Annual Report of Commission Gives

BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

Oregon City will have a big poultry show February 2 and 3.

Members of the Port of Coquille commission have been named by Governor West. Work has been resumed and will be pushed on the line of the Natron-Klamath cut-off. A total of over $90,000 was spent in buildings and improvements in Cottage Grove in 1911. The big bridge spanning the Columbia at Cellio has been thrown open

The water system of the city of Union will be placed in first class shape as soon as weather conditions will permit.

The big Agricultural Fair at the Oregon Agricultural College is to be held Friday and Saturday, January 12 and 13.

Hugh S. Jory, a prominent pioneer manufacturer and citizen of Salem, is dead, aged 78. Mr. Jory came to Oregon in 1847.

Work will be begun on the Lebanon sewer system early next spring. Sewer bonds for $60,000 have been sold and the cash is on hand for the work. Believing his land contains gold, D. I. Walker, a capitalist of Roseburg. is sinking a shaft in his yard in the very heart of the residence district. George F. Sykes, instructor of zoology at the Oregon Agricultural College, will give four lectures in January on the Conservation of Health. Six tong houses in the old and new Chinatown in Portland have given up the pagan worship which was a prom-

Baker is to see a more active building campaign the coming season than ever before. A large part of the construction will begin as soon as weather conditions permit.

Governor West has set aside Friday, December 13, 1912, as "Hangman's day," provided the proposed initiative measure fails to carry at an election of the people in November.

E. M. Brown, a policeman of Lakeview, was shot and killed by Bert Taylor when he attempted to interfere with Taylor, who was beating his wife. Taylor then committed suicide. Governor West has appointed E. L. Thompson, of Portland, as a special commissioner to Belgium to investigate and report on the flax industry in that country. Mr. Thompson has accepted the appointment.

from the state training school with people other than those who want them purely for the work they are able to do, is reported in the annual statement made by Superintendent N. H. Looney.

To stimulate the cultivation of field barley in the Willamette Valley and Western Oregon, Harvey E. Lounsbury, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific, has arranged for the free distribution of seed to the farmers in that section.

A corporation capitalized at $30,000 has been organized to take the Pendleton Round-Up into the Eastern states as an amusement feature. The entire capital has been paid in by the stockholders and steps will be taken at once to organize the big attraction. By applying the pruning knife the present administration reduced the state's average quarterly payroll from $205,997 in 1910 to $202,...4 in 1911. No salaries have been reduced, but on the contrary where it has been deserved some have been increased.

J. Nelson Wisner, of Oregon City, who for nine years was field superintendent of the United States bureau of fisheries, has been appointed director of fisheries of Uruguay, South America. He will receive a salary of $4800, which is equivalent to about $5500 in this country.

N. Duncan, County Judge of Linn county, by officiating at 48 weddings in 1911, has broken all records for the greatest number of marriages ever performed by one man in one year in Linn county. The former record was 41. This was also held by Judge Duncan, who established it in 1910.

That more money has been expended for railroad construction in Oregon since the creation of the present commission five years ago than was expended in the whole previous history of the state is shown in the annual report of the railway commission. The commission exercises jurisdiction now over 3022 operated miles.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the business men of Salem, Albany and Corvallis will make an application for terminal rates at the hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, D. C. on January 13. The three cities have raised a fund of more than $1250 to protect their interests at that hearing.
