled, "The Commission and the Answer." Mrs. Additon sang "There's a Shadow on the Home."

A pioneer prohibitionist of Dakota, formerly state Senator, of Maine, gave an inspiring talk on the general outlook. Refreshments were served, the extremely interesting program closing with a vocal duet by Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Elila Fankhauser. It proved a Red Letter Day well spent.

NEW CHURCH AND SCHOOL DEDICATED

St. Peters Formally Opened By Impressive Ceremonies Sunday--Will now Furnish Building.

The church and school just finished in St. Peter's parish, the youngest in the diocese, was dedicated Sunday by Archbishop Christie, assisted by Rev. A. G. De Lorimier, Rev. J. H. Gallagan and Rev. Peter J. Beutgen, the pastor in charge. A large congregation was present. The chapel, which is on the top floor, was taxed to accommodate the people. Many Portland visitors attended.

Rev. Father Gallagan of Columbia University celebrated the mass. Rev. Father Beutgen was master of ceremonies. Excellent music was provided. Archbishop Christie delivered the dedicatory sermon. He congratulated the people of St. Peter's parish and the priest in charge on what had been accomplished.

"We dedicate this building first to Christian education and second to the worship of Almighty God," said Archbishop Christie. "You have accomplished much in this parish, but there is a great deal more to be done here. Generosity and liberality are characteristic of Catholics, and both will be needed by Father Beutgen in carrying forward this work which has been started here. This building is for the education of little children along Christian lines.

"This is the right beginning. The right spirit is displayed by the people of this parish. Let me say, pay your debts by direct contributions. Fairs and bazaars may help meet some of the current expenses, but the old Irish and German method of building churches and schools is the best. It is fashionable and popular to work in the church. You should love and appreciate your church. It is a part of the great church founded nearly 2000 years ago. It is a divine institution and not man-made a few years old. So be proud of your church."

At the close of the benediction by the Archbishop Father Beutgen invited the congregation to a luncheon prepared by the women of the parish in the hall on the first floor.

About $250 was cleared on the recent bazaar held in The Herald building and the dinner Sunday netted a little over $30.

SALE OF PROP- ERTY HALTED

Objection to Sale and Contention That Bank Examiner, Instead of Tobin, Should Hold Reins.

Receiver Tobin says that the sale of the bank's property which came up for hearing last Wednesday was postponed at the suggestion of Doctors McKinley & Nelson on the ground that the depositors would be better satisfied if nothing was done about selling the property till after the proceedings to discharge the receiver and appoint the state bank examiner in his place were heard.

It is contended that it is the duty of the state bank examiner to take charge of defunct banks, and for that reason Receiver Tobin should not be retained.

A bid of $4601 from Eggiman Bros. was received and held pending further action.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. Philip Quinlin, 825 East Washington Street, Portland, Ore., on the evening of Dec. 8, when Miss Lorena Quinlin was united in marriage to Mr. George Scott Turpin. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. J. M. Nelson, pastor of the Lents Baptist Church. The wedding was followed by a bounteous repast. After a visit with friends in Newberg, Ore., the wedded couple returned to make their home in the Holly Addition of Lents, where the groom has property. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Turpin wish them a happy journey of life together.
