CHERRYVILLE

Delightful winter days. Mr. Banta received quite an injury while moving a small building lately. The building fell over on him and he is quite lame as a result.

Mr. Rugh was quite badly hurt in a runaway last week. While hauling a load of straw he slipped from the load and became entangled in the lines and was dragged some distance, receiving severe bruises on his face and body.

A Syrian working for John T. Friel, Jr., after taking some medicine was relieved of a tape-worm last week that measured 170 feet.

Prof. Couper is installing a hydraulic ram that will conduct water from a spring at the foot of the hill to his house.

Mrs. David Douglas, of this place, was down at Ed. Revenue's, near Sandy, last week looking after the household there for a time as her sister, Mrs. Revenue, was taken suddenly sick and was compelled to undergo an operation in a Portland hospital. The lady is doing nicely at this writing.

A special school meeting was held at the school house last Saturday to take steps towards securing a good title to the ground on which the school house stands. Mr. Friel Sr. was present and said he had made a mistake in deeding the whole 40 acres to his grand children as he did not intend to deed them but 39 acres, leaving the school acre out. He says the lawyer who made the deed is responsible for the mistake. Mr. Friel said the only way out of the mix-up was to start condemnation proceedings and have the acre condemned for school purposes. This will mean a law suit with additional costs to the district. A committee was then appointed, consisting of David Douglas, Prof. Couper, and Charles Harris, to consult the County Superintendent as to the best steps to be taken in this difficulty.

CORBETT

A deal was consummated here recently in which Dodson Bros. became the possessors of the stock of merchandise owned by Loeb & Byers. The new firm consists of three brothers who have been in the mercantile business in Alaska, and expect to put in a full stock of drygoods, groceries, hardware etc. We welcome the new comers to our little burg and wish them success, yet it is with a feeling of regret that we see the old firm leave as they have been very pleasant and accommodating in a business and social way, and have done much for the prosperity and up-building of Corbett.

Mrs. Eva Fox and baby, came from Portland Thursday evening to spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reed.

Miss Carrie Wilson of Corbett was a holiday guest at Buckley Grove.

The critical illness of John Moll, at his home near the Evening Star Grange Hall, prompts much sympathy for the sufferer and his family. Afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism, Mr. Moll is in almost a helpless condition, the object of faithful and loving solicitude on the part of wife, parents and family friends whose good wishes for his recovery are legion. A few days since he expected to be taken to St. Vincen's Hospital but severe pain prevented his being removed from his home. The family were getting ready to move into a house recently purchased on the east slope of Mt. Tabor when illness came to change their plans for possibly many weary days of anxious watching at the bedside of husband and father.

In response to invitations by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nagle to attend a card party at their home on the former Carpenter farm, a number of neighbors gathered together to while away in card games and pleasant chat several hours on Saturday evening last.

The cozy living rooms were decorated with ferns and plants. Excellent music was given by local artists. The hostess is not only a pianist of much merit but a talented composer as well. Her sister, Mrs. Pearl Lexton, sang a number of songs with exquisite shading of voice effect assisted by Miss Ruby Cummings and Richard Wilson who excels in mandolin playing. Whist and dancing followed by a delicious luncheon, good to partake of, made the evening one long to be remembered. Those present were: Mrs. M. Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. S. Durland, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Buckley, Mr. and Mrs. Nagle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snuffin, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Arnsperger, Mr. and Mrs. A. Tucke, Miss Lexton, Miss Carrie Wilson, Richard Wilson, Coe Durland, Johnnie Windsor and Claude Shafer.

UPPER LATOURELLE

Mr. L. Rickert, an old and highly respected farmer of this place, and also for many years the insurance agent for Columbia Grange, surprised his many friends last week by taking out a marriage license. We all join in wishing himself and bride a happy future. Columbia Grange meeting was not as well attended last Saturday on account of the storm, but considerable business was transacted and a good program was enjoyed by those present. The installation of officers will take place the first Saturday in February, and the Grange is expecting a large attendance. At the last meeting it was decided to give a leap-year dance on the 20th of February.

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK.

Filled With Scenery of Wonderful and Reckless Grandeur.

Glacier National park, it may be said without fear of contradiction, is the most wonderful natural park in the world. It comprises approximately 915,000 acres in northwestern Montana and embraces more than 1,400 square miles of the Rocky mountains.

This vast park is bounded on the north by the Canadian line, on the east by the Blackfoot Indian reservation, on the west by the north fork of the Flathead river and on the south by the main line of the Great Northern railway, by which alone it can be reached. Within its great area are 900,000 acres of wild land that has never been trod by the surveyor. It is filled with scenery of reckless grandeur. Within its confines are more than sixty glaciers and many mountain peaks clad in the eternal snows. Lake McDonald, another of its wonders, is 3,150 feet above sea level and surrounded by lofty mountains.

Avalanche basin, a most remarkable U shaped valley, is another of the endless works of Mother Nature to be found in this great national playground. The entire scope of it, in fact, is laden with things to attract the interest of the tourist and student of science as well.—New York Times.

OUR STRONGEST MUSCLES.

The Chief One and the Largest is the Gluteus Maximus.

The strongest muscle in the human body is the gluteus maximus. Hardly a movement of the lower extremities can be made without bringing it into play, but its chief duty is to balance the pelvis on the head of the thigh bone. It assists in carrying the leg forward and outward in walking, and without its aid any movement of the body from the hips would be impossible.

As it is the strongest, so is it also the largest muscle we possess. In the full grown man it can exert a force of 110 pounds to the square inch of its section in the thickest part.

Another strong muscle, which is situated in the calf of the leg, is capable of sustaining seven times the weight of the body. The great tendon which is inserted in the heel bone and which is called tendon achilles, is also of singular strength. When removed from the body it has sustained a weight of 2,000 pounds, yet sometimes by the sudden action of the muscles of the calf, to which it belongs, it has been snapped across.

The Cree Indian's Wooing.

The Cree Indian girl is sought in marriage not for love, but because she is strong and useful. The young brave who wishes to take her for his squaw is often faint hearted and frequently sends by a disinterested person or secretly leaves in her tent a gaudy silk handkerchief purchased from the Hudson Bay company. When his intentions are thus declared he goes, shy and awkward, to the father and asks for the hand of his daughter. Should the parent refuse consent to the union the undaunted wooer seeks a bride elsewhere. He never sulks or mopes; he never feels that his heart will break, but calmly selects and makes proposals for another maiden. Women are plentiful, and perseverance is sure to end in success.—Wide World Magazine.

A Girl's Wild Midnight Ride.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 87 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all dealers.

How Small Stores Can Draw Trade By Electric Light

Using MAZDA lamps in show windows and electric signs outside will draw trade from larger stores not so well equipped. We will be glad to tell you how this can be done with these lamps which give more light for less money than any other illuminant.
