

ROOSEVELT WINS

Benton, Clackamas, Columbia, Clatsop, Coos, Curry, Douglas, Gilliam, Grant, Hood River, Klamath, Lake, Lane, Lincoln, Linn, Malheur, Marion, Tillamook, Umatilla, Union, Wallowa, Wasco and Washington. In Lake the official canvass may give the county to Taft.

George E. Chamberlain has received the indorsement of the democrats of Oregon for vice-president. While figures have not been tabulated, the returns show his name has been written on the ballot by a large number of voters, and no one else is in striking distance.

On the republican side, the result on vice president will not be known until the official count. In Portland the name of Thomas McCusker was written in as often as any, but Senator Borah of Idaho is running close, and it is thought that, taking the state over, Borah will be honored with the vote of Oregon, as the complimentary vote for McCusker is largely local, and was cast by the supporters of La Follette here.

Ben Selling was successful in winning the Republican nomination for United States senator over Senator Jonathan Bourne, the present incumbent.

There were many surprises in the vote and Selling was victorious in a number of counties which had been confidently counted in the Bourne column. Bourne carried Multnomah county by a substantial plurality, but this lead was overcome by the pluralities for Selling in the outside counties.

In the republican vote on United States senator Jonathan Bourne has carried only Curry, Jackson, Multnomah and Tillamook, with Josephine, where Selling leads, close in the incomplete returns. The counties that Bourne is known to have carried were all conceded to him by Selling prior to election with the exception of Multnomah.

Lowell Carries Home County.
Judge Lowell received a handsome recognition from the voters of his home county of Umatilla, obtaining a majority of all the votes cast. Judge Lowell also carried the neighboring county of Grant and also Morrow.

All other counties not mentioned in the foregoing went for Selling. In 13 counties Mr. Selling led Bourne on a ratio of two to one, namely: Columbia, Coos, Hood River, Lane, Linn, Malheur, Marion, Morrow, Polk, Umatilla, Wallowa, Washington and Yamhill.

Wasco county, which has large wool interests, gave Selling three to one over Bourne, and the neighboring county of Sherman did likewise.

The votes counted on senator now total 63,006, of which Mr. Selling has 29,597, Bourne 23,692, Lowell 6859 and Morton 2758; Selling's plurality 6905.

Lane Democratic Nominee.
Dr. Harry Lane, ex-mayor of Portland, was favored by the Democrats for United States senator, with Walter M. Pierce, of Hot Lake, second.

Lane will probably have several thousand plurality for the democratic nomination for United States senator. The incomplete returns are as follows: Lane 5920, Pierce 2101, Coshov 2042, Miller 848. Lane's plurality 2819.

Congressional Nominees.

In the Republican congressional race W. C. Hawley, now representing the first district, has been renominated, as he had no opposition. N. J. Sinnott, progressive, has been nominated in the second district over Ellis, his closest opponent. In the third district, which comprises Multnomah county, A. W. Lafferty, incumbent, was renominated.

In the second congressional district N. J. Sinnott's lead over W. R. Ellis has not been impaired, he now having a plurality of 746. The corrected totals are as follows:

Sinnott 3404, Ellis 2658, Rusk 2178, Cochrane 2019, C. E. Roosevelt 587.
On the democratic ticket there is an interesting contest for the nomination for congress in the second district. Returns have been sent in, in part, from nine of the 14 counties in the district. These returns give Graham a lead of less than 100 votes. The totals reported stand as follows: Covey 1285, Graham 1353; Graham's majority 68.

State Officers Named.

Ben Olcott has been nominated for secretary of state on the Republican ticket, although Fields has a few counties to his credit. Multnomah county, where Fields is best known, was carried by his opponent.

Robert Eakin, having no opposition for the nomination for Justice of the Supreme Court, has won, of course.

For dairy and food commissioner, John D. Mickle is in the lead in most counties outside of Multnomah, and in Multnomah W. I. Cottel has the advantage. The returns from outside counties indicate that Mickle will have the nomination when the official vote is canvassed. A. H. Lea seems to be running third.

Clyde B. Atchison and Thomas Campbell have been renominated for railroad commissioners in their respective districts. They have held the office since it was instituted.

pective districts. They have held the office since it was instituted.

Convention Delegates Uncertain.

Under the Oregon system, the 10 delegates sent to the republican national convention at Chicago are instructed to vote for Roosevelt, although the delegates receiving the highest vote are personal friends of La Follette and Roosevelt. Thomas McCusker, La Follette's campaign manager in Oregon, leads the ticket among the candidates for delegate.

The delegates are in doubt, other than Thomas McCusker. Henry Waldo Coe appears to have been another delegate selected. Not until the complete returns are in will it be possible to announce the names of the 10 elected by the republican voters. The same condition exists in the democratic ballot, and aside from Alex Sweak, who is conceded to be elected, and possibly John H. Stevenson, the result is in doubt.

The result as to the nomination of Ave candidates for presidential elector on the republican ticket also will not be finally decided until the vote of the state has been counted. Judging from the returns in this county, however, it is evident the voters very generally complied with the suggestion of the representatives of the three candidates for president and wrote on their ballot the name of one of the five following republicans: L. M. Lepper, M. J. MacMahon and Grant Thomas, of Multnomah county; William Hanley of Burns, and E. V. Carter, of Jackson.

Several Members Renominated.

A review of the result of the recent primary election on the republican candidates for the legislature shows that several members of the last house and senate have been named to succeed themselves, some house members have been elevated to the upper branch of the assembly and some in either branch have been defeated. There are 15 holdover senators. Two nominees for senatorial positions have served in previous sessions.

Democratic Returns Incomplete.

Democratic returns have not been completed. In some districts the democrats made no nominations. In other districts they indorsed the republican nominees.

W. Lair Thompson, the floor leader of the last house, was nominated to succeed himself as senator of the sixteenth district without opposition. The district is composed of Crook, Klamath, and Lake counties. Mr. Thompson is a well known lawyer of Lakeview.

W. H. Ragsdale, of Sherman county, has been nominated from the eighteenth senatorial district, which comprises Gilliam, Sherman and Wheeler counties. Mr. Ragsdale is prominent in his home county, and had no opposition in the primaries.

In the twenty-first district Edward E. Kiddle, a prominent business man of Island City, was nominated over E. H. Flagg. The district is composed of Union and Wallowa counties.

W. H. Hollis, of Washington county, an active member of the last house, has been nominated to represent the twenty-fourth district in the senate. His opponent was H. T. Botts, of Tillamook. Lincoln, Tillamook, Washington and Yamhill counties comprise the district.

Few Anti-Statement No. 1 Nominees.

The only nominee for the senate who did not sign Statement No. 1 is J. C. Smith, of Josephine.

Among the candidates for the lower house who did not sign Statement No. 1 are I. B. Cushman, of Lane; Roy Graves, of Yamhill; S. A. D. Meek, of Washington; L. O. Belland, of Clatsop.

Supporters of the Oregon system declare that the result is an overwhelming indorsement of the system, as most of those candidates who refused to sign Statement No. 1 were defeated.

In Douglas county George Neuner, a member of the last house, defeated J. A. Buchanan, also a member of the last house, for the senatorial nomination in the fifth district.

Ira S. Smith, of Marshfield, nominated for joint senator from Coos and Curry, was a member of the house from Polk county in 1895.

In the twenty-second senatorial district, consisting of Grant, Harney and

State Supervision

It means that the affairs of this bank are carefully examined twice a year by the Superintendent of State Banks and every little detail checked up and verified. In addition to the State's examination, our board of directors—every one of them an experienced banker—is compelled by law to meet once a month and also check up the bank twice a year and to verify all book under their signature with a report of such audit to the State Superintendent. If rigid supervision by an efficient board and a careful and intelligent system is employed by its officers, the bank should merit your confidence to such an extent that there would be no room for hesitation when looking for a safe and sound custodian for your money.

On the strength of our banking policy we invite your business large or small, your own and your friends.

Malheur counties, incomplete returns indicate that Loring V. Stewart, a prominent stockman of Layville, Grant county, has defeated William Miller, a well known attorney of Burns, for the nomination.

In the sixteenth district, consisting of Wasco and Hood River counties, R. R. Butler, of The Dalles, has defeated D. J. Cooper, of the same city. Butler was formerly circuit judge of the eleventh judicial district, consisting of Wheeler, Gilliam and Sherman counties. He lived at Condon at that time.

Two Senators Renominated
Members of the senate who have been renominated are W. D. Wood, of Washington, and Dan Kellaher, of Multnomah.

Members of the last house who have been renominated are George W. Johnson of Marion; Allen H. Eaton and I.

V. Cushman, of Lane; S. P. Pierce, of Coos and Curry; J. A. Westerland, of Jackson; P. O. Bonebrake, of Benton; Roy Graves, of Yamhill; John A. Chapman, of Washington; J. D. Abbott, of Multnomah; L. O. Belland, of Clatsop, and L. L. Mann, of Umatilla. F. M. Gill, who represented Hood River and Wasco counties at the last session, but who has since removed to Estacada, has been nominated for state representative by the republicans of Clackamas county.

S. A. Hughes, of Marion; S. A. D. Meek, of Washington, and C. N. McArthur, of Multnomah, members of the house at the session of 1909, but not members of last session, however, have been nominated. J. T. Bridges, of Douglas county, a member of the house of 1895, has been nominated for another term.

THE AFTER election situation is about as interesting as any that has ever arisen in the history of the state. The senatorial primary will probably result in the election of Harry Lane. The Sheriff's contest will terminate in the election of Tom Word, in all probability, and the Congressional Situation will more than likely end up with the election of the Democratic nominee, Mr. Munly. The main commendable features of the election were that the District Attorney will be a man whom we at least believe will be a clean official. The choice for County Superintendent was not the best. The nominee has too many reflections on his moral qualifications for that particular office to be satisfactory, and it is probable that some other man will be put up for the place. But even at that the nominee has no disadvantage as to qualifications over the present incumbent.

At Lents the choice of Mr. Klineman ensures an opportunity to secure active effort toward strict enforcement of the law. The nomination of Geo. Wise for constable was vigorously opposed by the free and easy crowd and it will require the combined effort of all law and order people to place him in the office. There is a pretty well defined notion floating around that there will be an effort made at the November election to make the town a wet town. A wet town without any licenses, and a couple of thriving saloons. This is more than a rumor. People opposed to this class of institutions should be alive to the situation and know their strength, for they will need every vote they can command.

A MOVEMENT is on foot by the members of the local parent teachers club to interest the mothers of the town in a more careful oversight of their daughters. The interest is late, and yet it might be later. It hardly seems possible that any town in the state could need a revival of motherly interest and recognition of motherly responsibility, more than is needed right here in Lents, and yet we do not believe that Lents is the worst place in the world. For instance, there are several places over in the State of Washington where there might be a revival of this sort that would be quite as proper. But confining ourselves to ourselves—why go elsewhere to look for the need of reform when the reform necessary at home is more than we have learned to estimate the need of? It is needless to mention that girls of all ages from five years and upward have been accustomed to play on the streets in this town without restraint regularly for the past five years. Girls of ten years of age up to fifteen, are considered amply able to understand the responsibilities of social relationship and are allowed to roam at all times of the night, along the streets, and up and down the timber roads. Girls are found in all sorts of company, and in all sorts of silly, sentimental and questionable situations, and the question we would like to ask is, are the mothers of this town tired of mothering their daughters, are they eager to drop the (burden) obligation they have assumed, if you choose to call it a burden. A mother who has raised a daughter to the age of ten should deem it a rare privilege to be allowed the opportunity of being the formative force that shall determine that daughter's future. She should encourage her to love her home, to develop homeloving tastes, employ her mind in those things that will cultivate clean thought and pure ideals and fit her for the home she is eventually to embellish, or degrade. A mother who has not this ideal may rest assured that her daughter will be a burden, now, and a source of sorrow later. What we really need is an active local watchman who will arrest a few of these idle "spooners" and necessitate their neglectful parents paying a nice little fine for their liberation. Some one would wake up then to the situation, and try to make good. But it would probably be too late.

LENTS is certainly in dire need of a LIVE Development League. Every day questions arise that should be dealt with as an organized body. With no incorporated government, no commercial club, or no organization, Lents is in poor condition to deal ably with questions of importance to the business men and citizens.

A general cleanup of the city is needed; better public improvements are needed; the question of water rates will soon have to be met. How are we going to do it? We cannot unless some organization is perfected.

There is something radically wrong when a town of several thousand people cannot get together and organize a loyal and harmonious development league that will be a factor in the up-building and development of Lents.

There is any amount of work to be performed by a united development club, and if we expect the financial and social development of our town to prosper as it should we will have to get together and go after it.

Let's organize; let's go out after the things to which we are entitled; let's put Lents on the map!

SATURDAY, MAY 4 IS TO BE TAG DAY

The Lents Mothers' Club have designated Saturday, May 4th as Tag Day, when an effort will be made to dispose of several thousand tags at 10 cents each, to raise funds for the purchase of apparatus for the public play ground.

A vigorous campaign will be waged on that day and every citizen is asked to have a dime or dimes ready, because you will sure be tagged. It is expected to raise several hundred dollars for this fund. More particulars of the day will appear in the next issue of The Herald.
