

LENTS LOCAL HAPPENINGS

RESUME OF THE WEEK'S DOINGS IN AND AROUND THE CITY

Mr. Valentine was a visitor on Thursday.

C. L. Boss, of the Moline Plow Co., of Portland, was a Herald caller Thursday.

Schweitzer & Manz, the tailors, have found it necessary to enlarge their quarters and have secured the rooms adjoining them, which will be used as a workshop and the room back of the office as dressing rooms. The boys' work must be satisfactory, for business is growing right along they say.

The Herald office has just completed a handsome 32 page seed catalog for Gill Bros., the "Oregon grown" seeds firm. It is free for the asking. Address Portland, Ore., Route 1.

Chas. Summer, of Arleta, attended the wrestling match here Monday evening.

The formal dedication exercises that were to be held at the new, Lents school January 12 are postponed until January 19, when the same program will be rendered.

Mrs. J. Manz, wife of Manz, the tailor, arrived last week to make her home here.

E. W. Aylesworth, one of Gresham's leading business men, was in Lents Thursday.

Nothing of special importance transpired in the Justice court this week, says Judge Tobin.

J. Davis writes from San Diego, Cal., that he likes the California climate first rate. He fails to say when he is coming home.

The jeweler has moved to a building on the carline, vacating the one on Main street to make room for the tailoring firm of Schweitzer & Manz.

Will Richey, of Sycamore, was a visitor in Lents one day this week.

An ice plant is now rumored. It is said the promoters propose to erect a two-story concrete building here for this purpose.

Lester Richey, of Sycamore, is suffering severely with fever. It is feared the fever will leave him with defective eye-sight.

Robt. Chapman, who has been ill at his home for some time, is now able to be around again. He called at this office one day this week.

Rev. J. M. Nelson, pastor of the Lents Baptist Church, had the misfortune of injuring his knee by falling Wednesday afternoon. He caught his rubber on a nail and fell in front of Wiley's store. While it is not severe it is nevertheless painful, as the same knee was injured some time ago.

Cashier Rostad, of the local bank, made a business trip to Tacoma this week. He says business is pretty dull on the Sound.

Mrs. J. M. Nelson was a caller one day this week.

Have you taken time to read E. W. Miller's announcement on another page? It may mean money to you.

Work is being pushed on the repair of the damage done to the wireless station by last Saturday's storm.

The theatre was closed several days this week as a result of the lack of electricity.

School was resumed Thursday after three days of idleness on account of the storm. No electricity could be had with which to operate the heating plant and fans.

See the important announcement of the E. W. Miller Lumber Co. in this issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanway, former Lents residents, have returned from Kansas, saying that after all, Oregon is the best and good enough for them.

E. M. Hogue has gone to The Dalles to work at his trade.

A birthday surprise party was given to Mrs. Ole Cook, of Saginaw Heights, Wednesday evening. About twenty-four of the neighbors and friends came in to spend the evening. Music and supper and sociability were the features. Several nice presents were received by Mrs. Cook.

Mr. C. E. Gill and Miss Patten, of Saginaw Heights, were married at the bride's home New Years. They have a new home beside Mrs. Gill's parents and have occupied it since the wedding.

E. W. Miller has an important announcement in this issue. Find it—read it.

Ernest D. Stout and Miss Mary E. Deming were married Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother. The Demings formerly resided in Lents, running the green house near Lents Junction.

A bee tree with considerable honey fell during the recent storm on Foster road east of Lents. The residents nearby are doubtless relishing real honey these days.

Wm. Rose, who has been quite ill the past three weeks, is now reported on the road to recovery.

Supt. W. C. Bryant, of Sherman Co., is spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. Hogue.

Harry Foster left for California this week.

The Dunseth family, formerly residing at Gates Crossing, are now occupying the Anderson residence on Fourth Avenue.

Mr. Foster, of Faxon Park, was a pleasant caller Monday.

The Millsbaugh family has moved into the Fauske house on Fifth Avenue.

A misprint occurred in the last issue in which the Isis theatre was spoken of. Instead of "Harms" we had it "Helms." Sorry Dick, but mistakes will happen some time.

Mrs. Durand and son, of Butte, Mont., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dunseth.

Dr. J. H. McSloy was a business caller this week. Doc. is the original "never woory." He leaves a smile after him, too.

Mrs. Storer died of old age at her home at Woodmere January 9.

E. Huddle was successfully operated on at St. Vincents' hospital last week and is expected home this week.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bass, a boy on January 7.

Mr. C. C. Settlemyre, a prominent hop buyer of Salem, and wife were week end guests of Mrs. W. F. Kelly.

John Berg, the light heavy weight wrestling champion of the world, left for Spokane this week. Before going he said that he was going to be here for the return match between Gustafson and Smith, even if he had to walk.

Miss Nellie Jamison suffered the dislocation of her knee cap as the result of slipping on the ice one day this week.

Robt. White has entered the Post Office service in Portland as carrier.

Miss Florence Simonsen, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Simonsen, left Friday for Hood River where she will visit before returning to her home in The Dalles.

Twenty-eight counties of the state and eighteen states of the union are represented in the present registry in the collegiate branches at the State University of Oregon. Of the counties, Multnomah leads the list with 170 resident students and Lane, the home county, comes next with 153.

Recent census reports show that Multnomah county, the smallest county in Oregon, has the densest population, being 501.7 persons to a square mile. All the central and southeastern counties, and Curry county, have less than two persons per square mile. Harney county has less than one.

Retail merchants in the state will gather at Medford January 17 and 18 for the sixth annual convention. The program has been made up and is filled with discussions of subjects of vital interest to the merchants. Competent speakers have been engaged to deliver addresses of value to the retailer.

"OLIE" DROPS US A LINE.

Dear Editor—

Mr. and Mrs. Hasinger, of Spirit Lake, Idaho, are now residing with their daughter, Mrs. William Kiekenapp. Mr. and Mrs. Hasinger are well known to your scribe. They are A No. 1.

"Olie," he said, here's a little something for you, and he handed him a 1,000 franc note ($200). I told Gates he was foolish and that he was spoiling things for the rest of us, but he guessed he knew what he was doing."—New York Sun.

GRAND MASQUERADE

A grand Masquerade ball will be given in the new hall at Gates, Saturday evening, Jan. 20. Good music. Admission 50 cents. Ladies free. No objectionable people allowed. Postponed from Jan. 6.

VENERABLE DEMOCRAT VISITS HAUNTS AT THE CAPITOL

Recently Congress paused in its dignified deliberations to pay tribute to one of the oldest ex-members of the House of Representatives. Sydenham E. Ancona, of Reading, Pa., who was elected to the Thirty-seventh Congress and served through the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses, and was an associate of James G. Blaine, Thaddeus Stevens and General "Bob" Schenck, entered the chamber of the House at a time when that body was busy. It quickly became known that Mr. Ancona, who had preceded all the members sitting as a member of Congress so many years was in their midst, and Speaker Clark ordered a recess. Mr. Ancona held an informal reception while the younger statesmen shook his hand. Mr. Ancona is in his ninetyeth year.

He said: "I am a Democrat. I always have been a democrat. I think the next president of the United States will be a democrat, and if the people of the United States will read the utterances of Speaker Champ Clark for love, humanity, and the Christmastide, they will elect him President by the greatest plurality ever given a candidate."

TANNING DEER SKIN.

For tanning and buffing deer skins for gloves, etc.: For each skin take a bucket of water and put into it one quart of lime; let the skin or skins lie in this from three to four days, then rinse in clear water, hair and grain (remove fat and flesh from grain side), then soak them in cold water to get out the glue. Now scour or pound in good soapuds; after which take white vitriol, alum and salt, one tablespoonful of each to a skin, these will be dissolved in sufficient water to cover the skin; let remain in this for twenty-four hours. Wring out as dry as convenient and spread on with a brush half a pint of currier's oil and hang in the sun about two days; after which you will scour out the oil with soapuds and hang out again until perfectly dry; then pull and work them until they are soft; and if a reasonable time does not make them soft scour out again in suds until complete. The oil may be saved by pouring or taking it from the top of the suds, if left standing a short time. The buff color is given by spreading yellow ochre evenly over the skin, when finished, rubbing it in well with a brush.

Any little wound or abrasion of the flesh occurring in cold weather that is not properly treated becomes a bad sore and is difficult to heal. Apply BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT at once when such accidents happen. The wound heals promptly and soon does away with the annoyance of a bandage. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Lents Pharmacy.

MANAGE ON PIGS.

Please advise how to cure mange on pigs.—L. T., Greenland, Gresham, Ore. If you have many pigs the best plan will be to dip them, using one of the commercial dips containing sulphur, following directions on can. Or a 2 per cent solution of the common coal tar dip can be used by adding flower of sulphur at the rate of sixteen and a half pounds to the one hundred gallons of the solution. It is more effective if used warm. If there are only a few to treat, the mixture can be applied with a spray pump, and well rubbed in with a coarse brush. It probably will be necessary to repeat the treatment in a week or ten days, selecting rather warm, sunny days for the work. Put the pigs in another pen or clean old pen out thoroughly. Spray the interior well with a 5 per cent solution of crude carbolic acid. Then let dry and put in fresh bedding before returning pigs to the pen.

Lame back may come from over-work, cold settled in the muscles of the back, or from disease. In the two former cases the right remedy is BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It should be rubbed in thoroughly over the affected part, the relief will be prompt and satisfactory. Price 25c, 50c, and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Lents Pharmacy.

A Little Something For the Waiter. "The biggest tip I ever saw given a waiter in my life was bestowed by the late John W. Gates in Paris," said a man who is accustomed to be generous in that line himself. "Gates entertained a party of about a dozen of us at dinner at the Ritz hotel and had the little private dining room on the right as you go toward the restaurant. Before the meal was finished Gates called for Olivier, the head waiter. John never did succeed in getting that man's name right. "Olivier," he said, here's a little something for you," and he handed him a 1,000 franc note ($200). I told Gates he was foolish and that he was spoiling things for the rest of us, but he guessed he knew what he was doing."—New York Sun.

The Duke's Advice. The great Duke of Wellington had an unfortunate experience at Oxford. He pronounced Jacobus with the second syllable "short" and was duly admonished. Shortly after the word Carols came in his speech, and, profiting, as he thought, by experience, he made the second syllable long, only to be pulled up again. Possibly he reflected that there are worse terrors than those of the battlefield. This, at least, was his advice to an aspiring orator: "Say what you have to say, don't quote Latin and sit down."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Practical Advice. "Speaking of etiquette, did you send the dollar for those advertised instructions on 'What to do at table?' " "Yes." "And what did you get?" "A slip with one word printed on it, 'Eat!'"—Boston Transcript.

Worth Visiting. "I understand they have some fine films in Egypt." "Yes, and they keep them in very good repair."—Washington Herald.

A Hero in A Lighthouse. For years J. S. Donahue, So. Haven, Mich., a civil war captain, as a lighthouse keeper, averted awful wrecks, but a queer fact is, he might have been a wreck himself, if Electric Bitters had not prevented. "They cured me of kidney trouble and chills," he writes, "after I had taken other so called cures for years, without benefit and they also improved my sight. Now, at seventy, I am feeling fine." For dyspepsia, indigestion, all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they're without equal. Try them. Only 50cts. at all dealers.

CHURCH HELPING THE WORTHY POOR

Establishes Local Relief Board—Assist Many People in Want During the Week.

The Evangelical Church on S. Main Street, has established a relief board to carry on its benevolent work among the needy of the district.

The pastor, Rev. P. Conklin, started the work some time ago on a small scale and has found the people of the church and town very responsive in supplying him with provisions and clothes needed by the poor.

The basement of the church has been turned into a supply room where the poor are taken and fitted out in clothes, given provisions, etc.

Many cases that are almost pitiable have come to the notice of the pastor. He says he personally investigated most cases, sometimes members of the church do themselves, and that in most instances he finds them worthy, grateful and big hearted.

This week 20 or more families have been fitted out. An amusing, yet sorrowful little fellow came up to Mr. Conklin one day this week and said: "Are you the feller what gives things away?" "I am," he replied, "what can I do for you?" "I would like a coat," the little tot said, glaring down at his torn and tattered rag. He was given not only one but two and then he looked up all smiles and says: "I got a brother too e,—little bit of a feller—he's awfully bright." This amused the pastor and he laid his hand on the boy's head and said: "What have you in there?" "patting his head gently. The boy threw his chest out and almost shouted: "BRAINS!" Other incidents are recalled by him that would not only fill your heart with sorrow, but wonder, that in the land of plenty, such misery could exist.

The pastor wishes to thank the many kind friends who have contributed the supplies and says that they are especially in need of underwear, and children's clothing and shoes. Of course, vegetables and groceries are always needed.

In "that great day" Jesus will say: "Come, for I was hungry and ye fed me, I was naked and ye clothed me."

THE SLOGAN OF 1912

By COL. E. HOFER, Salem.

Hang out the banner "Made in Oregon."

What can be done to encourage the manufacturing establishments we now have in the state?

Do they not need our best encouragement?

The Oregon manufacturer and the Oregon jobber and the Oregon insurance companies?

Why send millions out of the state for foreign products?

This is a practical question that is far more important than who shall be president of the United States.

One home industry means more than bushels of politics.

Think of the energies that will be applied to electing a president and solving woman suffrage and capital punishment.

Full dinner pails and good payrolls mean far more.

Half the time and money and brains put into the simple proposition of building up Oregon industrially would make this the most prosperous state in the nation.

Concrete pavements enrich California by millions.

If the factories we now have, the jobbers and organizations of capital now in legitimate business are successful, others will be established.

Protection to home industries is a sound doctrine.

The way to get more industries is to see to it that the manufacturer we now have is patronized and appreciated.

Oregon needs more payrolls and less politics.

The way to make Oregon count and to show what L. Samuels calls real gumption is to stand up for all Oregon products. Anything made in Oregon is better than the imported.

If every family would call for Oregon brands of flour, baking powder, canned goods, coffees and spices this state would be humming with prosperity.

More home industries—more home advertising.

You don't have to smoke or drink, if you do use home products. There is a great deal of talk about the Oregon system, but is there any system equal to protection of home industries?

Wear clothes made of Oregon wool and woven in Oregon mills. Politics and the Oregon system have cost a great deal of money, and bad politics in state and nation affect our prosperity.

You will sleep sounder under an Oregon-made blanket.

Is there any substitute for getting right down and upholding your neighbor in his business, and your neighbor is every man who is engaged in business or employing labor in Oregon.

Is there a better foundation than to stand in Oregon shoes?

Will you not assist in putting on a home campaign and enroll yourself under the banner of "Made in Oregon?"

We have talked about this matter a great deal, but now the time has come for action, and all the people must be educated to act together, to act effectively and continuously.

We believe this is the most important matter before the people of Oregon to make our state prosperous.
